

4,900 Youths to Attend 7th Corps Area C.M.T. Camps

Camps Will Open August 1; to Be Attended by Young Men, 17 to 31, From All Walks of Life.

From the blowing of taps on the morning of August 1 to the sounding of taps on the last day of that month, 4,900 youths from all stations in life will be engaged in learning the fundamentals of soldiering as taught in the Seventh Army corps area, Maj. Gen. George B. Duncan, commander, announced Saturday.

From schools, farms, factories and business enterprises of all sorts will come the young men to fill the quota allotted to the Seventh Corps area, which includes in its territory Nebraska, Arkansas, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, North and South Dakota. The camps, which will be located in various convenient centers of the area, will open August 1 and close August 31.

Advertising Campaign.
The Citizens' Military Train camps, an institution now four years old, has won the active support of all state and federal government agencies, while heads of most of the country's great corporations and business men in general have given to the movement their unqualified endorsement. To aid in the educational side of the movement in the Seventh Corps area The Omaha Bee has launched an extensive advertising campaign, which will cover the entire district commanded by General Duncan. Directed by Roms R. Benedict, one of the advertising experts of The Omaha Bee, material will be published showing in appealing form just what the military training camps are, what they do and how they do it. In addition to his vast experience as an advertising director, Benedict also is ranked as a lieutenant in the staff specialists' division, Officers' reserve corps.

Camp Free.
Some of the things this publicity drive will reveal are:
Camp opens August 1; closes August 31.
There is no cost of any kind attached to the service.
You must be a volunteer.
You must pass the required physical and mental tests.
Your railroad fare to and from the camp to which you may be sent is paid.
You are not obligated in any way to future military training.
Your food and clothing and sleeping quarters are furnished without cost.
You must be between the ages of 17 and 31 years.
In the numerous camps to be in operation throughout the country, the War department plans to enroll 50,000 young men. Many will go to the camps on their vacations. That is one way to solve the vacation problem and the drain on the bank account.

Scholarships Offered.
Five scholarships offered by various schools also will be awarded in the Seventh corps area camps. Awards will be conditioned on the record made by the individual during the 30 days' intensive training. The scholarships:

College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minn., high school department (Roman Catholic) $110; Kemper Military school, Booneville, Mo., $700; Shattuck school, Fairbault, Minn., $500; Missouri Military academy, Mexico, Mo., $300; Wentworth Military academy, Lexington, Mo., $700.

The cash awards form part payment of tuition and other costs incident to the first year in the institutions named.

Have You Wondered at the Painted Cheeks of High School Lasses?—They Study Makeup in Special Classes

No. 1.—Jean Stirling wiped half of the makeup off her face to face the photographer as she looks with and without the paint and character lines.
No. 2.—Fay Williams, right, dressed as a Spanish dancer is putting the finishing touches on the former makeup of Donald Stott.
No. 3.—Alice Ayer, a French non, right, and Barbara Watson, a Chinese girl, left. The girls made their own costumes and put the makeup on their faces themselves.
No. 4.—One of the most difficult makeups is that of the clown. Here

If you have a round type of face you are not apt to be business-like, but a round face is an indication that you are good-natured and possessed with brain power. There are a few of the many things that are learned by pupils at Central High school in the stage art class. Miss Floy Smith is teacher and director. The class is a laboratory class for school performances, according to Miss Smith.
The study of makeup, as it relates to characters in plays, is the principal work in the class of 25 pupils. Each pupil has a makeup box equipped with rabbit's foot, two powder puffs, jar of brilliantine, mascara for eyelashes, a candle, moist rouge, court plaster, lip sticks, eyebrow pencils and other necessities. Even the boys carry such an outfit. Fifteen minutes of the study class is used by each pupil to put the makeup on the face properly. First, the foundation color cream or grease paint is put on. This color is to be used for nationality of the person, age or temperament. Then the high lights or shadows are put upon the face, then character lines, rouge

Why Be Yourself? You Can Get Perfect Disguises at Beauty Parlors—New Faces, Hair, Hands for Old

"Don't lean on your elbows, dearie. It will put callouses on them and you'll have to go to the beauty shop and have the callouses taken off before appearing in evening dress. This is not an uncommon operation in Omaha beauty shops.
"They are wearing eyebrows heavier this year," said Irene Gray, who operates three beauty shops. "Eye brow arching should be done by an artist. It is important to get it done right."
"Have you a red nose? Well, 'don't have,' as the pimple advertisements advise. Miss Gray takes the redness out of numerous noses, including those of some Omaha society matrons, by electrical treatment. The red noses are not caused by the thing popularly supposed to be the cause, but by digestive disturbances.
"Eyelashes $1.
"How are your eyelashes? Thin and short? Miss Gray showed a tiny box in which, reposing behind a transparent top, was a cute little pair of eyelashes. Price only $1.
"They are glued to the edge of your upper eyelid and, when properly trimmed or curled, can hardly be distinguished from real eyelashes," said Miss Gray.
"Women are judged by their nails and hands," she continued, shattering an old impression that kind hearts are more than manacles. Omaha beauty shops taper the hands and fingers by massage.
"As for face lifting, Miss Gray said she paid $250 several years ago to have a method of restoring the girl's contour of the physiognomy by an adhesive plaster method which she has used on a number of Omaha women. The sag of the throat and neck muscles also can be stopped by this method.
"Electricity for Moles.
"The big plastic surgery operations are not performed in Omaha. Face lifting by that method costs upward of $600 and the mere removal of slack from under the eyes sets the beauty seeker back 150 pesetas.

Why have gray hair? Scores come to the beauty shops regularly to have the natural color of their hair restored. But all treatments are nothing less than dyes, though disguised as various "harmless liquids."
The beauty shops remove moles by electricity in from five minutes to half an hour, depending on the area of the mole.
Men? Yes, there are many now who patronize the beauty shops.
"They come chiefly for scalp treatment," said Miss Gray. "But several have their eyebrows dyed. You know, colorless eyebrows leave the face without expression.
"Painted Nostrils.
The local beauty parlors sell a preparation for darkening the eyelids, especially for evening. Dark oriental powder is a present fad but, Miss Gray said, the eastern fad of painting the ear lobes and nostrils has not yet been taken up here.
A girl, small and slender, wearing a blonde wig, was in the beauty shop. She was one of the "Artists and Models" show and wore the wig in place of her real hair, burned off by a hairdresser in the east. With her was her mother, also a member of the show, and looking but little older than the daughter. The mother was having her dark locks trimmed. They didn't look quite as beautiful as they did behind the footlights. Not quite!

"People should use the greatest discrimination in choosing their beauty specialists," said Miss Gray. "Shops are being started in residences by all kinds of people who have no proper training. Downtown beauty shops employ experts, know their business and protect their customers by insurance."
Dandruff Heads Become Hairless
If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.
It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.
By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.
You will find, too, that all itching and itching of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.
