

Nebraska Cornhuskers Pass Through Omaha on Way to Battle Notre Dame

Dawson to Use Gordon Locke in Saturday Tilt

Team That Scores First Will Win in Opinion of Former Captain Swanson—Injuries Worry Dawson.

A LARGE crowd assembled at the Union station Thursday night to cheer the University of Nebraska football squad on its way to South Bend.

Among those on hand were Clarence Swanson, captain of the Cornhuskers in 1921. Swanson went back to South Bend with a team that year which fought the Irish off their feet and finally lost by a touchdown when Lewellen, later a team captain, fumbled.

"The team that scores first will win," said Swanson. "Notre Dame has six three-year backfield men, playing their last game at home, and if they get their running game to going the score may be large in their favor."

"On the other hand, Nebraska has a green backfield of young, talented fellows who may fool 'em. Next year I'm sure they will, and I wouldn't be surprised if they do this year. If Nebraska can only win the toss, and get a chance to handle the ball for a few plays it'll help."

"Dawson is going to use Locke. The year I coached at Nebraska, when Locke was a freshman, he looked like one of the greatest backfield men in the country. This year he has an injured leg, and he seems to favor it. But he might be right Saturday, and if he is he'll help make things interesting."

"There isn't any better backfield man than Rhodes. Meyers also is good, as is Mandery. But Mandery is playing his first year, and it's a lot different from high school football in the big time varsity circles. He may find himself in this game, though."

"If Weir is right he's the greatest in the game. I'm glad Hutchinson is going to play a guard. Even if he doesn't make a single tackle he puts fire into the team. He's always fighting and putting fight into the rest of the team."

"Noble during his first year on the varsity played no better than Mandery. He played against Notre Dame at South Bend and couldn't gain. Next year it was different. Watch Mandery next year, and maybe Saturday."

"Rockne is a smart coach. He'll try to win the game in the first three minutes of play. I don't think he'll put his second team in in the first quarter against Nebraska, as he has done against other teams."

"Dawson is also a smart coach. He'll stick to his line game because he has a great line. It's his best bet, although he has two good ends that can catch passes, especially Collins. It is entirely possible that Notre Dame will run up a big score against us this year, as they have done against other strong teams. But I think Nebraska also has a scoring punch. We'll see."

Lincoln, Nov. 13.—Thirty Cornhuskers, attended by the usual encouragement of coaches, trainers, physicians and sport writers, left here at 4 p. m. Thursday, bound for Chicago, which is the first stop on the trip to Notre Dame, where the Huskers and "Irish" mix Saturday.

Coach Fred Dawson, Captain Ed Weir, "Choppy" Rhodes and other leading lights of the Nebraska squad were hailed forth to address a crowd of several hundred students who packed the station platform and cheered the team on its way.

"All we ask of you students," said "Choppy" is to have faith, and if your faith is strong enough, we will win. They may look better on paper, but they can't have the determination that Nebraska men have. When we go out on the field with the determination to win, they can't keep us from winning."

Students filled the narrow ledge of platform to overflowing, clambered upon freight trucks and climbed telephone poles to gain an unobstructed view of the rally. As the Northwestern passenger train got under way, the rosters bared their heads and sang "The Cornhusker."

"It is reported that Chuck Kearney is coming back to Denver this winter to play on a professional basketball team being organized. There have been few basketball coaches his equal in this section and he is to be available for some school near Denver."

Dempsey to Build Large Boxing Arena

Los Angeles, Nov. 13.—Jack Dempsey, champion heavyweight pugilist, and his manager, Jack Kearns, have instructed their agents here to dispose of their Los Angeles apartment and hotel holdings, convert the assets into cash and get options on other property suitable for the erection of a large boxing arena.

It is said that Kearns has long been desirous of being his own promoter and that with 12-round boxing legalized in California, he plans to return to his home state and take a fling at promoting championship matches and developing fighters.

But I am going to GIVE my friends REAL food for not-much-money.

Iowa State Gridsters Get Touch of Winter During Workout

Ames, Ia., Nov. 13.—The Iowa State college yesterday had a long hard workout on a hard rough field and in the teeth of a biting raw wind. On the whole it was a satisfactory workout.

Tawzer, a new man on the varsity lineup, placed at tackle for much of the time. Galbraith and W. Anderson, who were used at this position in the Minnesota game, are still suffering from the effects of injuries received in the game with the Gophers. Trainer Shellis Chambers hopes to be able to have both Galbraith and Anderson in shape for the game with Grinnell Saturday.

Point After Touchdown in Football Decides Winner in 13 of 700 Games

New York, Nov. 13.—Arguments for the abolition of the point after touchdown in football will lack basis if scores continued to present trend. Results of more than 700 contests throughout the country up to this time show that only 13 games have been decided by one-point margins.

Only three of these goals after touchdown victories can be found among the so-called large college contests, as follows:

Yale 7, Georgia 6; Massachusetts Aggie 14, Wesleyan, 13; Tufts 7, Bowden, 6.

The field goal has defeated the safety on two occasions, Ohio Wesleyan winning over Ohio Northern, 3 to 2, and Hendrix conquering Southwestern University of Texas by the same score. Two safeties gave Muskegon a victory over Heidelberg, 4 to 2, the latter scoring its points by the same method.

CYCLONES GIVEN STIFF WORKOUT

Ames, Ia., Nov. 13.—With a stiff battle slated for next Saturday at Grinnell and with the Drake classic following a week later, Coach Sam Willaman faces a herculean task in order to keep his Iowa State Cyclones in condition to play the brand of football they have handed out during the last two weeks.

The real Cyclone strength became apparent against the Kansas Aggies and last Saturday the same strength was demonstrated, but with more emphasis on the defensive branch of the game. Line Coach Hauser this year has built a Cyclone line that can withstand terrific battering, and the Gopher backs were aware of this fact before they had carried the ball many times. Offensively, the Cyclones played great ball, and N. Behm stamped himself as a great open field runner when he tore through the whole Gopher team for 80 yards and a touchdown.

Yank Fighter Loses.

Paris, Nov. 12.—The young French middleweight, Molina, easily outpointed Jack Walker, an American fighter in a 10-round bout here tonight.

Molina belongs to the string of boxers managed by Francois Descamps, the mentor of Georges Carpentier. He only recently returned to France from the United States.

Cancel Soccer Game With Roses

The league-leading Caledonians of the Omaha District Soccer league will not meet the Roses of Des Moines in a game here Sunday, November 23, as was first planned. Lack of a suitable place to play the game caused officials of the Omaha league to cancel the contest.

ILLINI MAY PLAY EASTERN ELEVEN

Chicago, Nov. 12.—A home-and-home game with the leading eastern football team next fall and in 1926 will be scheduled by Coach Zuppke of the University of Illinois eleven. It was learned here tonight when the Illini entertained for Minneapolis to meet Minnesota Saturday.

As the probable winner of the 1924 western conference championship, Illinois has been considered as a likely opponent by several eastern teams for a game in 1925, and it is said overtures have been made by the University of Pennsylvania, which stands alone undefeated among the eastern teams this year.

Grid Game Postponed.

The scheduled game for the city second-team championship between the Tech and Central Reserves failed to materialize Thursday through a misunderstanding as to where the contest was to be played.

Cut Time

Newark, N. J., Nov. 13.—Time-keepers cut off 10 seconds in two of the 12 rounds fought by Luis Firpo and Charlie Weinert here last night, J. Platt Adams, chief boxing inspector of New Jersey, declared today. "I know positively by they were 10 seconds short," Adams said, "as I held a stop watch and timed them."

Adams told newspapermen that the rounds were cut to favor Weinert, who in one of the rounds was in a dangerously open position on the ropes. Newspapermen gave Weinert the decision.

AT THE THEATERS

In the colorful tales about the Limehouse district of London, by Thomas Burke, was found the inspiration for "The Antique Shop," an artistic dance fantasy at the Orpheum this week. Meyer Golden, producer of the act, gives credit to his son, George Golden, for the quaint ideas embodied in the settings and costumes of the five full-stage numbers. It seems that George is a great reader and constantly on the lookout for ideas which can be utilized by his father, who is well known for such productions as "Yarmark," "Wanka" and the Russian Art company. In his "Limehouse" tales the author describes the picturesque shops along the famed waterfront district of London, with their store of curios and quaint, artistic souvenirs from all parts of the globe. It was in these narratives that young Golden got his ideas.

A seven-act vaudeville bill said to be the biggest the World theater has offered this season will start at that playhouse tomorrow. Ciccolini, celebrated Italian tenor, is one of the headline attractions. A company of five offers the vaudeville version of the noted farcical success, "Twin Beds." Welch, Mealy and Montrose in their "Trip to Laughland" have an act of unusual comedy qualities. The Balasi troupe of four have one of the most sensational of gymnastic acts. Other acts on the big bill will include the three Harmony Maids, Kinney, Lee and Roeper and Frank Jerome and Evelyn. The show offers almost everything in the way of vaudeville entertainment, the seven acts being widely diversified and all of them of standard quality.

"Clouds and Sunshine," a musical comedy story of a fighting parson, is the attraction to be offered at the Empire starting tomorrow. In presenting the musical version of this well known novel the Empire players believe they have one of the most entertaining productions of the season. The story has its dramatic moments and plenty of comedy relief. It gives every member of the cast unusual opportunities. Amateurs are an added attraction evening following the first performance of the current musical play, "Tangled Sweeties."

Clyde Bates, the rotund tramp comedian, who, with Jack Hunt, heads the fun section of Rube Bernstein's "Bathing Beauties" at the Gayety theater twice daily this week, is far from the raggedy dresser off stage that his makeup would indicate. He is known among stage folk as one of the best-groomed men in the profession and usually sets the sartorial styles for the male members of any company with which he is connected. A novel feature which will be presented in conjunction with tonight's performance will be the much discussed contest between the chorus girls to determine the most talented. The audience will serve as judge and jury.
