

Yale Bulldog Wallops Through Sea of Football to Defeat Crimson, Score, 19 to 6

Old Eli Turns Trick Before 80,000 Persons

Erwin Gehrke Stars for Harvard, Kicking Two Field Goals for Crimson's Only Points.

By DAMON RUNYON.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 22.—Slush-slush-slush.

That was the rain seeping into the very souls of 80,000 men and women collected in Yale's Bowl this afternoon. Slush-slush!

That was Yale's football team trudging back and forth along a watery field across Harvard's goal line. Everybody got all wet and Harvard the wetter of all.

The final score was Yale, 19; Harvard, 6, which is about the way it figured. All afternoon the rain came down in intermittent torrents.

The field was awash. The 80,000 spectators sitting in the roofless bowl were drenched. For over three hours they sat there soaking in the water while little Bunnell, the 150-pound Yale quarter, lashed his men along on their watery march.

Every man was mud from head to foot. The Yale students, in yellow slickers, lingered long enough to do a snake dance, expressive of their joy over Yale's first defeat of Harvard in that Yale bowl since 1916.

Erwin Gehrke of Harvard stepped off with two field goals early in the game, a proceeding which fairly startled the Yale folks. After that Harvard seemed to settle back, as much as to say, "Well, we've got ours, now you match them."

Nobody gave a whoop about their personal appearance. They were too wet. They just sat still and sopped up moisture. Once in awhile a play would bring a cheer out of the soaked mob. As for instance, when Miller fumbled soon after play started and Luman recovered. That started Yale on a brief drive that ended with Allen missing a goal from placement.

The 20-yard line. It started raining for a moment, then it started again, as Bench fumbled Gehrke's punt. Miller somehow skidded over the muddy field in time to recover the ball.

Gehrke's second kick was as true as the first and maybe truer. The Harvard rooters shook their heads from their shoulders and whooped. The Yale folks could not understand it. Everybody was asking where Gehrke had been all winter. The Yale players went into one of Princeton's celebrated huddles and talked it over. Out of this came a substitution of Kline for Allen.

A forward pass in the second period from "Ducky" Pond to Henry Scott, followed by a 10-yard run by Pond, put the ball on Harvard's 10-yard line. "Ducky" naturally was at home in the going.

As the half ended thousands ran for the portals. The lands paraded on the soaked field. Youth is a wonderful thing. The Yale crowd showed a high disregard for pneumonia by standing with heads bare while the band played "Bright College Cheers."

The newspapermen were thankful the band did not play "The Star Spangled Banner."

Stafford signalled for a fair catch of a Yale punt and fumbled the ball. Luman recovered. A couple of line smashes put the ball on Harvard's 20-yard line and Pond made first down.

Kline kept up the driving. He jammed the ball through to Harvard's 12-yard line in three wallops. Gehrke just did halt his next rush on the four-yard line. Yale went into a huddle and called for the rain.

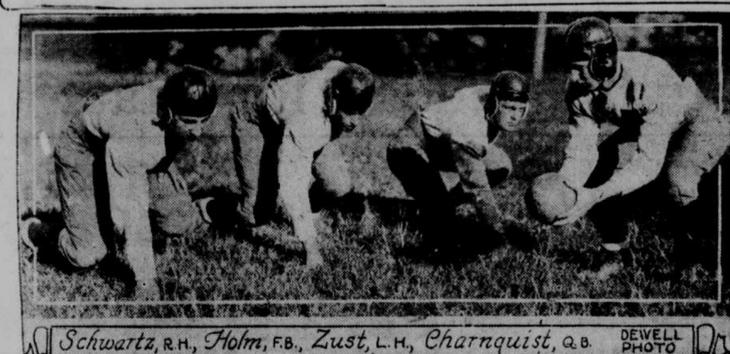

The state law restricting the next play the ball rested in the water on Harvard's one-yard line. Kline failed to get over on the smash at center but Pond made it on the next shove and Yale cut loose. Scott kicked the goal from placement after the touchdown. Yale needed that one.

Little Bunnell ran Gehrke's punt back 20 yards a moment later. Scott punted to Stafford, who signaled for a free catch. Luman, the Yale end, was coming up fast and hurried Stafford into a fumble.

Gil came splashing along, snapped up the ball and ran into Harvard's 20-yard line when he was caught. Pond hammered through for an additional gain and Kline was pushed over for the touchdown. Gehrke failed to kick goal. From Harvard's 25-yard line late in the game Pond and Kline carried the ball to the third touchdown by a succession of end runs and line smashes. Kline taking it over, Scott failed again in kicking goal.

FULTON, REDDY APPEAR IN COURT
Los Angeles, Nov. 21.—Fred Fulton, plaster-pugilist of Minneapolis, Minn., whose taping of the count in 35 seconds last Monday night when he met Tony Fuentes, Mexican heavy weight, resulted in a storm of "fake" accusations, today appeared in court with his manager, Jack Reddy, when both faces of violating the state law against prize fighting. The trial of the pair was set for November 26, the same date that Fuentes and his manager, Fred Winsor, will be tried on similar charges.

FORMER MEMBER OF UNCLE SAM'S AMATEUR BOXING TEAM DEFEATS DILLON—LATZO BEATS MORRIE

"Pete" Latzo won decision over Morrie Schaffer, 10 rounds.
Rube LeRoy won on technical knock-out over Joe McCabe, third round.
Rust Coffman won decision over Dick Dillon, six rounds.
Tommy Grogan won decision over Leo Krupski, four rounds.
Frankie Larabee and Jack Higgins fought four rounds to draw.

By "WAG."
WO amateur boxers big good by to the amateur ranks last night when Royal Coffman, welterweight, and Leo Krupski, light weight, opened their professional careers at the Auditorium during the Legion's fight show.

Coffman, many will remember, is the lad who trimmed everything around these parts in the lightweight ranks and then went to Boston where he won a place in the United States amateur boxing team that went to the Olympic games in Paris.

Last night Coffman met and defeated Dick Dillon of Kansas City in a six-round bout. For his first professional ring encounter, Royal showed up well. He has many things to learn about the many art of defense, but his showing against Dillon was enough to convince his followers that he has the "stuff" that makes good fighters.

Coffman handled Dillon a good beating. The latter showed very poor sportsmanship in many spots, but surprised the fight rattle crowd by his gameness.

Late in the bout Dillon started holding Coffman so the latter could not get in his left hooks.

Leo Krupski, W. of W., baseball player, made his professional bow in a bout with Tommy Grogan, the prize of the McCord-Bundy company. Krupski lost the four-round decision. In the first round Leo caught Grogan on the jaw with a wild swing and the latter took a short count. From then on until the finish Grogan gave Krupski a very good boxing lesson.

In the main event Pete Latzo of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., decisively beat Morrie Schaffer in 10 rounds. Referee Dave Berry, who, by the way, refereed in very good style, didn't mind matters any in awarding the victory to Latzo, who won every round except the second, third and ninth. The ninth went to Schaffer. While the second and third were even.

In the first round Latzo caught Schaffer on the jaw with a right, Morrie went tumbling down to the canvas, but was up in about 10 seconds. Schaffer managed to break even with his opponent in the second and third, but in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth Pete gave Morrie an awful beating about the head.

The ninth was Schaffer's best round. After taking a sock on the side of the head, Schaffer caught Latzo on the jaw. The easterner fell to the floor, but was up in a jiffy. He took things easy for a minute and then rallied and hit Schaffer six times without a return. At the bell Schaffer was bleeding at the mouth and nose.

Schaffer had a mighty good chance of knocking Latzo out in the ninth, but the superior ring knowledge of a more clever fighter showed to good advantage. Had Schaffer followed up Latzo after knocking the latter down instead of center, who graduated, but Hoden has lots of possibilities with his reach, speed and accuracy in slipping the pellet into the hoops.

The Parker offensive crew should also be fast, with Bernard, Smith and Wakefield fast rounding into shape. Smith's "dead eye" broke up several games last season and he should go better this year.

There are few better guards than "Dode" Reeves, who will captain the Packers this season on the court as well as on the floor. For the last two years he has been rated one of the best stationary guards in the city.

Many fast men from the last year's scrubs are out, however, and many are showing a fast brand of basket ball that may push some of the regulars from their positions.

Six Regulars Will Start Season on Coach Patton's Basket Ball Team

Coach Patton will have six regulars to start off the season with Captain "Dode" Reeves, guard; Hoden, center; Kalstrom, guard; Bernard, forward; Smith, forward; and Wakefield, forward. None in early practice sessions, loom up as possible candidates for the position of "Snooky" Wedberg, stellar

Illinois Trims Ohio State, 7-0, Minus Grange

"Fightin' Illini" Superior in Almost Every Department of Game.

By Associated Press.
Champaign, Ill., Nov. 22.—With the famed "Red" Grange sitting on the side lines nursing his damaged shoulder, Illinois convinced its admirers that it was not entirely a one-man team today by vanquishing Ohio State, 7 to 0, in the final game of the western conference championship season.

The game, lacking the dash and fire of Illinois' early season triumphs, when Grange sprinted up and down the chalk lines for sensational runs, was played in the Illinois Memorial stadium before about 30,000 spectators.

The "fightin' Illini" shaking off the despondency resulting from the Minnesota upset a week ago, crashed over with a touchdown in the first period, with Ray Gullivan, a sophomore quarterback, carrying the ball. He played a stellar game, sharing honors with McWilliam Green, trying his best to fill the gap caused by Grange's injuries, was not Grange, but he ably assisted in carrying the Illinois attack along with Gullivan and Britton.

The Illinois line, weakened at Minnesota, braced and forced the Buckeyes to resort to passes frequently. Illinois was not seriously threatened any time, while the Ohioans were battling courageously in their own territory most of the game.

Illinois was superior in almost every department of the game, gaining 281 yards in 65 plays, and completing three of six passes for a total of 52 yards.

Ohio attempted 12 passes, completing three for 59 yards.

The lineup:
Illinois (7): ... Ohio State (6): ...

Score by periods:
Illinois 7, Ohio State 0.

Touchdowns: Gullivan, 1 point after touchdown. Britton, Referee, Hackett, West Point, Umare, Knight, Dart, Gullivan, Head, Gullivan, Washington and Jefferson, Field Judge, Red, Michigan. Time of period: Fifteen minutes each.

Hawkeyes End Conference Season Tied for Second Place—Beat Michigan

By Associated Press.
ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 22.—Michigan, battling for a place among western conference football leaders, stumbled and fell today over a stone wall of Hawkeyes, losing to Iowa, 2 to 0. Falling to crumble the obstruction with battering assaults, except on occasions, Michigan resorted to the air with equally futile results.

It was not Michigan's weather, which needs must be dry if the baffling forward passes of Ben Friedman, half back, are to prove effective, as they did in the Wisconsin and Ohio games. Today's game was played on ground soaked by a Friday drizzle—not a soggy field, but one tending to keep the football smooth and hard to grasp for passing.

Iowa drove down to the Michigan goal line in the first period, seizing the only opportunity for a touchdown that was offered by either side. Scantlebury, almost alone, made the score, launching his drive from the Wolverine 30-yard line, where Rockwell of Michigan, had all the worst of it, had placed the ball.

Scantlebury began the drive with a five-yard plunge through right tackle and then plowed through the same hole for six more. Parkin then tried the Michigan line. On the next play Scantlebury hit center for the first down on Michigan's four-yard line

Volz, Usher, Omahans, Are Among Those Who Will Defeat Nebraska's Basket Ball Hopes.

INCOLN, Neb., Nov. 22.—There are 17 games on Nebraska's basketball book with the opening game at M. A. N. hattan against the Kansas Aggies, January 2. The first home game, as the schedule now stands will be with Drake here January 17. There are seven letter men back, four of whom were regulars last season.

Two of the four regulars back are Omaha boys. One is Captain Mathias Volz and the other is Bill Usher, last season's captain. Orr Goodson, Lincoln, will be back at center and Milo Tipton, an Iowa youth who has become one of the best guards in the conference, will be back for his old position. Three other letter men and a big bunch of recruits from among last year's freshmen have been working out under the direction of Coach W. G. Kline for some time.

Bluejays Win Third Place in Cross-Country

Brookings, S. D., Nov. 22.—Chase of South Dakota State, set a new state record in the third annual cross-country run of the North Central Intercollegiate conference here today when he covered the three miles in 16 minutes, 37.2 seconds.

Des Moines won first place with a total of seven points. Simpson and Baker of that school finished third and fourth respectively in the race and South Dakota State was second with six points, due to Chase's fine run.

Gritty of Creighton followed Chase across the line and with the assistance of Morrissey, who came in eighth, placed Creighton in third place. Morningside took fourth place, Hunter and Ingram finishing sixth and ninth.

ISLANDERS TRIM MIDLAND ELEVEN

Grand Island, Neb., Nov. 21.—The Grand Island college Zebras eliminated Midland from the championship race in the Nebraska intercollegiate conference here today, winning, 9 to 0. Roy Reider, quarterback, was again the outstanding star, scoring all of Grand Island's points.

The Zebras led in the first period and a 25-yard drop kick in the fourth, Bruening featured for Midland. The Zebra goal line has not been crossed this year. The lineup:

MIDLAND: ... GRAND ISLAND: ...

Substitutions: Midland: E. Lunche for Haber, Graham, Schuler, Franco for Carmody, Davis for Bruening. Grand Island: ...

University of Colorado Wins Rocky Mountain Title

Boulder, Colo., Nov. 22.—The University of Colorado smothered Colorado Agricultural college here today, 16 to 0, and won its second successive Rocky mountain conference football championship. The Aggies held Colorado to a touchdown and two drop-kicks in the first half, but their defense crumbled in the final period and Colorado backs gained at will.

Wilber, Neb.—Substituting freely throughout the game, the Wilber eleven pined 45 markers to Wilmore's nose.

Shenandoah, Ia.—Shenandoah spoiled Creighton's hope of winning the southwest Iowa football title by winning a 9-0 victory from the hitherto undefeated eleven. Creighton led up to the last minute of play by Chicago of the Shenandoah team converted apparent defeat into victory with a beautiful 60-yard run through the entire Creighton team for the winning touchdown.

Minion, Neb.—Anasible was unable to solve the athletic puzzle of the Minion eleven and the local team hung up another victory by a 21-0 margin.

Harvard, Neb.—Edwards second stringers plowed through the Harvard reserve for a 11-0 win.
