Sinn Fein Leader Tells of Fights

"Prince of Assassins" Admits Own Party Opposed Ruthless Struggle.

London, Nov. 4 .- One of the most amazing documents of recent times is the book, "My Fight for Irish Free lom," by Dan Breen.

Dan Breen was a Sinn Fein leade the warfare that preceded the Irish Free State. In his own word he was "a fighter for Irish freedom." but he admits that the British author ities characterized him as "the prince of assassins.

Breen's own record of his life seem Indicate that he killed rather freely; yet his point of view is that of absolute frankness and does not smack of anything of a bloodthirsty nature. He appears to have had no selfish ends to serve, and no persona hatred of his victims, only a deeply instilled hatred of that for which they stood. As he saw the issue, any Irishman who could lay his hands on a gun was justified in using it against the forces of the British crown in Ireland.

Threatened With Deportation.

This record of desperate adventure disclosed that the campaign of death carried on by some Sinn Feiners was not entirely with the approval of the real leaders of the party. Breen comlains bitterly that, while he was being hunted by the troops and police, a plot was hatched by the moderate Sinn Feiners to deport him and his followers to the United The moderates felt that States. Breen's activities with the gun were injuring their cause. A dare devi scue of one of his band after a fight in a railway train, in which two olicemen were killed and four o Breen's men wounded, was Breen' answer to the moderates.

New Dixie Highway Will Save Motorists 1,000 Miles; Most Expensive Project.

Chicago, Nov. 4 .- The Dixie highway, Route A, from Chicago to Florida, will be opened officially November 15, according to Charles O'Connor, engineer in charge of construction, The highway cuts through the Mason-Dixon line and enables motorists to save approximately 1,000 miles of travel en route from Chicago to Florida.

The construction of the important connecting stretches of road through hitherto impassable mountain regions of the south is said to be the most extensive piece of co-operative high way construction and financing in the history of American roads. The funds for the construction in those counties which could not finance the road were raised by civic clubs in Kentucky, Tennessee and North Carolina, by a gasoline tax agreed to by owners of gasoline stations along the route of the highway, and by contributions from various civic and motor associations and individuals in the cities of Chicago, Detroit and Day

Some of the south's most picturesque and historic points are reached and passed through by the highway, and Chicagoans and other northern ers along the route may now tous these places over improved roads that have been hitherto impassable mountain paths. Such places as the faious Blue Grass stock farms of Kenucky, spots made famous in the revo utionary and civil wars, the Vanderbilt estates, where the handicraft in woodwork and textiles has attracted interest all over the world, and other features of the Cumberland and Blue Ridge mountain country.
