

A Thrilling Novel

and an Exciting Game to the Cross-Word Puzzle Fans

A rich and cynical old woman dies--poisoned by an unknown hand. The household of guests and heirs are under suspicion of murder.

A cross-word puzzle is found--when solved it points a finger of suspicion at one person.

A beautiful emerald, the eye of an Indian god disappears. Another and another puzzle is found, each accusing a different person.

Panic falls on the guests--the murderer is among them--but who?

A man SEES TOO MUCH--and is found dead--with a cross-word puzzle in his hand.

And then--the murderer is uncovered through a cross-word puzzle.

Find the Clues by Working the Puzzles in

THE LONG GREEN GAZE

Starting in The Omaha Bee on Monday