

Dahlman Enters Lists for O. A. C. Mayor Agrees to "Hit Pave ment" for Campaign.

Mayor Dahlman with City Commissioners Henry Dunn and Joe Koutsky have joined with the force of workers in saving the Omaha Athletic club from going into the hands of a receiver, according to an announcement made by Chairman Ballard Dunn last night.

Mayor Dahlman decided yesterday to "throw his hat into the ring" and head the "High-flyin' Twenty-four," who will take up the job Saturday noon of making a success of the Athletic club campaign.

Twenty-four of the veteran campaigners have pledged to back Mayor Jim in the campaign to obtain the difference between the amount raised—$70,000—and the amount needed—$175,000.

"Omaha can't afford to permit the Athletic club to close," said Mayor Dahlman. "Joe Koutsky, Henry Dunn and myself are willing to start 'pounding the pavement' with the rest of the workers in making the campaign a success. This is a crisis for our community, and I am going to appeal to all my friends to join in the movement."

Mayor Dahlman will preside at the meeting of the special workers which will be held at noon today at the Athletic club.

President Ray Wilcox of the club said last night that there are many prospects yet to be heard from. "It's going to take a large amount of work and about another week, but we are going to keep the doors of the club from being closed."

Clerks worked until the wee hours of the morning arranging prospect cards for the new detail of Dahlman workers.

LOUISE SALERNO STILL IN HIDING

Although satisfied that his wife, Louise Salerno, who disappeared from her home last Sunday with her daughter, Sarah, is somewhere in Omaha, Tony Salerno, her husband, was still in the dark as to her exact whereabouts today.

He made a personal check of all Omaha hospitals, following a report that Mrs. Salerno was in an Omaha hospital under an assumed name, but was unable to find any trace of her.

To add to his distress, he received word this morning that his cousin, Mrs. Pauline Oddo, 18, who married and left Omaha about a year ago, died yesterday at her home in Rockport, Ill. The body will be brought to Omaha for burial.

Forecast Says March Temperature May Drop Down to 10 Above Zero to Come in Like Lion

March of 1925 is to "come in like a lion" from all indications at the local weather bureau. The forecast today is mostly cloudy and colder tonight and Sunday with probably snow tonight. The temperature may drop to 10 degrees above zero by Sunday, said M. V. Robins, meteorologist.

The thermometer Saturday morning registered 25 degrees above zero as compared to nine degrees above on Friday morning. Snow was reported Saturday morning at Cheyenne and in eastern South Dakota.

In March, 1924, the temperature was three degrees below normal for the month and 10 1/2 inches of snow recorded. Although March of 1923 had mild weather the first part of the month, there were 28 8-10 inches of snow recorded for the month. Temperatures in March, 1923, were 4 3-10 degrees below normal.

DUNN MAY SHIFT TRAFFIC CONTROL

If the city council presumes to tamper with present parking and traffic ordinances, then Police Commissioner Henry W. Dunn will divest himself of responsibility for traffic control, and place it on the shoulders of the city council.

This was his ultimatum Saturday following a discussion by members of the council of proposed changes in traffic regulations.

The changes contemplated include removal of the ban on parking in alleys, permitting cars to park within five feet of fire plugs, reduction of the number of taxi stands, and strict enforcement of the 30-minute parking law.

MOTORISTS JAM LICENSE OFFICE

A long queue of procrastinators stood in the county treasurer's office and lobby of the courthouse Saturday morning pondering upon the wisdom of the proverb "Never put off till tomorrow what you can do today."

This was the last day on which 1924 automobile licenses are "good" and arrests have been threatened for motorists found driving without new licenses tomorrow and thereafter.

Home Sewing Week - Thompson-Belden

A week in which all things for spring sewing are featured—a week in which store efforts are especially directed to sections of fabrics and their essentials for spring sewing.

Silk and woolen goods sections present their most complete showing; the newer cotton fabrics are shown. It is with a knowledge of the mode for summer that we offer prints, large and small; stripes, bright shades and pastels; bordered silks of many patterns; chiffons, georgettes, crepe de chins and tub silks. With kasha king of woolsens and all kasha-like fabrics in great favor, spring woolsens are unusually important.

Although we know that for style and value our fabrics are unexcelled, we urge our patrons to shop carefully, to compare prices and quality with those of other stores.

With such a short time until spring, one really must begin planning and sewing now, for a becoming new frock that one has made herself will turn some bright spring morning into a perfect day.

Smith College Week

The Fabric One Buys

is particularly important this season. Since the silhouette remains practically unchanged, most of the interest is centered on the fabric.

Bordered Silks Pattern 9.75

The straightline frock with jabot or side frill is smartest of this new silk which is so patterned as to indicate yoke, waistline and tunic line. Seven patterns, including black with white, navy with tan, orange with tan, and navy with red brown. The 1 1/2-yard dress pattern of this 54-inch material is 9.75.

Printed Crepe yard 2.50

Prints being so greatly favored, we have 18 different pieces at this very reasonable price. They are mostly the smaller patterns, attractive yet conservative in design, and representing practically all colors. 36 inches wide.

Smart Kasharine yard 4.95

Cashmere fabrics are tremendously important. Kasharine is a soft all-wool quality, 54 inches wide, in the favored natural, and in the new pastels. The smartest ensembles are of kasha or kasha with printed silk.

Rayon Alpaca yard 1.00

A new wash fabric is this fiber silk weave in stripes and plaids. It is very much prettier than the silk gingham of other years, for it has a highly lustrous finish, the patterns are very new, and the fabric is one that washes beautifully.

Year-Round Zephyr yard 50c

Quaint English garden prints make this fine gingham particularly desirable for little girls' pantie dresses, but it is so lovely that women make their home frocks from it too. Many shades, some of them unusual in gingham, all of which wash without fading the least little bit.

Plaided Wool Crepe yard 4.50

Designed by an artist were these wonderful wool crepes, for the plaids are placed as only one who knew might direct. Quite the smartest of spring ensembles might be designed with coat, lined or unlined, of this fabric and a silk frock of the green, the lavender, the blue, or even the red of the fine lined plaid.

Lightweight Flannel yard 4.95

The finest and softest of flannel cloths and of very light weight, for it is intended for spring and summer wearing. The patterns are wide plaids of exquisite pastel colorings. There are seven different pieces, each 54 inches wide.

Striped Flannels 2.50 and 4.95

Since both stripes and flannel are smart, striped flannel is doubly so. The patterns are as many and varied as are the colors. The 27-inch width is 2.50 a yard; the 54-inch width, 4.95.

Crepe de Chine yard 2.95

Occasionally, even in this season of plaids, stripes and prints, one is permitted to wear a frock of plain shade. Twenty-five different shades of this crepe in a firm, even weave of good weight. Really, an excellent value.

Printed Triple Voile yard 3.95

From Mallinson come these gorgeous flower-patterned triple voiles in patterns for lovely afternoon dresses and dance frocks. One cannot describe the tiny dragon fly or the red-pink roses on their dark ground—at least not as Mallinson has woven them.

The two-piece sports frock in natural cashmere is just about "it." Although it comes in other colors, the natural shade is best.

With the general shortening of skirts, the waistline puts in an appearance but seldom:

In contradictory fashion, two different colors of one fabric are much in use—with harmony of material on the one hand and sharp contrast in the shades used on the other.

The jumper frock may take a pleated skirt, a circular front or only an inverted kick pleat in the center for fullness. Nothing must mar the straight line.

The jumper frock, the kick pleat, the epaulet shoulder, the peasant sleeve, the two-piece frock, real or simulated—these newer features of the spring mode may be worn by the woman who sews from patterns. McCall patterns, 20c to 45c; Pictorial Review, 15c to 45c; Modele Parisien, 1.00; Vogue, 40c and 65c. Vogue patterns are sold in Omaha exclusively at Thompson-Belden.

Imported Linens Special 89c

More than 30 shades of color-fast pure Irish dress linens. The quality is the very finest, known as non-crushable, the shades are the newer pastels and vivid tones. 36 inches wide, at a most unusual price.

Striped Broadcloth 75c and 85c

English broadcloth, one of the most sought-after fabrics. Not only is the material desirable, but the patterns are stripes. The combination is one unsurpassed.

Many Buttons

trim some of the smartest dresses. Oftimes the very small ones outline important style lines of an otherwise plain dress.

We've really an enormous stock of buttons, large and small, in every color and in almost every imaginable combination.

Two-tone ball buttons, dozen, at 50¢ and 75¢

Small, flat trimming buttons, six shades, dozen, 20¢ and 22¢

Two-tone wooden buttons, three sizes, at 85¢, 1.75, 3.85

Filigree metal buttons, gold and silver, dozen, 75¢ to 90¢

Flat cut steel buttons, dozen, at 2.75 to 5.00

Pearl trimming slides, ea., 10¢ to 30¢

Filet Lace, yard 9c

Narrow filet edges of very fine quality. One needs many yards for lingerie, and for children's things.

Imitation Val Laces, yard 5c

And 12 yards for 55c. This is a very excellent quality of this inexpensive lace.
