

SOCIETY AND WOMAN'S PAGE

Omahans Buy Country Places for Week End Entertaining

More and more Omahans are opening homes in the country for week-end entertaining.

Saturday Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Elwood will go to Osceola, Ia., where they have purchased a farm, to entertain for winter house parties.

Mrs. Elwood is unusually artistic and recently converted an old barn in the West Farnam district into one of the city's most attractive homes. The farmhouse is cottage type, capable of easy transformation. A stream and wooded acres add to the merits of the place.

Florence hills offer the greatest inducement for country homes. Mrs. R. B. Crane and her son, Roderic Crane, will reopen Rosemere, north of Florence, for spring parties. They are remodeling it now.

The John W. Robbins recently completed a cabin on one of the forest hills commanding a fine view of the river at Florence. Their daughters, Polly and Dean, are to be hostesses at informal parties there.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Rogers entertain picnic parties at their Papillon farm. The children, John and Mary Alice, often take groups of their friends for a romp through the fields. At present there are only sleeping quarters and a cook house, but next year the Rogers will erect a house there.

The Glenn Whartons and Mrs. S. P. Kirkendall are making plans to have the pool at Kirkwood cemented next summer. A year ago it was the morning gathering place of society, but this year it was not used.

Your Problems

By Martha Allen

Make Him Choose.

Dear Miss Allen: I am a girl of 18 and am very much puzzled. A fellow of 21 had been coming all summer to see another girl who stays at the same place I do. And when I arrived he still came, but his affections seem more for me, although he has never openly said so. But just the way he looks and acts towards me, I feel he cares for me more, although he treats the other girl with seeming affection.

I am deeply in love with him and am perplexed as to what to do, as I would hate to offend this other girl, feeling that she loves him too.

He doesn't seem to have much class or style about him, and that is one thing the other girl has against him. But I love him anyway, not for clothes, but for himself, although I have been used to the best of everything all my life.

My folks do not know anything about him, as I have not felt sure of telling them. I am sure of this other girl, I greatly fear my folks would object to him. Now, what shall I do? Shall I tell my father or what?

Prominent Woman Here Monday

One of the foremost women in the country, Dr. Augusta Reinhardt, is expected in Omaha Monday. She will be in Lincoln Saturday, guest of the American Association of University Women, of which she is president.

Mrs. James E. Bednar, president of the Omaha College club, knew Dr. Reinhardt 24 years ago at the University of Idaho.

Dr. Reinhardt is an inspirational speaker of great power. She has served in the General Federation of Women's Clubs on the literature committee and was heard by many Omaha women at Salt Lake City at the federation council meeting three years ago. She has been connected with Mills college in California for some time, being president of the institution.

Honor Dancer at Dinner.

Wilbur Gilmore of the Pavley-Ourlinsky ballet is with his aunt, Mrs. C. E. Corey. Saturday evening Miss Marjorie Corey will entertain at dinner at the Athletic club for Mr. Gilmore.

'Little Lady' Coats
Fashioned in Half Sizes to Meet the Requirements of the Petite Figure
November Sale Prices
F. W. Thorne Co.
1812 Farnam

CLEARANCE

Saturday—We will close out silk, cloth and flannel dresses, formerly selling at $19.50 and $25.00.
Choice at $10.00
Reduced because assortments have become broken
Julius Orkin
1512 Douglas St.

Miss Information

COULD I LEAVE MY BOY WITH YOU WHILE I SHOP?
WHY—YES MADDUM, IF 'TWERES OVER TWENTY ONE

Affairs for British Diplomat

Following luncheon with General and Mrs. Halstead Dorey at Fort Omaha Saturday and a drive about town with General and Mrs. George Duncan, Colonel and Mrs. C. Graham Charlton will be the tea guests of Mrs. F. A. Nash.

Colonel Charlton is military attache to the British embassy, and will spend the day here as the guest of General Duncan.

Mrs. Bob Millard, Misses Josephine Schurman, Erna Reed, Frederic Nash and Eleanor Burkley will assist Mrs. Nash at tea.

In the evening the Duncans will give a dinner at the Blackstone for their guests.

Miss Thomas in Manila.

Miss Esther Thomas who left early in the year to teach in the Philippine islands, writes of a visit to Yokohama and Tokyo recently.

"I could scarcely believe it possible to build up sections of the quake rocked cities as they have done," she said. "It was a tremendous task even to clear away the debris."

Miss Thomas' purse was snatched in Tokyo, but she gives no further information regarding it.

Her pupils, who are first year university, are backward in their English, she writes, owing partly to the fact that lower classes are conducted largely by native teachers.

Zimballist was an artist appearing in Manila recently.

Omahans in Florida.

Mrs. Charles M. Wray of Omaha has arrived at 13 S. E. Sixth street, Miami, Fla.

C. Houghton of Omaha is a guest at the Roberts hotel.

Stopping at the Ponce de Leon hotel is G. C. Wharton of Omaha.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Yetter of Omaha are guests at the Plaza hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Creedon of Omaha have located at 43 N. E. Fourth street, for the winter season.

D. J. Hall of Omaha is a guest at 107 N. E. First street.

Smead-Cady.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Cady announce the marriage of their daughter, Harriet Marie, to Frank N. Smead, at Atlantic, Ia., Wednesday, November 12.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. J. Howard of the Christian church. Mrs. H. J. Howard sang, accompanied by Miss Jessie G. Cady, sister of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Smead will be at home after December at 5009 Florence boulevard.

For Mme. Gerhardt.

Mrs. John L. Kennedy will entertain informally at tea at her home at 5 today for Mme. Elena Gerhardt, lieder singer, who appeared before the Tuesday musical club Thursday night at the Brandeis.

Honoring the artist, Miss Henrietta Rees gave an informal supper for Miss Mary Munchhoff's box party group, at her home following the concert.

At Wellesley.

Miss Elizabeth Rutinke of Omaha is among the 16 members of the sophomore class at Wellesley college listed in group 1 of the honorable mention lists just announced. These lists include students whose freshman work has been of the highest grade.

Miss Tracy Returns.

Miss Corinth Tracy of Williams-Lown, Mass., has returned from the west and is again the guest of Mrs. Carl Gray. Mrs. Gray will entertain eight guests on Saturday evening in her honor.

The Hughes Visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hughes of Norfolk will be among the dinner guests on Saturday evening at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Miliken.

Birth Announcements.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fernald announce the arrival of Melvin Louis on October 10, at the Lord Lister hospital.

The Housewife's Idea Box

Use Lemon When Preparing a Chicken.
After your chicken is cleaned rub a little lemon on the inside of the chicken. It will whiten it and make it more tender. THE HOUSEWIFE.
(Copyright, 1924.)

PIGGLY WIGGLY

SUNSET GOLD BUTTER Per lb.	38c	Co'nut Peanut Flakes HOME-MADE CANDY It is a delicious piece of merchandise. Special, per lb.	19c
Your Luck Vacuum Packed COFFEE It's the Best at any price. PER LB.	52c	Shelled NUT MEATS WALNUTS Per lb.	63c
LADY ALICE CORN Fancy, Tender Evergreen, PER CAN	15c	NEW CROP DATES DROMEDARY, per package21c Fancy Nut Stuffed, per lb.43c CLEAN, BULK DATES, per lb.	12c
LADY ALICE PEAS Small, Tender, Sweet, PER CAN	23c	SUN-MAID Brand Seedless or Seeded, PER PKG.	12c
LADY ALICE PEACHES Large Rippe Halves, No. 2 1/2 Cans	27c	SOAP P. & G. Brand White Naphtha, 10 large bars	39c
LADY ALICE APRICOTS Fancy, packed in Heavy Syrup, No. 2 1/2 cans	31c	QUEEN QUALITY FLOUR 6-lb. sack 31c 24-lb. sack 97c 48-LB. SACK	1.99

Every purchase from Piggly Wiggly must give you complete satisfaction or your money will be cheerfully returned and without question YOU ARE THE JUDGE.

A Wife's Confessional

Revelations of a Wife (Copyright, 1924.)

The Astonishing Thing of Which Katie Accused Lee Chow

If there is anything more grateful to one's olfactory nerves than the odor of "pirate steaks," twirling on sticks before a campfire I have yet to discover it.

Despite the worries of the day, or perhaps because of them, I found myself as hungry as Katie had expressed herself to be in the banal jest which had so convulsed the children a few minutes before. I knew that the children were ravenous also, and I was proud of the patience which even my little lad displayed, while watching the sticks skewered with alternate slices of steak, bacon and onion, which we turned every two minutes in order to preserve the even broiling.

At last I gave the signal to Katie, who slipped away and in a trice had the rest of the viands unpacked and laid upon the cloth. She then brought to me a pile of the parchment plates and paper napkins which we always use for our picnic dinners. But when I started to slip off segments of the "pirate steaks" from one of the sticks, Lee Chow stepped forward, and with a firm authority which would have appeared impertinence in anyone else took the stick from my hands.

"Lee Chow do, Boss lady not do," he said, "Boss lady show Lee Chow way."

"Just put a portion on each plate," I said a bit shortly, for he was beginning to get a bit on my nerves. "Katie will give each of us some bread-and-butter sandwiches and some chicken."

"Want potatoes and clams now?" he asked, while I reflected with a touch of dismay that the addition of the clams made our feast an unwholesome one.

The Picnic Dinner.

"No," I decided swiftly, "not the clams for a while, and we won't put the corn over to boil. We'll carry it home and cook it there. But you may rake out the potatoes now if you wish, and then when we've cleared our plates anyone who wishes clams may eat them."

The cold chicken, the sizzling broiled steak, and the ash-roasted potatoes seasoned with butter and salt, satisfied my hunger to repletion, but I found that the old adage concerning the hollowness of boys applied not only to my small son, but to Marion and Katie as well.

They ate straight through every item upon our camp menu. Junior only being limited by my caution concerning the clams, of which I allowed him only a few, and I knew that they deeply regretted my decision to omit the corn.

Lee Chow, on the other hand, was most abstemious. He would have touched nothing only for my urging, and he confined his menu to the "pirate steak" and the potatoes, bestowing a laconic but hearty "ver' good" upon the broiled meat. And when at last even Katie announced herself satisfied, he went swiftly about the business of clearing up and repacking our motor kit, as if he had been attached to the household for years.

Katie stretched herself lazily and grinned at me with unconscious impudence.

"I think I be fine lady now," she said. "Can I take dot ba-bee und go walk on beach?"

"Dot Chink Poison Babee!"

"If you're careful not to get out of hearing," I assented, while Junior gravely admonished Katie to her great delight that "cans are for tomatoes, you should say 'may.'"

"Vot you tink of dot ba-bee, so smart already," he tell hees Katie how to talk." My little maid exclaimed, her pride in her small charge vibrant in every inflection of her voice.

"You couldn't keep me away," Marion laughed, "unless—with a quick look at me—you need me Auntie Madge."

"Indeed I don't," I assured her quickly. "I'm going to have a nice little rest while you are gone. I can only give you half an hour, however, for we must start home by then."

Gravely Marion consulted her serviceable little wrist-watch of which she is inordinately proud.

"I'll bring them back exactly on time," she promised, and in another minute the three had disappeared around the curve in the beach.

I was looking after them with the tingle of uneasiness which always comes to me whenever Junior is out of my sight, and did not notice Lee Chow until he appeared at my side bearing a seat from the car, and some cushions. He placed the seat against the sloping bank in such a fashion that it made a comfortable reclining chair, and laid the pillows above it.

"Boss lady better sit here," he said, and I thankfully accepted his thoughtful provision, for I was becoming conscious of weariness and was glad of the prospect of a comfortable half-hour relaxation.

It was a prospect which never materialized, however, for I had been settled only a few minutes before I was frightened almost into insensibility by Katie's wild shrieks and the sight of my little maid running across the beach with Junior in her arms.

"I told you dot Chink poison babee! Let me at heem! I keel! I keel!"

College Club Observes Book Week.

Members of the Omaha College Club are observing children's book week by giving a set of books to the South Side Library. Members will bring books to the general meeting Saturday.

Costume Party Saturday.

Bookmarks will be given as prizes to all children coming in costume to the Children Book week party at the library Saturday afternoon, 3:30 o'clock.

J. E. Davidson has returned from a hunting trip.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.

COME TO THE STORE TOMORROW AND GET FREE TICKETS TO

BEDDEO'S BIG TURKEY DANCE

Empress Rustic Garden, Tuesday, Nov. 25th
25 TURKEYS GIVEN AWAY FREE AT THE DANCE

FREE!
with your purchases at Beddeo's

A Big Milk Fed Live TURKEY with any purchase amounting to $25 throughout the store.

This Beautiful 7-Piece Etched Water Set FREE with a purchase of $25.00 or more throughout the store.

A Clever Boudoir Lamp FREE with each $15.00 purchase made throughout the store.

SHARE TO THE LIMIT IN THE AMAZING BARGAINS MADE POSSIBLE IN OUR STORE-WIDE

Third Annual Challenge Sale

The peak of value giving has been attained in this marvelous sale. The power of low prices, quality wearables and easy buying terms meet at their best in this sale of sales.

BUY ON PAYMENTS
Saturday-- A Daring Clearaway
500 Hats

A sale you can't overlook; a sale you won't forget for months to come. Beautiful hats, the last word in style correctness, at prices unbelievably low.

Hats Worth 4 Times These Sensationally Low Challenge Prices

Three Big Sale Groups--

$2.95 $3.39

Every New Fabric, Color and Shape. $3.95 Every Trimming That Dame Fashion Favors.

Never before such hat values; such assortments. Positively worth to four times these ridiculous low prices. Come Saturday and come early.

