Announcement that the New Haven railway had completed plans for refunding its $23,000,000 loan, matursignificant developments of the week Retirement of these bonds was one of the most serious financial problem which the road has faced in recent years and assurances that the operation would be successful brought an advance in many of the New Haven year. Some disappointment over details of the operation later caused prices to fall back slightly. The fact that the New Haven was able to comsupport for its plan aided the bonds of the St. Paul railway, which also is confronted with a large refunding program in 1925.

Liberty bonds last week continued the downward trend which has been under way since the election. Prospect of eventual tax reductions had een a factor in the shifting of funds to more speculative and higher yielding securities. The premiums which the bonds have attained in the last six months, however, will make it necessary for Great Britain for the first time to pay its $90,000,000 semi-annual debt installment to the United Ethel Clayton Is States treasury in cash. Previously part payment had been made in Liberty bonds acquired at concessions.

The new French financing brought the total of new bond offerings for the total of new bond offerings to the total of new bond offerings to the week to more than $137,000,000. Appears in Melodramatic "Sunsweet Girls" Decidedly largest volume since the middle of October, when the German loan was floated. New issues in the preceding week aggregated slightly more than $50,000,000.
