(Omahans Benefit From High Prices In Stock Market

Steady Rise in Value of Securities Reflected Here; Indicates New Era of Prosperity.

The rise in stocks and bonds on the New York market is already being reflected in Omaha and Ne braska.

Shrewd observers, who are not bound by sentiment, say that the stock market prosperity as evinced not only in Wall street but in Chicago and other trading centers, is symbolic of better times all over the country.

Nebraska capital is heavily inrested in sound stocks and bonds to the extent of millions of dollars. When the market slumped, these investors have, as a rule, held on, confident that a more prosperous era was in prospect. Their confidence has not been violated, for within a few hours after the election of Presi dent Collidge a sharp improvement began on virtually every stock.

Great Optimism Here. This fact, coupled with the prices the farmer received for his wheat, and the excellent corn market, has caused Omaha business and financial circles to be pervaded with ontimism.

The only disturbing element in the west has been the cattle market. But an improvement is expected there,

K. A. Lininger, manager of the Omaha branch of Logan & Bryan declared Thursday that in his 22 years' experience in the market he had never been so confident of the future, save during the first year of McKinley's administration

Every Reason for Cheer. "There is every reason in the world why we should face the future cheerfully," he said. "Every indication points to remarkable national prosperity, which certainly will be felt in Nebraska."
