The Bonds Melt. But the Street's Unhappy. What's News? The Answer Describes You. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

The hundred and ten millions of German reparations bonds, bearing 7 per cent interest, offered at 92, were gobbled up as soon as offered. Percival S. Hill, head of the big tobacco company, set a good example by taking $10,000,000 worth of them. Big concerns and individuals should take those foreign bonds, not little people.

In spite of the quick sale of German bonds, Wall street wasn't happy yesterday. It dawns on gentlemen that invest, speculate and gamble, that election day is going to be a most uncertain day. Stocks went down, money went up.

What do you consider news? Answer that question and you would describe yourself. At what point do you stop and begin thinking, when you read these items of "Today?"

Senator Brandegee, powerful man in congress, killed himself by inhaling gas. He had lost money in real real estate.

Callizo, a Frenchman, beats the record for high flight by going up 12,066 meters.

The supreme court saved a Chinese, Ciang Hung-Wan, from the death sentence. A new trial was ordered on the ground that Wan confessed murder under torture of the "third degree." You read that the Chinese college student confessed "on the 11th day of torture to the limit of endurance." Is it anybody's business to punish men that did the torturing, if it was really done?

Marie Zelic married at 14, is 19 now. She went joy-riding with John Renne, 24, and others, not including her husband. Her husband saw them coming back from the automobile ride at 5 in the morning.

One of the "joy-riding" party beat her husband with a hammer. Then the young wife, with a pocket knife, killed Renne, who had taken her on the party. The "other man's wife" enterprise is never quite safe.

Old men are sometimes as vain as boys, even when they are intelligent. Just before he died, at 80, Anatole France, urged to see some old friends, looked at himself in a mirror and said, "Send them away. I am too ugly."

Most old men, fortunately, are saved by merciful conceit, from realizing how ugly they really are. The prince of Wales, now visiting Henry Ford, will understand why England cannot compete with us in building cheap cars when Ford shows him how a car can be assembled in less than 12 minutes. The prince will see widely scattered all the parts of a special car to be called "The Prince of Wales Special," and 12 minutes later he will be asked to "jump in and drive the car under its own power." That's what you might call organized industry.

The city of Washington is agitated by a leper, who escaped from a leper colony in Louisiana. Other lepers paid his expenses to Washington to protest against their condition. Washington locked him up. Leprosy has ceased to be serious since bath tubs became cheap.

Enormous coal beds are discovered in Alaska, inside the Arctic circle, the biggest in the world. That coal will be transformed into electric power and chemical products some day, when men learn how to transport electricity without loss.

Africa has the biggest copper mine. It is holding down prices of copper in this country, worrying copper owners everywhere. The world will easily use all its copper at a good price, when builders appreciate copper's permanent value.

President Little of the University of Maine, says ultra-violet rays, invisible to our feeble eyes, will prevent rickets in children, and bow legs that come out weak bones. Use of ultra-violet rays develop stronger chickens. Chickens raised under ordinary window glass grow feeble and die because glass keeps out the "actinic" rays.

Rich babies that get sunlight only through window glass, because their parents fear fresh air, and poor babies, raised in dark alleys, die of rickets for the same reason. The sun's life-giving power is kept away from them.

In Mexico 100 are killed and wounded in election fights in Tuxtla Gutierrez. And in Mexico City the national eucharistic congress postpones its festival because the workers' syndicate, bitterly opposed to the Catholic church, would not allow workmen to make necessary preparations. Workers' unions have forbidden workmen to decorate churches, and the president of Mexico orders prosecution of citizens for adorning homes and business houses with religious symbols. GYPSY GIRL DIES IN CAMP AT WACO

York, Oct. 15.—A 3-year-old gypsy girl, named Bimbo, traveling with a band of gypsies touring the county in 14 large cars, died Tuesday in camp at Waco.

The body, laid out in an expensive dress of silk and lace, is held awaiting advices from the mother, who is in Chicago. The band will stay near Waco on their good behavior until funeral arrangements are completed.

A large crowd from Waco was attracted to the camp by the mourning. Unable to control their feelings, the gypsies wailed and moaned and beat their bodies until they were no longer able to stay awake.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less. Get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex from any druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time. It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the mucus, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Are you working for your husbands 2nd wife?

It's brutal, but the truth—many wives have worn themselves out helping their husbands win success.

During the days when every penny counts, the wife struggles in the home, giving her all—her attractiveness, her vigor, her youth and her vitality.

She has the mistaken belief that by playing charwoman and doing the terrible drudgery of house-keeping by ancient methods she is showing loyalty and helpfulness.

But when her husband has gained success, in many cases, she discovers she is the loser. He is pink with the flush of victory. She is pale and worn out from loss of vitality. Her charm is gone as a result of wasted energy.

Some other woman who has conserved her energies takes her place. Wife No. 2 gets what Wife No. 1 worked for. THAT'S THE GREAT TRAGEDY OF THE HOME!

The cost of preventing this tragedy is small. Modern electrical appliances—the electric washer, ironer, vacuum cleaner and others—is the solution.
