

Grain, Livestock Men of Nebraska Meet This Week

Annual State Convention to Open at Hotel Rome Tuesday; Debate Is Feature First Day.

Problems of the grain and livestock growers of Nebraska will be discussed in debate and by prominent speakers at the twenty-second annual convention of the Nebraska Co-operative Grain and Livestock association, and the Farmers Managers association at Hotel Rome next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Problems of the managers will be discussed on the opening day. At the first session a debate, "Resolved that the Patronage Dividend Is Better than a High Price at the Scale from the Managers' Standpoint," will be discussed with H. F. Collett, Aurora, and E. M. Oolds, Dorchester, on the affirmative, and A. E. Hoare, Monroe, and C. A. Moore, Fairmont, on the negative.

Charles E. Eckerle, of Minneapolis, will be the principal speaker at the morning session Wednesday, that day being devoted to discussion of elevator problems. His subject is "Modernizing the Farmers' Elevator Business."

Wheat Protein Talk. His talk will be preceded by a discussion of wheat protein from the standpoint of farmer, manager, commissionman, miller and grain exchange.

John F. Gustafson, president of the Farmers National Grain Dealers' association, will make the principal address at the closing session Thursday morning. His address will be followed by a debate on the patronage dividend question from the farmers' standpoint, with H. C. Filley, Lincoln, and George A. Williams, Fairmont, supporting the affirmative, and J. R. Morrison, Chappell, and U. C. Ocker, Glenview, the negative.

Alice Mae Christensen, president of the Senior Glee club at Central High school will take the leading part in the opera "The Bells of Cornville," which is to be presented December 12 in the school auditorium.

The part of the heroine, Germaine, which is a mezzo-soprano part, will be taken by Miss Christensen. For the hero part of the opera, Henri, Marquis de Valerol, which is sung by a baritone, Volcott Swift was chosen.

Roy Larsen, vice president of the Boys' Senior Glee club, was selected to sing the tenor role of Jean Grenicheux, a young fisherman, who is a romantic character.

Probably the most dramatic character of the opera is Gaspard, a bass, taken by Bernarr Wilson, who is guardian of Germaine. The comedy part of Bailly, one of Germaine's suitors, also a bass part, will be taken by Sam Minkin. The girl to take the part of Serpolette, a gossip, has not yet been chosen.

The production is under direction of Mrs. Carl Pitts, head of the musical department at Central High school.

Omaha Coffee Broker Has Bought Millions of Bags He Has Never Seen

Blames Brazil Planters and Scarcity of Product for Advance in Price.

In Omaha lives a man who has dealt in nothing but coffee for more than 40 years and has sold millions of bags of coffee but has never touched or seen a pound of it.

He is James Nicholson, of the Nicholson-Ogle company, 609 South

Thirteenth street. He has advanced orders for millions of pounds of coffee daily. Nicholson started the coffee-roasting business here. He represents a resident of the Liberty vicinity, just east of here, died at a Kansas City hospital Wednesday and was buried at Liberty. The husband, a retired farmer, and a grown family of children survive.

The Suite

True to the craftsmanship of the day are the bulbous and deeply fluted legs. The drawer and door fronts are of butt walnut, hand-somely figured and skillfully matched. On the doors of the cabinet pieces there is a distinctive octagonal shaped panel of Pollard oak, embellished by a shaped onlay of pearwood, close grained and ebonyized. The drawer and door pulls are of maple, effecting a pleasing brownish color tone, usually acquired only by the ageing of time. The tops and sides are of richly grained walnut, while the posts, rails and legs are of selected gumwood.

Tech High Students Govern Themselves; Signs Warn Pupils to 'Park' Gum Outside; Not to Slide Down Bannister

Welfare Council Composed of More Than 200 Members Legislates for Entire School.

By WILLIAM LAMPMAN. In the school days of the older generation a hickory stick, terrifying frowns and the reiterated injunctions of the school ma'am served to intimidate the good pupils of a class, but had little effect, if any, upon the "bad boys."

Today, the order is changed, as is shown at Technical High school. Students govern themselves, and do it more efficiently in the large high school than could twice the number of teachers, if any, upon the "bad boys."

Through self-government at school, the students are given valuable lessons in good citizenship, which help them to become community assets at graduation.

Home Room Political Unit. The "home room" is the political unit of the school. It is to these rooms that the various classes first report each morning. From them are chosen the representatives to the student welfare council, a boy and a girl being elected from each home room. Only students with a fixed scholastic average are eligible. At present the welfare council has more than 200 members.

The council is subdivided into committees which devote themselves to various phases of school government. These committees are: Activities association, booster, cafeteria, care and appearance of property, courtesy, library, personal habits, punctuality, scholarship, social service, traffic.

Signs and placards, furnished by the school printing department, and posters, obtained from the art department, are used extensively in student management.

Punctuality Week. The week just passed was "punctuality week," conducted by the punctuality committee of the welfare council. Each day various colored tags were issued to the students to wear. On them was printed "I will try to come to school on time tomorrow."

Farmers Fight Hoppers. Bridgeport, Neb., Nov. 15.—Farmers south of Bridgeport are setting fire to large patches of grass in efforts to destroy the grasshoppers. The hoppers have hatched out in large numbers during the past few days. They roost on the grass at night, and burning is thought to be safer and better than poison.

Auxiliary Elects. David City, Neb., Nov. 15.—The American Legion auxiliary of this city elected the following officers: Roy Coe, president; Mrs. Douglas, vice president; Mrs. Mizra, secretary; Mrs. Nancy Welte, treasurer; Mrs. Martin Bean, chaplain; Mrs. Beede, historian; Mrs. Mitchell, sergeant-at-arms.

row, or "I will be on time to all of my classes Wednesday," etc.

Monday the freshmen English classes competed in essays on punctuality for $4 in prizes. Tuesday was assignment punctuality day; Wednesday, class punctuality; Thursday, school punctuality, and Friday, perfect punctuality.

Here are some of the punctuality signs displayed about the building: "A good habit is to be on time." "Are you punctual?" "Punctuality, the key-stone to success."

Get-Acquainted Day. The courtesy committee recently held a get-acquainted day. On that day the students all wore tags bearing their names and home room numbers. They were requested to make it a point to speak to everyone they did not know and get acquainted.

A regular duty of the courtesy committee is to send flowers to sick students or those in mourning, and write those who drop out of school, urging them to return.

The activities association committee campaigns to sell students' activity stamps which admit them to athletic contests and other school activities. They also urge participation in all such activities.

Other Committees. The booster committee stirs up enthusiasm for inter-high school contests and organized cheering bodies. The library committee guards the theft of books from the school library and endeavors to teach students the correct manner in which to use that department.

"Are you being fair and square to the other fellow?" is the text of one of their placards.

The cafeteria committee prints the day's menu daily in the high school publication. It has also issued a bulletin relative to the correct use of the cafeteria.

Care and appearance of property committee guards the new school building from mutilation at the hands of thoughtless students. Some of their signs are: "Park your gum outside." "These walls need no second coating." "I'm watching you—don't you tilt that chair." "Why write on the walls—paper is cheaper."

School Habits Committee. The personal habits committee is soon to issue a pamphlet setting forth to the student body "School habits."

WAGON UPSETS; FARMER KILLED

David City, Neb., Nov. 15.—Clint Dunbar, a farmer living south of Garrison, Neb., was killed yesterday while working in his field. His family, when he did not return at meal time, went in search for him. They found him in the field, under a wagon load of corn. It is believed that he had driven too close to a bank, and the wagon had overturned. His death, it is thought, was instantaneous.

My Rosy Bloom

Comes largely from a super-cream By Edna Wallace Hopper

My marvelous complexion is the chief item in my beauty and in my personal youth. It is largely due to a cream which combines a dozen important factors. To an exquisite cream they have added products of both lemon and strawberry. Then all the best modern science knows to feed and foster, to soften and protect the skin.

I used to apply these helps separately, but now they combine them in one. I call it My Youth Cream. It comes in two types—cold cream and vanishing. Both contain all the essential constituents. I use the cold cream as a night cream, the vanishing as a day cream. Never is my skin without them.

Aged, Wrinkled Faces Easily Rejuvenated

An aged face is often only a mask to a comparatively youthful person. Beneath is a countenance young and fair to look upon. It's a simple matter to remove the mask. Ordinary mercurized wax, to be had at any drug store, gradually absorbs the worn-out surface skin; in a week or two the user has the loveliest pinky white complexion imaginable. An ounce of the wax usually suffices to complete the transformation. It is put on at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning. This remarkable treatment is invariably effective, no matter how faded, muddied, sallied or discolored the complexion. Freckles, moth-matches, liver spots, pimples and other cutaneous blemishes, naturally vanish with the discarded skin.

To remove wrinkles, here is a recipe that cannot be too highly recommended: Powdered absorbent, one ounce, dissolved in one-half pint of witch hazel. Use as a wash lotion. It acts immediately and is wonderfully effective.
