Huskers Stage Preliminary Workout for Game With Sooners Saturday

First Stringers Are Given Light Signal Practice

Coach Owens' Material Appears to Be Excellent-Wostoupal to Fill Hutchison's Shoes.

INCOLN, Oct. 6 .-After the gruelling battle with Illinois Saturday the first string Cornhuskers were put through a signal drill and short scrimmage Monday evening as the first direct step toward preparing for the Oklahoma Sooners at Norman Saturday.

There are only three practice periods available before the Huskers entrain for the south. They leave here Thursday noon.

While Coach Dawson was giving the first string a talk the second string was sent at the freshmen, who were using Oklahoma formations. The reserve corps was also put through an offensive campaign against the yearlings, in which the plunging of Archie Hecht featured. Owen Frank, who watched Okla homa in its game Saturday, stated that Ben Owen's material appeared to be excellent. There was a high wind sweeping the field, just as it was here. and as a result the overhead attack of the Sooners was hampered.

Frank also believed that a shift play which Owen is introducing for the first time was the cause of many fumbles which were costly to Okla-homa. Another week of practice will take the kinks out of that he believed. "The Sooners have plenty of good material and they remind me of a expected," Frank stated.

The first string lined up just as it did to start the Illinois game, with one exception. Harold Hutchison. first string center, was in his street clothes on the side lines, while Joe Wostoupal was snapping them back. Hutchison broke his collar bone bringing down "Red" Grange Saturday, after the latter had almost sidestepped the entire field for a 37-yard

MISSOURI VALLEY TEAMS PLAY FIRST CONFERENCE GAMES THIS WEEK; HUSKERS MEET SOONERS

RLY season games which saw greater strength against Washing-five Missouri Valley teams go ton down in defeat are out of the way, the decks have been cleared and coaches this week are pointing their men for the first conference battles of the season, which take place Satur-

Nebraska, Ames, Grinnell, Kansas and Oklahoma inaugurated the season with defeats, while Missouri, Drake, Washington and the Kansas Aggies chalked up victories in their opening games.

First blood between conference teams will be spilled this week, with Nebraska playing Oklahoma at Norman, Washington playing at Grinnell and Ames meeting Kansas at Lawrence. Drake, Missouri and the Kansas Aggies will play outside the conference.

All signs point to a Nebraska vic-tory over Oklahoma next Saturday. The Sooners got off to a bad start by accepting a 2 to 0 defeat from Central State Normal, while Nebraska surprised the football world and threw a life-sized scare into the veteran Illinois team, losing 9 to 6. The Huskers, by their great stand against the Illini, proved that they will be one of the big factors in the Valley race again this season.

Ames should rule at least an ever favorite against Kansas this week After outplaying Wisconsin through lyclones weakened at the finish and ost a 17 to 0 verdict, bowing to the serves to give a line on the men who Badgers only after three of their best may be expected to be of the greatest backs had been taken from the game. Reports from Madison described the teams this season. Ames passing attack as one of the ost baffling seen on the Badger field in some time.

Kansas lost its opening game, but the Jayhawks were up against a powerful outfit. Also, they were without the services of two regulars. Kansas failed to score against Oklahoma A. and M. and Ames failed to score against Wisconsin, but the fact that the Cyclones repeatedly harassed the goal of their "Big Ten" opponents is of disease was demonstrated in a believed to point to a strong offense for Ames. Grinnell and Washington meet in the third conference game this week and the outcome is a tossup. The Pioneers proved a big disappointment to their followers when they fell before Cornell college, 20 to 7, showing little strength except in the fourth quarter. Washington won from Drury college, 7 to 0, but the game was of little benefit to dopesters, as the strength of the Drury team is not known. Grinnell fans have great faith in Mike Hyland, the new Pioneer coach, and Charles Black, former Kansas star, who is assisting him, and are ex-pecting the Pioneers to show
