The subject of gifts in this store always brings to one's mind our China Department, where there are eighty-five open stock patterns in dinner service, imported from France, England, Bavaria, Germany, and Japan. The Bird of Paradise pattern and the Arcadia pattern, symbolical of all there is in love and happiness, are the outstanding features of the dinner service displays of the famous house of Theodore Haviland, France.

Haviland combines French taste and American hospitality in a dinner set of tinted blue and ivory china.

Just about as lovely as the china used in the home of her dear queen, are the Bone china dinner sets England sends us for this display.

There is no need for extravagance—even though this is the finest and most valuable china the world knows. One or two pieces will form the nucleus to which such new pieces added later bring yet deeper pride of possession.

The gift possibilities of our Etewares counter! If you would like your gift to be displayed with grace, why not give crystal ware of diamond purity, etched in beautiful and artistic patterns? With these, as with the china, you may give a "start" of goblets, which becomes a perennial satisfaction as sherbets, parfaits, wines and tumblers are added. You may know of sets already started, to which you may add a new number.
