

Commission in Tynan Case Bars Sweet Attorney

Hearing of Former Colorado Prison Warden Nearly Disrupted by Effort to 'Compel Respect.'

By Associated Press. Colorado Springs, Colo., March 5.—The trial of Thomas J. Tynan, warden of the Colorado penitentiary, on charges of prison mismanagement, brought by former Governor Sweet before the state civil service commission, was nearly disrupted late today when Ernest Morris of Sweet's legal staff, was barred from further participation in the inquiry by order of the commission.

The commission's action came after Morris had objected to a ruling made by the commission, and declared that his client was being denied the most important right of a litigant—that of cross-examination. Assistant Attorney General Naugle then declared that unless Morris was reprimanded he would withdraw from his position as legal advisor to the commission.

Recess Taken. The commission then recessed to consider its power to "compel respect." On its return, Naugle advised as follows: "The conduct of Mr. Morris toward the commission during the entire hearing has been highly reprehensible, both as a lawyer and a gentleman. He is not fair to the commission. His objections have been made to the press, rather than to the commission, for the purpose of humiliating the commission in the eyes of the public. You are advised that he should be barred from further participation in the case."

Morris Ousted. "It is so ordered," President Roberts of the commission, said. An attempt by Fred S. Caldwell, Morris' co-counsel, to argue the ruling, was promptly squelched. Morris' objection as counsel climaxed a verbal battle that has been in progress between Sweet's counsel and the commission since the inception of the hearing more than a month ago. Twice he had been threatened with ejection from the case, as was Caldwell, who at one time was barred by the commission, but later reinstated.

Bluffs Society Girl Swallows Gum, Chokes From Frigate; First Aid Used

Doris E. Ross, 19, popular member of Council Bluffs' younger set, was riding on West Broadway at Twenty-ninth street with Harry Ryder, Elder Court apartments, Wednesday afternoon, when they avoided collision with another car by a narrow margin. Miss Ross screamed and—swallowed her gum. It wasn't as amusing as it sounds in this case, for the gum lodged in the larynx and the young woman choked and became nearly unconscious. Ryder stopped and obtained assistance. She was carried into the office of the Platner Lumber company. Police were notified and physicians summoned. Ryder and I. W. Cohoe, 2129 West Broadway, sales manager for the Platner company, gave first aid and by beating the girl on the back and other means dislodged the gum, and the young woman was revived when the police ambulance arrived. She was able to go in young Ryder's car to her home, 300 Fifth avenue. She is the daughter of D. L. Ross, of the law firm of Tinley, Mitchell, Ross & Mitchell.

Last Minute Bills Keep Solons Busy

Senate Committee to Consider Big Appropriation Measure; Budget Changes Planned.

Lincoln, Neb., March 5.—With more than 15 bills up for passage in the senate, and 100 or more measures on general file in the lower house, the legislature put in a busy session today. Immediately after convening the house resolved itself into a committee of the whole to consider the lengthy general file list. The senate judiciary committee today reported out for general file Senate File 225, by Senator J. C. McGowan of Norfolk, placing a fee of $25 a month on merchants who give coupons with premiums in connection with their business. A similar bill to 225 was killed by the house, but the committee declared that, inasmuch as the bill would affect every merchant in Nebraska, it should be taken out on the floor of the legislature for discussion. Three bills were passed by the house this morning before it went into committee of the whole. They were: The Wood bill, requiring administrators of estates to be residents of Nebraska; the Wilson bill, requiring seven months of school in all districts and forbidding state aid to school districts of less than nine sections, and a bill allowing incorporation of agricultural associations or societies.

The vote on the Wilson bill was 58 to 1, Austin voting no. This bill appropriates $20,000 for state aid and limits the school levy in districts receiving state aid to 8 mills. The house miscellaneous committee killed the Harrington bill for licensing and regulation of real estate brokers and salesmen.

PRICES OF HOGS KEEP ADVANCING

Prices of hogs continued to advance today, showing rises of 25 to 35 cents over Wednesday. Packers held back somewhat from buying. Receipts were estimated at 15,000 here and 25,000 in Chicago. Top price in Omaha was $13.35 and in Chicago $13.60. Average price of hogs in Omaha ran from $12.90 to $13.20. The market is the highest it has been in the last 21 years except for the war period from 1918 to 1920 when prices reached over $17.

Purebred Stock Replaces Texas Range Steers on Western Nebraska Plains

Chadron, March 5.—The long-horned Texas range steer, which in early history roamed the plains of western Nebraska, and which is always associated with the cow-pony and the cowboy, is giving up its haunts to the registered Hereford stock, feeding on the pasture lands. More and more the cattle ranchmen of this section of the country are realizing the superiority and the profits in raising this breed of stock. Some of the ranchmen of Daves county who are specializing in purebred animals are C. A. Potts, Gordon Braddock ranch, Chadron; Scott Sides, Whitney, and John H. Meckem, Crawford. Scores of other ranchmen are gradually taking to purebred Herefords. A recent sale of registered Herefords, sponsored by the Crawford Cattle Breeders' association, is an indication of the spread and popularity of purebred cattle in the middle west. At this sale 71 registered animals were sold, which ranged in price from $75 to $230 each. The animals sold at this sale were distributed throughout Wyoming, Nebraska and South Dakota. Nineteen of them were of the Stanway strain, 16 of the Mischief strain, eight of the Modest strain and five of the Linton Girl breed. Other standard breeds at the sale were Donovan, G'Boy, Alfred, Nell, Marvel, Gip, Elector and Midget Lady. To raise the standard of the strain of purebred stock on the James Forbes ranch, near Crawford, Mr. Forbes, recently purchased a bull sired by the Prince Domino bull. This bull is one of the Chicago ranch concern located near Denver. A half interest in Prince Domino recently sold for $55,000. Perhaps the largest ranch which is breeding purebred Herefords in western Nebraska is that owned and operated by Mrs. Elizabeth Braddock near Chadron. The Braddock ranch was one of the first ranches in this end of the state to take up the raising of purebred animals.

M'MULLEN ASKED TO FIND FARM AID

Lincoln, Neb., March 5.—A resolution requesting Governor McMullen to make a diligent search for any so-called farm relief legislation that may be found at Washington and report his findings to this body upon his return to the state, was introduced in the upper branch of the legislature today by Senator Robertson of Jay. The resolution continued in part: "Whereas, the governor and standing army of this state are now in Washington at the expense of the taxpayers, leaving the members of the legislature and the citizens of this state defenseless and unprotected, now, therefore, be it Resolved, That we wire a request to our governor to make a diligent search for any so-called farm relief legislation that may be found at Washington and report his findings to this body upon his return to the state."

Decision Near on New Air Officer

List of Possible Successors to General Mitchell Narrowed to Three.

Washington, March 5.—The list of those from which Secretary Weeks will recommend to President Coolidge a successor to Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, assistant chief of the army air service and storm center of the aircraft controversy, has been reduced to three officers, and a final decision is probable late today. None of the men now under consideration ranks below the grade of lieutenant colonel. Secretary Weeks conferred today with Major General Hines, chief of the staff of the army, and Major General Patrick, chief of the army air service, but after the conference it was said no choice would be made until later in the day.
