

Norton Pays No Attention to Questions

Full of confidence as to the outcome of his own campaign, and predicting that John W. Davis will sweep Nebraska by a large majority, J. N. Norton, democratic candidate for governor, reached Omaha Monday for a round of speechmaking.

How About K. K. K., Says Dan Butler

Dan B. Butler, progressive candidate for governor, on Monday morning directed the following to J. N. Norton, democratic candidate for governor: "Mr. Norton: No doubt this will be your last visit to Omaha during this campaign. In my statement to the newspapers last week I made my position clear on the subject of Ku Klux Klan, which is an issue in this campaign. You have been out over the state four or five weeks and as yet have not referred to this issue. Are you in sympathy with the K. K. K., or are you seeking their support?"

He preferred to uncock his sentiments at public meetings. He declined to discuss the questionnaire prepared for him by W. H. Green, secretary of the progressive party in this state.

List of Questions

- Mr. Green's queries are as follows: (1) Did you, while a member of the legislature, vote against a bill to legalize Sunday baseball? (2) Did you, while a member of the legislature, vote in favor of a bill to establish a board of censors for moving pictures? (3) Did you, while a member of the legislature, vote for a bill to prohibit smoking in public places? (4) Did you, while a member of the legislature, vote against the bill to legalize boxing matches? (5) Did you, while in the legislature, vote for a bill to permit the garnishment of wages of workmen? (6) Did you, while a member of the legislature, introduce a bill providing for the employment of convicts upon all road work in counties and upon streets and alleys? (7) Did you vote for the infamous sterilization bill? (8) Did you at the request of the insurance companies and the manufacturers' association of Nebraska, offer a substitute bill for the workmen's compensation act that had been agreed upon by all labor organizations?

Jokes 'Go Over'

"Some men slave and labor while others sit back and reap the profits," Norton told 200 Armour employees who heard him speak at the plant Monday noon. He declared that he always had worked in the interests of labor.

"Looks Like Coolidge and Dawes," Says Senator Medill McCormick

Chicago Tribune Owner, Visiting Omaha, Prefers Farm Talk to Politics.

Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, tall, slender and extremely deliberate of speech, sat in the sun by the window of room 627, Hotel Fontenelle, Monday morning and discussed politics, farming, his children and newspaper life. He laid aside a copy of the Living Age and fingered his tortoise-shell glasses.

SEN MEDILL MCCORMICK

When he entered politics he left the paper, because it is a family tradition that they shall not be engaged in both occupations at the same time. Though Senator McCormick and his various family branches are socially elect and very wealthy, he doesn't play golf and can't dance or play cards.

"It Looks Like Coolidge"

The flapper question hasn't bothered him. "My oldest daughter is 12," he said, "and she thinks more of whipping in the slow beetle rounds and riding her horses than any of the so-called ideas of the flapper. Of course, she doesn't hunt anything but rabbits. Even my son, who is 8, can stick on his horse already."

MEEKER'S PILOT BELIEVED LOST

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee. Rocksprings, Wyo., Oct. 13.—Lieut. Omaha Cattle Receipts Top 5-Year Mark

32,000 Head Received at Yards Monday; Prices Remain 15 Cents Up in Spite of Run.

Thirty-two thousand head of cattle, the largest single day's receipts in five years, were received at the Omaha yards Monday. On October 13, 1919, 32,537 head were brought to the local market. Local yardmen claim that the heavy run is due to the lack of good fall pasture in the western range country, which is very dry. In spite of the heavy run cattle prices were 15 cents higher Monday morning than Saturday.

Hooty the Owl looks for a Dinner. Hooty the Great Horned Owl was hungry. For the most of the day he had slept. Now he impatiently waited for jolly, round, red Mr. Sun to go to bed behind the Purple Hills and for the Black Shadows to come creeping

Third Party Move Dying in Nebraska

Dawes Speeches Break Backbone of La Follette Boom, Say Observers. Dawes has broken the backbone of the La Follette movement in Nebraska. This is the opinion of both democratic and republican in Omaha, based upon the efforts of La Follette supporters here to explain away the La Follette-socialist defeat in the effort to enunciate the constitution.

Apologize for Plank

Both Villard and the La Follette newspaper support gave much time to calling attention to the fact that any such scheme would require a two-thirds vote of both houses of congress and the affirmative action of three-fourths of the state legislatures. It is this very fact, however, that La Follette and his socialist followers are seeking to overcome. They do not see in the constitution the very safeguards to which they now call such virtuous attention. La Follette wants to be able to amend the constitution at any time congress sees fit to pass a law the second time.

Dawes Speeches Break Backbone of La Follette Boom

Dawes has broken the backbone of the La Follette movement in Nebraska. This is the opinion of both democratic and republican in Omaha, based upon the efforts of La Follette supporters here to explain away the La Follette-socialist defeat in the effort to enunciate the constitution. The first indication that Dawes' speech had struck home was in the speech made Saturday evening by Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the Nation. The second came on Sunday, when the La Follette newspaper in Omaha followed the same sort of reasoning as that put forward by Villard, namely, that the La Follette proposal to give to congress the sole power to interpret the constitution and to inaugurate any proposal, no matter how flagrantly unconstitutional, by the mere expedient of passing it a second time, did not, after all, really mean anything.

INJURED PLAYER LEAVES HOSPITAL

4 Rail Systems Is Merger Plan

Washington, Oct. 13.—A completely revised plan of consolidating the great trunk line railroads of the east into four systems instead of the nine tentatively proposed by the Interstate Commerce commission is understood to have been placed before the commission as an outgrowth of Saturday's conference.

Eastern Roads Would Consolidate Under Trunk Lines Under Proposal

President Patrick Crowley of the New York Central lines, Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio and Samuel Rea of the Pennsylvania lines and O. V. and M. J. Swearingen of the Nickel Plate system, whose proposed Nickel Plate merger would upset the commission's tentative plan, attended the conference. The substitute plan, it is understood, contemplates four great eastern systems built about the New York Central lines, Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and Nickel Plate systems.

Famous Circuit Rider Known as "Uncle Mike" Is Dead at Age of 91

Shenandoah, Ia., Oct. 13.—Rev. M. R. Harned, 91, circuit rider preacher of olden days, died at Des Moines and was buried at Indianola last week. He was the last of three brothers who were ministers. He had been in the Des Moines conference 35 years. A few weeks ago, Rev. Mr. Harned attended the conference at Clarinda. He was known as "Uncle Mike" and was noted for his humor.

Rev. Mr. Harned formerly had charges at Malvern, Riverton and other towns in this section. He and Mrs. Harned celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary last year. The widow and a daughter, Miss Marie Harned, who teaches in Des Moines, survive.

Safety Council Gets Under Way

H. A. Adams of the Union Pacific railroad, was elected president of the Omaha safety council Monday afternoon at a luncheon at the Hotel Fontenelle. Other officers elected were: A. Houser, first vice president; W. S. Stryker, second vice president; H. A. Koch, third vice president; George M. Carey, secretary and manager, and S. S. Kent, treasurer.

Business Groups Represented

Smith stressed the necessity for business groups to be represented on the board of control of the local safety council to obtain 100 per cent co-operation from the driving public. "This is not a theoretical plan, but a system of safety practice and standardized method which has been effective in many cities," he said. "In a survey of 40 cities where safety councils function, we find that as a group accidents have decreased 21 per cent. In another similar group of cities, not organized, accidents have increased 29 per cent."

May Lower Insurance Rates

The National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Writers, he declared, lower or raise their rates in large cities, such as Omaha, depending on the percentage of accidents. "The following members of the executive committee were named yesterday: Howard Goulding, Frank A. Johnson, H. A. Jacobberger, Dr. A. F. Overgaard and Edward Douglas. President Adams appointed an additional five, Leon O. Smith, Police Commissioner Henry W. Dunn, C. E. Foster, R. A. Leussler and John R. Dumont."
