

Radical Thought Menaces Youth, Speaker Asserts

Miss Lillian Luehrs Tells of Prosperity Under Republican Administration

"Give the young people of today from the radicals," was the plea made by Miss Lillian Luehrs of Minneapolis, representative from republican national headquarters, to more than 150 women who gathered for a luncheon and meeting Tuesday noon at the Hotel Rome.

"When the republicans took control of the government in 1920 there was wheat from Canada, wool from Australia, and corn from South America, in the country. The only thing that saved the farmer was an emergency tariff act."

"The laboring man is in a happier condition today on account of the tariff act. Today the government is back on a working basis and at peace with the world. The pledge to eliminate waste was seen in the dismissal of 100,000 federal employes and a reduction of taxes. A budget system was established and operations are on a prewar basis. President Coolidge maintains rightly that we must have national thrift for national prosperity. With President Coolidge at the head of the country there is wonderful era of prosperity ahead of us."

"A third party movement has never won a presidential election. There will always be a radical, discontented element in the country to play upon the prejudices of the people. The radicals are destructive and their good citizenship should be questioned."

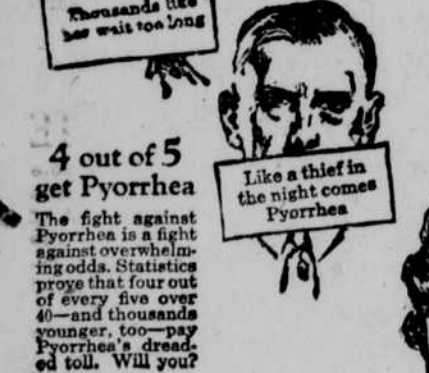

"La Follette won't win. La Follette will not win the presidential election. His campaign manager said from the start that he would not win the election. He said La Follette wants support in congress. He is slowly losing out in the agricultural states of the northwest and I believe, in Nebraska."

Mrs. Mary Hite, another representative of republican national headquarters, spoke of the privilege of voting which the women of today should accept.

"There has been a shocking downward curve in the interest in citizenship," declared Mrs. Hite. "But 41 per cent of the vote in 1920 was cast by women. Women have it in their power to vote anyone they want in office."

"There is a better nation than any other nation but we mustn't become the spoiled children of prosperity. We are facing a crisis. The women must be the relay messengers of the message to vote."

William B. Brewster, director of club division of the republican national committee, also spoke. Mrs. Margaret B. Payne of Fullerton, national committeewoman, introduced the speakers. Mrs. L. M. Lord, vice chairman of the Douglas county republican committee presided.

Be on your guard for signs of Pyorrhea

Just as the stability of a building is dependent upon its foundations, so healthy teeth depend upon healthy gums.

Bleeding gums are the first sign of Pyorrhea's approach. Then they begin to recede and the healthy pink color gives place to a pale, whitish tint. Soon the teeth are loosened, pus pockets form and drain disease-breeding poisons through the system.

Forhan's For the Gums contains just the right proportion of Forhan's Astringent (as used by the dental profession) to neutralize oral poisons, and keep the gums in a firm, strong, healthy condition. Even if you don't care to discontinue your favorite dentifrice, at least start using Forhan's once a day.

Forhan's is more than a tooth paste; it checks Pyorrhea. Thousands have found it beneficial for years. For your own sake ask for and get Forhan's For the Gums. At all druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Jilted Omaha Girl Files $25,000 Heart Balm Suit Too Late to Stop Rites, But Turns Honeymoon Sour

The breach of promise suit against John C. Pollock, young Omaha railroad man who recently was promoted to a position in Chicago, was filed in district court on Monday because his Omaha fiancée, who claims she was jilted, believed that he was to be married on that day to another girl in Chicago.

But close friends of young Pollock at Union Pacific headquarters declare he was married last week and is now enjoying his honeymoon in Chicago.

Carrie Y. Miller, 20, a Union Pacific clerk, brought the suit, asking $25,000 damages from Pollock as heart balm. Her petition avers that she and Pollock fell in love with each other in 1915, when both were clerks at the railroad headquarters at Fourteenth and Dodge streets.

Miss Miller, who still is a clerk in the passenger accounting department of the Union Pacific, declares Pollock gave her an engagement ring in 1922. But it was agreed that they would not marry as long as his aged mother lived, she declares. A year ago he was promoted to chief clerk of the Union Pacific passenger department office in Chicago, and his mother died in March, according to the petition.

Pollock Was Popular. Then, according to Miss Miller, he came to Omaha from Chicago and told her he would not marry her. As a result, she says, she has become sick, nervous and miserable.

News of the suit hit the Union Pacific headquarters Monday afternoon like a projectile from a siege gun. Pollock was very popular and much indignation was expressed.

"I don't think John has ever done a malicious act in his life," she declared a passenger department official who asked that his name be withheld.

"He supported his mother for years, and I am sure he hasn't saved any large amount of money. Besides, he has just been married, and he is the type of young man who will take such an entanglement very much to heart."

Friends Get Announcements. Several former associates of young Pollock received announcements of his marriage to a young Chicago school teacher last week.

Miss Miller's attorney expressed surprise that Pollock had been married before the suit was filed.

"Pollock came to Omaha and told Miss Miller he had a change of heart," said he. "She kept the engagement ring, however, and we have it as evidence of his fickleness, which has really been injurious to the girl."

Pollock was a member of the Transmissouri Passenger Men's club and of the junior division of the Chamber of Commerce before he left Omaha.

Good Roads Body May Meet Here Early Next Year

National Highway Committee Head Confers With Omaha Enthusiasts on Plans

The Greater Omaha committee will try to land the next national convention of the United States Good Roads committee early next year.

J. R. Rountree, director general of the association, is in Omaha and will remain for several days, conferring with members of the committee who are desirous of bringing the meeting here.

While here Rountree will hold conferences with good road advocates and those interested in the constitution of federal aid.

Rountree declares that his was the first organization in the country to declare for federal aid and to actively lead the fight to secure passage of this bill in congress.

"The association at their convention has an attendance of almost 5,000 delegates."

"The association," said Rountree, "is advocating a system of highways throughout the country. We were instrumental in incorporating into the appropriation bill that section that provides for the distribution of equipment of trucks and material of approximate value of $30,000,000 to the 48 states by the War department to be used in the highway construction."

RIBBONS AWARDED CAREFUL DRIVERS

Grand Island, Oct. 21.—Purple ribbons were awarded to Mrs. Edward Bigley, 1609 West Second street, and to Emil Wolbach by G. E. Each month an announcement will be made of the persons considered by the judges to be the most careful drivers for that month.

The drivers chosen by the judges are presented with purple ribbons and a small, distinctive sticker is placed on the windshield of the car driven. The movement is carried on under the supervision of the chief of police by a committee whose names are not made public. All drivers of Grand Island are under observation by the committee who judge by the rules of the road.

Man Appeals 10-Year Penitentiary Sentence

Geneva, Neb., Oct. 21.—The case of James Turek, sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary on a charge of shooting with intent to kill, will be appealed to the supreme court following the overruling of a motion for a new trial.

Turek on May 1 shot twice at William Sladek, who was plowing near the Turek farm, 12 miles from Geneva. It was brought out that the two men, both farmers, had been enemies. Turek, who had been discharged from a hearing before the insanity board the day before the shooting, is 39 and has a family. Sladek, who completely recovered from his wounds, is 32 and unmarried.

The jury in the case deliberated 26 hours and returned to court for instructions before bringing in a verdict of guilty. Turek was sentenced Saturday.
