An Old Bible.
Salmon Yes, Children No.
He Jolts the Senate.
To Feed the World.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE.

About a hundred years ago, in a Vermont log cabin, a young mother read to her children old Bible stories, about the whale that swallowed Jonah, wicked Pontius Pilate who washed his hands, Elijah and his chariot of fire, and the fig tree that withered under divine rebuke.

That mother was poor and all her people were poor, and ours was a young and poor nation then, with fewer people, all told, than live now in the city of New York.

The old Bible from that log cabin, carefully wrapped up, was taken to the broad platform before the capitol in Washington last Wednesday. With his hand on that Bible, Calvin Coolidge swore to do his duty as president of the United States. He is the grandson of the New England woman that owned the Bible, 100 years ago.

This is the land of opportunity and growth. What will it be in years to come, if the 112,000,000 now here, work as hard, and hopefully as men and women did in the days of Calvin Coolidge's grandmother?

The supreme court decides that the game and fish act is constitutional. The national government therefore has power, where game and fish are concerned, to protect the interests of the people.

The Monterey Fish Products company must now discontinue turning into fertilizer fish fit for human food.

What about an act that would prevent exploiters of child labor turning young lives into dividends and grinding up children into profits? Isn't that worse than grinding good salmon into fertilizer?

The supreme court was not able to uphold the constitutionality of an act to protect children, although certain so-called "radical" justices on that august bench did uphold it.

However, our highest court does find a way to protect fish and game. That's something. Protection for children may come later.

Vice President Dawes did not disappoint his friends, on his inaugural day. He "jolted the senate."

He will not be "king log" or let senatorial frogs perch and croak on his back. Attacking the senate rules, more sacred than the laws of the Medes and Persians, he denounces the "one-man filibuster."

This is gratifying to all that admire 100 per cent red-blooded "he-men."

But it would be too bad to do away entirely with the filibustering. The filibusters include many that have been useful to the world. William Tell was one, Patrick Henry another, Mirabeau another, Horatius at the bridge another. Filibustering is only opposing with your own will and courage what you believe to be wrong. And besides, Borah, La Follette and others are also "he-men." They may not let General Dawes run the senate.

In Texas, between Quana and Stamford, the world's greatest potato beds have been discovered. It is a better grade of potato than the German product. The same extinct monster, found in the beds, little dreamed how providence was to make them useful.

With intensive cultivation Texas could feed the entire population of the earth, now that greatest of states finds the fertilizer for that cultivation.

Long Beach, in California, sets an example to other municipalities by establishing a flying base and landing field to be used by all fliers. This will undoubtedly be followed by the building of hangars at the water's edge for hydroplanes. That's setting an example that should be followed, since the national government is unable to solve the flying machine problem for itself.

Mrs. Sharlot M. Hall, poetess and Arizona lady, proud of her state's copper mines, went to the inauguration in a gown of copper mesh. Mrs. Susan Patton, artistic designer of Phoenix, Ariz., designed the dress. This could be carried farther, an orange skin dress, or fig leaf cloak from California or Florida, a sugar cane South Sea island costume from Louisiana, gold or silver cloth from Alaska. Local pride builds up this nation.

Ray Selby Arrested

After Smashing Bottle
Nebraska City, March 6.—Ray Selby was arrested by Sheriff Ryder on a charge of illegal possession and transportation of liquor and is now in the county jail. His car is held by the sheriff.

Selby entered a soft drink establishment and seeing that he was followed by the sheriff took a bottle from his pocket and threw it over a partition. The bottle was broken but the sheriff got enough of the contents to convince him it was booze. Selby was arrested several months ago on a liquor charge and when brought to trial in county court was freed by a jury.
