and a construction of the Improvement in Washing.

"The wife of an American agriculturist has been experimenting in soaps, and finds that the addition of three-quarters of a pound of borax to a pound of soap me'ted without boiling, makes a saving of one half in the cost of soap and three fourths in the labor of washing, improving the whiteness hand a full and well selected stock of of the fabrics, besides the usual caustic effect is thus removed and the hands are left with a peculiar soft and silky feeling, leaving nothing more to be desired by the most ambitious washerwoman."

[The above comes to us from a contemporary marked "all around," in order, we suppose, to direct our attention to its valuable character. The addition of borax to common soft sonp will render soap suds more gentle in their effects upon the hands in washing, but at an increased, not a diminished, expense. Borax is a salt composed of boracic acid and soda, with the latter (the alkali) predominating.

The "Washing Fluid" sold in bottles ing to their size-in stores, is superior to borax for was ing purposes. A gallon of sury to convince you of the fact. Now pour off the clear lime water into the vessel containing the dissolved soda; stir all up IF YOU WANT A GOOD PAPER. and allow it to settle; the clear liquor so formed is the famous washing fluid. Common sal-soda contains carbonic acid; the lime has a greater affinity for it than the soda has, therefore the acid unites with the lime, forming solid fine white chalk which falls to the bottom, leaving a clear by the fact that the Proprietors have employcanstyc lye, capible of uniting with grease and oil in cloth, rendering them soluble in water. This washing fluid forms the basis of all the labor-saving soap receipes hawked about the country for sale.

About a quart of this fluid mixed with five gallons of rain-water, is an excellent liquid in which to boil unbleached cotton cloth for two hours, prior to putting them out on the grass to bleach. The cloth should be rinsed in soft water laying it down on the grass. This simple process, by assisting to remove the natural oil from the cloth, greatly facilitates the bleaching process.

This information will be very useful to many persons living in the country, because it is applicable to the bleaching of both home-made linen and cotton cloth .---Scientific American.

THE GLOBE: The Official Paper of Congress.

I intend to continue the publication of the Debates of Congress in full, including the Laws passed, during the next session, to commence on the first Monday in December next. The coming in of a new Administration will cause the debates of the next session to be both interesting and instructive, as its policy will be foreshadowed in the speeches of its friends. Those, therefore, who desire to know what will be the course of the next President, before he takes the executive chair, so as to shape their business accordingly, should subscribe for the debates of the coming session. The DAILY GLOBE will contain the news of the day, together with such editorial articles as may be from time to time suggested by passing events of interest, and the debates as come from the hands of the reporters, which will be laid on the desk of every memher, to undergo his revision for the Congressional Globe and Appendix.
