

Coach Drummond's Cagers Eliminate Hastings High From State Tourney

Maroons Defeat Outstate Five in 22-11 Contest

Othmer, Nelson Account for Eight Points Apiece; Smiley Stars for Adams County Lads.

INCOLN, March 12.—Coach Drummond's Omaha Tech cagers doubled the score on Hastings High in the initial Class A tilt of the afternoon here, 22 to 11. Tech held a 11 to 7 advantage at the half.

Hastings fought desperately in the first period but better teamwork on the part of the Maroons paved the way for an Omaha victory.

Smiley's two long baskets in the first half featured the Hastings attack. The Adams county tribe trailed, 3 to 4, at the conclusion of the first quarter.

Othmer, Tech center, was one of the leading point-getters of the skirmish, with a quartet of field goals. Nelson accounted for three baskets and a pair of gift shots for eight tallies. The guarding of Captain Holm featured.

Smiley starred for the losers with a trio of field counters and two free tosses for an even eight tallies. Shively's only field basket made him second high pointman of the tilt. Summary:

BEARS ENTRAIN FOR SPRING CAMP

Denver, Colo., March 12.—Three members of the Denver Western league baseball team, accompanied by President Milt Anfenger, will leave tonight for the spring training camp at Mineral Wells, Tex.

Five other members of the 1925 spring training squad will join the vanguard en route.

Several other members of the team will appear in Mineral Wells shortly before or after the arrival of the president, Anfenger announced.

But two important holdouts still loom. They are Dan Voorhies and Curley Brown, pitchers.

Henry Gimardi, heavy hitting outfielder, had not signed the contract yet, but he is expected to fall in line within a few weeks, Anfenger said.

Pirate Hurler Ill.

Pittsburgh, March 12.—John Morrison, one of the leading pitchers of the Pittsburgh baseball club, suffered an attack of appendicitis today, said a dispatch received here from Paso Robles, Cal., the club's training camp.

Morrison is under the care of a physician, but an operation will not be performed immediately, it was said.

Huntley Trims Central City

Lincoln, March 12.—Huntley won the right to meet Omaha Tech in the second round of class A, by handing Central City a 25 to 13 drubbing.

Low's seven baskets and three free throws alone was enough to defeat the Central City five. Low was all over the court and was easily the star of the battle.

Smith and Ramage deserved the scoring honors for the losers, each accounting for a trio of field baskets. Central City started the scoring, but Huntley evened the county at four all as time was up for the first quarter. Low's baskets in the second chapter gave Huntley a slim 9 to 8 lead at half-way time.

The teams are evenly matched. Both have turned in victories over South, Creighton Prep and Lincoln. In the state meet the Central team nosed out a victory over the Maroon and White.

My Hardest Battle

JOHN J. M'GRAW
(Baseball's Greatest Manager)

SO many battles have fallen to my lot that it is pretty hard to decide which was the hardest one.

The 1924 world series with Washington was a desperately fought affair, right down to the last play of the final game. A break either way meant victory. The Giants didn't get the break.

The series three years ago with the Yankees was another tough one. We had to fight our way up from behind to win it and it was a very difficult struggle.

Another battle that was nerve-racking was the one against the Boston Americans in 1912, which we lost.

It would be almost impossible to say that one of these was harder than another. However, if you'd ask me which was the battle that was hardest for me to lose, you could have a quick answer.

GUY CHAMBERLAIN FRANKFORD COACH

GUY CHAMBERLAIN, former University of Nebraska star football player, rated the greatest mentor of professional football in the country, will coach the Frankford Yellow Jackets of Philadelphia during the 1925 season, according to the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Chamberlain attained All-American standing as an end while playing with Nebraska, and for the last five years has acted as coach of the Canton Bulldogs, national professional football champions. He will act as coach, play end and assume some managerial duties with the Philadelphia team.

Philadelphia, March 12.—The Philadelphia Nationals and Americans meet today at the Athletics training camp in Fort Myers, Fla., in the first of a two-game exhibition series.

Due to arriving at their southern quarters two weeks earlier than the Phillies, the Athletics were reported to be further advanced in their training. Manager Mack's well pleased with the condition of his players.

World's Greatest Musical Revue

AT THE THEATERS

"The Marriage of Figaro," which will be sung at the Brandeis theater tonight only, is founded on the famous French comedy of that name by Beaumarchais, and is a continuation of "The Barber of Seville," which was set to music by Rossini. Good as the work is, "The Marriage of Figaro" is vastly better, both from a dramatic and musical point of view. It is more ingeniously constructed, while musically it is a masterpiece. One beautiful melody succeeds another in an unbroken chain, and the music is a masterpiece of dramatic significance.

In "The Marriage of Figaro," each and every character has something to say, do and more particularly sing, throughout the opera, and thus there is not a dull moment. There are two lovers—one comic, one serious—who serenade the same lady. There are canzonettes, arias and arias, while duets, trios, sextets, ensembles and finales combine to make as perfect a musical score as was ever conceived and written.

One of the prize plums among movie comedians, "Snub" Pollard, has been plucked for vaudeville and will headline next week's bill at the Orpheum.

With all the eccentric characterizations that have made him so well known in the hundreds of screen comedies, "Snub" Pollard will reveal new lights on his entertaining abilities in his new comedy, "Oh Uncle," which was written by Ted McClurg especially for the personal appearance of the movie comedian. A talent company will assist in this unusual comedy attraction.

"The Cabaret," a wondrous setting of luxurious charm; "The Carnival of Appliance," a comedy scene with its surprise number with patent leather setting; "The Artist's Studio," with its live models and beaming beauties, are among the striking scenes presented by Harry Stepp and His Big Show, which is playing the Gayety twice daily this week. Brilliant musical numbers, tasty dance diversions and uproarious comedy are combined to make this a show that will tickle the fancies of the most faithful attendant of Columbia burlesque. Tonight will be "Hoosier Nite," dozens of pairs of real silk hose to be presented to lucky feminine patrons.

Famous old Swedish castles which withstood the assaults of invaders five and more centuries ago and still stand as monuments to their defenders, with modern views of the great Swedish cities showing their industries and beauty spots are the interesting scenes in a Swedish travel picture. Picturesque landscape and instructive factory trips, with occasional agricultural excursions into the farm areas, carries the audience through the country in a trip taking several hours. Gothenburg, Trollhattan, Nydqvist and Holmes Locomotive works, Gota canal, Stockholm, Gripsholm Castle, the Cathedral of Uppsala, Visby, the Kalmar Castle, Malmo and Suandvall are some of the points touched. The picture will be shown at the Brandeis theater Sunday afternoon at 2:30 and is well worth while. There will be but one showing.

Cyclones Meet Husker Mat Stars

Special Dispatch to The Omaha Bee.
MEX., Ia., March 12.—Coach Hugo Otopalik, Trainer Mike Chambers and the Iowa State wrestling team left Ames this morning for Lincoln to compete in the Missouri valley wrestling tournament Friday and Saturday.

Coach Otopalik was more optimistic over the outcome of the meet today since both Grooms, 145-pounder, and Prunty, 158-pound entry, who have been on the sick list during the last few days, are improving and Trivette Chambers believes that he will have them in fair shape for their bouts.

The Missouri valley meet will decide both the team and individual championships. Dual meets are not reckoned in determining championship, so that Iowa State and Oklahoma, although leading the valley in the number of dual meets won, may not be able to win. It is probable, however, that one of the two teams will win the meet since both have impressive dual meet records. Coach
