Jake Daubert, Veteran Ball Player, Dies

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 9 .- Weakened by a double operation, Jake Dau-bert, captain and veteran first baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, died early today.

Blood transfusions, attempted save the ball player, were futile. Daubert, who was 39 years old, was extremely popular with the fans. He had been on the team six seasons, starting the year Cincinnati won a world's championship, largely by Daubert's heavy hitting and clever work at first base, Mrs. Daubert was with him when he died at Good Samaritan hospital. His home was in Schulkill Haven, Pa. Funeral arrangements have not been completel. A son, George, is a freshman at Pennsylvania State college. Daubert was struck on the head by a ball pitched by Allan Sotheron at St. Louis last May. Last week he was operated upon for appendicitis and gall bladder

President Coolidge Rearranges Working Program to Attend Series

ASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 9 .-Working schedules were shifted today at the White House to continue for a two-day period. The noon when President Coolidge slipped out to the ball park for the sixth game of the world series and when Washington tied it up the president mediately decided on another shift in his plans to permit attendance at the final contest tomorrow.

White House attaches registered their full approval, for the jinx which has followed the Washington team on Mr. Cooldge's last two trips to the baseball park here have been broken, He attended the first game of the season when Walter Johnson shut out Philadelphia and they insisted his attendance at the final tomorrow will ring the same luck.
