The Election-the Result.

Now that the excitement of the election has in a measure died away, it may not be amiss to write down a few items of history, connected with the canvass and the candidates.

Every resident of Nebraska knows that party lines were not drawn ; but that cach of the several candidates were supported by men of all parties and shades of opinion. Gen. Thayer, we believe, received a larger share of Republican votes than any other candidate, he being considered by republicans as affiliating with them to some degree, though it is but just to the General to say that he deciared himself to be a democrat. Bird B. Chapman received the vote of many leading republicans, among whom was Gen. Larimer, who for a time was the republican candidate for delegate ; Chapman also received the vote of many democrats. Col. Rankin's supporters were of all parties with a fair preponderance, however, of democrats. Judge Ferguson received a larger democratic vote than any of the candidates, and among his supporters were the most reliable men of the democratic party. But like the others, he too, was supported by many republicans. A regard for truth requires us to say that political isms were not involved in, nor decided by the late election for delegate.

Gen. Thayer and Col. Rankin began the canvass as far back as last winter, and both of them it seems made warm friends who did not desert them in the hour of trial. Both of these gentlemen labored with untiring zeal, but so far as we know, they labored honorably, for an election. Bird B. Chapman, it was known more than a year ago, was maneuvering to secure a re-election. Having secured a seat in Congress two years ago by fraud, in the face of a popular majority of 13 against him, he was anxious to try his hand again. He commenced with nearly the entire popular feeling against him, and with only a few wire-workers, schemtent, in a $30,000 appropriation for a ted the report on the morning of election, souri river to the Leau qui court. Judge Ferguson is known to be a truehearted, upright, inteligent man, a good citizen, a thorough going democrat. The national administration will find no warmer supporters in the halls of Congress than he, and the people of Nebraska, who have put their trust in him, we feel assured, will find him the faithful advocate of their interests.

Bird B. Chapman.

From the kicking and splurging in the last "Nebraskian," a paper owned by B. B. Chapman and conducted under his immediate direction, it would seem that he the Nebraskian that the "little trickster" had really supposed that he could humbug the people into his support, notwithstanding his treachery and developed knavery. He now, however, knows that he is defeated by the peoples vote, and he and his hired tools raise the cry of corruption ! corruption !--- and he prepares once more to make an attack upon the board of canvassers. We shall see whether he succeeds this time in defrauding the people as he did two years ago. Had his stealthy effort to get T. B. Cumming appointed Governor, been successful, he might perhaps have succeded again in getting the election certificate in the face of the peoples expressed will. But foiled in one, we think he will be foiled in the other .--We have no doubt but that Gov. Izard will do his duty, despite the intrigues and the bullying of Chapman and his tools. But Chapman has another object in causing the publication of such inflamatory articles in his "Nebraskian." If he cannot get the certificate, he thinks he may get public sympathy, where the facts are not known; and by sending his paper to all the members of Congress, he hopes to get them to prejudge the case, so that by contesting the seat of Judge Ferguson, he may have the committee aid him in once more defrauding the people of Nebraska. Here again the "little intriguer" miscalculates; for when his glaring falshoods prehend that his villainy will re-act against himself.

Correction.

We neglected to state in our last issue, that Mr. EDWARD LARUE, whose name appears in the returns of the election, as blow to the knavery and intrigue of Chap- a candidate for Clerk of the Court, was not a candidate. His name was used contrary to his expressed will. He is a worthy young man, who abides by the will of the Squatters when they meet in convention-and it is due to him to say, that he is always right when it comes to voting.

We remember the time of Mr. Chapman's election two years ago, the Chronotype came out with a flaming article, stating how Chapman's certificate was obtained, &c., and that was published two days before the canvass ever took place.---Nebraskian.

Yes, but that was not until after B. B. Chapman had repeatedly stated, that although H. P. Bennett had been elected by takes the defeat at the election in "high the people, he, Chapman knew he would dudgeon." One would judge by reading get the certificate. The Chronotype is not to be blamed for giving currency to a statement put in circulation by Chapman himself.

Trial of Reaping and Mowing Machines.

There were ninely-seven Reapers and Mowers entered for trial at the National Exhibition of these machines, at Syracuse, N. Y., last month. They came from fourteen different states, but only about forty were entitled to trial by the payment of the fees. The trial occupied ten days, and was the most thorough test of the capacities of the competing machines, that has yet been made. The report is not to be made public till the meeting of the United States Agricultural Society, under whose patronage the trial occurred, at Louisville, Ky., Sept. 1st.

It is but a few years since these great labor-saving machines came into use, and it may be interesting to know to what extent their manufacture is now being carried on. A single shop in Illinois, has turned out, since the year commenced, 4650 combined reapers and mowers, which at their retail price, $145 each, amounts to nearly $700,000. A rival shop, in the same state, has made over 4000 this year; and it is estimated that there will be 20,000 machines made this year in Illinois alone. A widow of a patentee of one of these machines, receives from yearly sales, the snug sum of shall be confronted with the truth, we ap- $150,000. Who wouldn't be a widow?
