Community Chest Methodists Pledge $50,000 for New Parish House in 35 Minutes Favors Moving of Men and women of the First Methodist church Sunday within 35 minutes pledged nearly $50,000 to pay for the new parish house, remodeling and redecorating the church vestry, furnishing and equipping the whole and providing for the redecoration of the church auditorium next summer.

Rev. J. E. Wagner, the pastor, broached the appeal for $60,000 at 12:25, after a sermon on vision which he described as "the power of the soul to appreciate spiritual values."

At a few minutes before 1 the pledges had been made and the pastor then postponed dedication of

The chief feature of the dedica tion was a pageant, "Finding the Light." A Sunday school class was first shown, crowded in a small room. After dismissal the teachers discuss the handicaps under which they are working. The superin tendent joins them, and then the Young people streamed past the altar, some on their way to downtown gymnasiums and entertainments, and the constant refrain from the pastor, "I am afraid they will miss the Light." And out of this came the movement to build the parish house.

West Leavenworth Improvement Club Also Believes Building Should Be Removed.

Mark Martin, president of the Omaha Real Estate board, Monday norning endorsed the project of moving the county, hospital and poor farm from its present site and estabishing a combination county and city ospital on a location west of Omaha Douglas county

"I am for the proposition," Martin said. "I know there is a substantial public sentiment in favor of this dea. This is in line with the larger proposition of a consolidated county and city government. We have one treasurer now for county and city. The city smallpox hospital on West enter street should be abandoned. "Removal of the county hospital and poor farm from its present location and the establishment of a cooperative county and city hospital plant has my approval." It is the consensus of opinion among members of the West Leavenworth' Improvement club, and also with the situation, that the county hospital and "poor farm" should be moved from its present location, which is in a growing residential district. It is contended that the county and city should have one general hos-
