

Cornhuskers Sent Through Final Scrimmage Before Aggies Contest

Huskers Leave Tonight for Scene of Game

Dawson Shifts Backfield—Rhodes Plays at Full—Meyers on Sidelines.

INCOLN, Nov. 19.—Nebraska's "varsity" put in a discouraging session Wednesday evening against the frosh in what will probably be the last scrimmage before the Kansas Aggie game. The team leaves here for Manhattan at 6:55 Thursday evening.

"Dawson" Meyers was absent from practice and Frank Dailey was stationed at one half, with Rhodes at full and Avarad Mandery at the other halfback position.

Hutchison was not in suit. He is carrying an injured hand. Many shifts were made in the line. Fumbles and offensive penalties galore were chalked up against the first string.

One reason for the numerous offensive penalties was the trick shift which the Kansas Aggie quarterback uses, and Owen Frank, freshman coach, was emulating this move.

As demonstrated, the quarterback hips twice, then reaches out as though to take the ball. Instead, on the next "hip," the center shoots a direct pass to one of the backs.

The movement of the quarterback is plainly a ruse to pull the opposing team offside, and it succeeds too many times.

The Aggies used it here last year and it called for considerable criticism. Coach Dawson intends to get the officials' interpretation of the rules before the Aggie game starts and thereby save considerable argument after and during the game.

There is a feeling in the Cornhusker camp that indicates a defeat in Manhattan would not come as a great surprise.

One Husker coach explained his version of the Notre Dame-Nebraska game in this way: "We weren't hitting that afternoon and Notre Dame was. I'm not of the belief that this team of Nebraskans could have beaten the South Benders, even if it had been hitting, but I do think we could have held them to two or three touchdowns."

Lum Doyle and Herb Potter, both former Nebraska football players, looked in on a practice session this week. They recalled a game back several years, when Potter, as quarterback, called for an end run and Doyle got crossed up and punted.

That was in a game with the Kansas Aggies. The Huskers were so far in front that it didn't make much difference, but, as was pointed out, one misplay Saturday may lose the game.

The Tuesday division of the Y. M. C. A. Novice Church Basketball League completed its schedule Tuesday night, and the Thursday division will wind up the season tonight.

The Tuesday loop ended with the First Christian T. N. T. and the First Unitarians tied for first place with four wins and one defeat apiece. They will meet for the championship Saturday night in a post-season game.

Walnut Hill Bantams ended in third place, and Parkvale Presbyterian in fourth. North Side Christian and the St. Luke Lutheran shared the cellar.

The final standings: First Christian T. N. T. 4-1-0, 4-0-0; Parkvale Presbyterian 3-2-0, 3-1-0; Walnut Hill Bantams 3-2-0, 2-1-0; North Side Christian 1-4-2, 1-3-0; St. Luke Lutheran 1-4-2, 1-3-0.

The "Iron Man" of Purdue University is the name given to Fred W. Woodman, a former Purdue football player, following his feat in the letterman relay race at that school. Last season he was shifted to another position, but he is being used at tackle and playing well in his standard. He is a versatile young man. In basketball he is a letter man. Recently he was elected captain of the 1924-25 Purdue basketball team.

ADVERTISMENT. BETTER THAN CALOMEL. Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "foggy" and "heavy." They "clear" the clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 50c.

Grimmell Gets Down to Work for Creighton

Pioneers Out to Repeat Ames Performance Here Saturday Afternoon.

Grinnell, Ia., Nov. 19.—Ward field took on the aspect of a grade school playground this afternoon when Coach Hyland and Black put the Pioneer reserves at a game of "three deep" to take the kinks out of their systems. While these men were indulging in this youthful pastime most of the athletes who bore the brunt of Saturday's battle were engaged in taking a walk to loosen up sore muscles in preparation for the hard work of the rest of the week.

The men came through the Ames game without serious injury and, barring practice accidents which are more apt to occur as the weather grows colder, should be in excellent shape to meet Creighton this week-end. Though the Pioneer's Missouri valley season is a thing of the past, they realize that they face in Creighton one of the most powerful eleven in the midwest.

Spurred on by their victory over Ames, every effort this week will be bent toward getting in shape to repeat that feat at Omaha. Besides vindicating the Hyland-Black system of football and augmenting the fighting spirit of the Pioneer, last Saturday's triumph accomplished two other achievements important in the eyes of Grinnellians. In the first place it gave Grinnell a high rating in the Missouri Valley percentage column than it has enjoyed since becoming a member of the conference five years ago. More important still, it broke a chain of Ames victories extending back beyond the personal experience of any present Grinnell student, a chain unbroken since 1901.

You won't KNOW this place as the old "Woodman" Cafeteria, for all that I've saved of the old place are the WALLS. Everything else is new and late, modern and appetizing.

Every labor saving, food preserving and comfort inspiring device that I could think of or read about, is incorporated here—NOW.

And the whole cafeteria is as comfortable as your own home. I always make my guests FEEL as though they were in their own home, too.

My one and only thought is: "Serve 'em with choice food, charge as little as possible, and keep 'em coming back as regular patrons."

After you've seen my new cafeteria, dined here, and have paid your check, you'll say: "Harrison, you've got a lovely place here; good things to eat, and my check isn't a bit higher, either."

At any rate, TRY the new place; TRY ME. Bring a friend or two; help make a jolly crowd for the Opening Day. I'll KEEP the crowds coming after that. I want the pleasure of greeting you on Opening Day—and thank you now.

Leonard Issues Challenge to Rivals

New York, Nov. 19.—Benny Leonard, world lightweight champion, issued a challenge tonight to any and all rivals for his crown.

"I am ready to meet all comers in any part of the United States," declared Leonard, who recently intimated that because of what he characterized as a dearth of opposition in the east, he would accept a title match in Los Angeles.

AT THE THEATERS. May Robson is coming on Monday night, next, to stay through Saturday with Thanksgiving and Saturday matinees in one of her own plays, "Something Tells Me," and from all reports so far, the new offering is outshining even "Aunt Mary," which has always been her masterpiece.

"Something Tells Me" is a very serious play, from the heart standpoint, as "Jane Meredith" (Miss Robson) is bent on mixing up the youthful loves in a way that is most distracting.

Comical predicaments reign supreme for a while then the seriousness of a psychic phenomenon holds one spell-bound and the plot and climax is not reached until the final curtain.

"A woman is as old as she looks," says Edith Clasper, the charming little dancer, who heads her own company at the Orpheum theater this week in a series of terpsichorean novelties. "As long as a dancer can keep grace and strength in her legs she is still young," continues Miss Clasper. "If her knees weaken in the difficult steps, or the muscles of the calf bulge out of proportion then she is finished even though she may be only in her twenties."

There is a wealth of burlesque written into the lines of "Take a Look," the novel attraction at the Gaiety theater twice daily this week. Clarence Marks, who wrote the book, was given full range for his fancy and has chosen to go outside the every day run of comedy for the setting for his endeavor. Cy Plunkett, long a favorite in vaudeville, is featured as the principal comedian. He has made the part he essays stand out as one of the notable roles of the year in Columbia Burlesque.
