

Sensational Victory of Munn Over Lewis May Mark Breaking Up of 'Mat Trust'

Unsatisfactory Performance of 'Cannonball' Martin May Cause Suspension

Select Group Has Held Crown in Last Few Years

Performance of Former Husker Football Star Startles Wrestling World Everywhere.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The sensational victory of Wayne (Big) Munn, former Nebraska football star, over Ed (Strangler) Lewis at Kansas City last night in a dramatic struggle for the world's wrestling championship may mark the final breaking up of the so-called "wrestling trust," which has ruled the mat game since its postwar revival.

Munn, a 260-pound giant, has been familiar to football fans as a former star on the University of Nebraska eleven, but outside of the midwest his wrestling activities were unknown. His match with Lewis was unheralded, in fact, and the way in which this youthful novice toyed with the veteran "strangler," handling him so roughly that he was sent to a hospital after the match, startled wrestling circles everywhere today.

The "trust," which Lewis has dominated for the last few years, also included Joe Stecher, Earl Caddock and Stanislaus Zbyszko, all of whom at various times have held the world's catch-as-catch-can crown. They have stood over most rivals in the mat sport since the retirement of Frank Gotch as title holder in 1911. Wladek Zbyszko also has often been included in this list, and now is recognized as world champion at the Graco-Roman style.

Caddock, "the man of a thousand holds," and Stecher have retired from active competition, but Lewis has kept up a busy schedule. Stanislaus Zbyszko, Polish grappler, who was a star in the days of Gotch and Hackenschmidt, the famous "Russian lion," recently returned to this country to attempt a comeback.

Stecher won the title in a tournament here in 1919, in which Caddock, Lewis and Wladek Zbyszko were the other entrants. He lost it in December, 1920, however, to Lewis, who has reigned ever since except for a 10 months' interval, during which Stanislaus Zbyszko was at the top. Zbyszko dethroned Lewis on May 16, 1921, but lost to the "strangler" in a return title match on March 3, 1922. Since then most of Lewis' matches have been of the barnstorming type, where little-known opponents have been comparatively easy victims for his famous headlock, until Munn's exhibition of strength proved the champion's undoing.

JIMMY DEFOREST BARRED BY A. A. U.

New York, Jan. 8.—Jimmy Deforest, veteran trainer of boxers tonight was barred from "seconding or handling any competitor at the ringside and from taking any part whatever in boxing sanctioned by the Amateur Athletic union."

The suspension of Dick Kenny, Joe Canamare and Mike McNally, boxers withdrawn from the New York state amateur tournament by Deforest last night, when another of his stable, Jimmy Mendocosa, was disqualified, was also announced.

Deforest's banishment was announced through Secretary Jacob W. Stumpf of the Metropolitan association of the A. A. U., which is conducting the tournament.

Officials explained that Deforest appeared yesterday with his quartet of amateurs after the entrants in the 118-pound class, in which Mendocosa had expected to compete had been weighed in and matched. According to the rules Mendocosa was barred from the tournament and the trainer immediately withdrew his entire string, including two amateur champions, Canamare and Kenny.

Deforest is the man under whom Luis Angel Firpo, South American heavyweight has stated that he will train for future bouts in America.

PERU NORMAL TRIMS HASKELL

Peru, Neb., Jan. 8.—Peru Normal proved too good in its game against the Haskell Indians here last night with the result that the Normalites came out on the long end of a 23 to 16 score.

The outstanding feature of the game was the guarding of Gilkeson and Parton. They also starred in the scoring end, Parton accounting for six of his team's points while Gilkeson registered three baskets and a free throw.

Peru led at the half, 14 to 8.

Champ May Be Forced to Cancel Bouts on Coast

Officials Declare Titleholder Failed to Try in Mix With Angie Pisano in Brooklyn Wednesday.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Eddie (Cannonball) Martin, recently crowned world's bantamweight champion, faces possible suspension by the New York State Athletic commission as a result of his unsatisfactory match with Angie Pisano in Brooklyn Wednesday night.

The referee's report of the match, received by the commission today, declared the match halted in the third round because the men went not trying, and officially declared it "no contest."

The purses of the two boxers have been held up and Martin's status remains in doubt until the boxing authorities meet Tuesday to pass upon his case.

In the event he draws a suspension at the hands of the commission, Martin's journey to California, where it is reported to have signed to participate in at least two title matches, likely will be postponed owing to a working agreement understood to exist between the new California boxing commission and the New York state commissioners whereby rulings made by either commission will be recognized by the other.

Dan Skilling, secretary of the commission, refused today to make public the referee's official report of the fight other than to say it was officially declared "no contest."

While it is known the members of the boxing commission are invariably strongly opposed to the practice of "stalling" in matches and almost invariably hand out long suspensions to boxers involved in such proceedings, it was felt in boxing circles that Martin may escape with a reprimand or mild discipline in view of his good record in the past.

TOMMY GIBBONS KAYOES BURKE

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 8.—Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul light-heavyweight, defeated Jack Burke of Pittsburgh in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round no-decision fight here tonight.

The referee stopped the fight in the sixth round, awarding Gibbons a technical knockout.

Gibbons won in every round, driving blows with left and right to face and body that soon wore down the Pittsburgh boxer. So relentless was Gibbons' attack that Burke appeared on the verge of being knocked out in the second round and from then on it appeared only a question of how long he could withstand the punishment he was receiving.

With Burke hopelessly beaten, unable to maintain a defense, the referee stopped the fight in the middle of the sixth round.

Burke weighed 178 1/2 pounds and Gibbons, 175.

You never tasted such rich mellowness as Wellman's method puts in this tobacco

An almost forgotten old tobacco secret, "Wellman's Method," dating from about 1870 and now ours exclusively, is responsible for the delightful taste of Granger Rough Cut—its mildness and its appetizing fragrance. And notice also the coarser "Rough Cut"—slower-burning, and therefore cooler. Here truly is a pipe tobacco that IS pipe tobacco!
