FOIBLES OF FASHION

Chateaubriand Steak.

There is nothing a man appreciates more than a good chateaubriand steak and it is something that is seldom found to perfection on the home table. The following is an excellent recipe. Trim off fat and skin from three pounds of beef, cut from the center of fillet, and flatten with broad-bladed knife. Sprinkle with salt, brush over with olive oil and broil for twenty minutes. With it serve the following sauce, which is the most important part: Cook three tablespoons butter, one slice carrot, one slice onion, bit of bay leaf, sprig of thyme, sprig of parsley, and half teaspoon peppercorns, until butter is browned. Add four tablespoons flour, one and a half cups brown stock, and one-half teaspoon meat extract. Bring to boiling point, strain, add one tablespoon lemon juice, two tablespoons chopped parsley, one tablespoon butter, bit by bit, and salt to taste.

It should fit itself to the fortune, to the habits, to the taste, to the circumstances and indeed to every detail in the life of those who wish to appear its leaders." This truism is as real today as at the time it was written, but unfortunately outside of la belle France this fitting of self to one's sphere is honored more in the breach than in the observance.

Hoods Again Popular.

Old-fashioned hoods are once more popular. Sometimes these are part of the evening wrap or cape, but more often they are merely a piece of shirred and quilted silk puffing over the coiffure with a wide ruffe filled in with plisse chiffon around the face. With one of these tied under her chin, her dainty hands incased in silk lace mittens and a silk pocket hanging by a ribbon at her side, the modern girl is a replica of the girl of quaint antebellum days.

Date Cookies.

One large cup of dates stoned and cut in small pieces, one cup sugar, one egg, two-thirds cup of butter, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Stir all together, then add two cups of flour sifted with two teaspoonsful of cream of tartar and one of soda, one-half cup of water or milk, vanilla, add more flour if needed. Roll thin and bake in a quick oven. —Boston Globe.

Cranberry Pudding.

One cup sugar, one cup milk, two teaspoonsful melted butter, two cups flour, two cups cranberries, two teaspoonsful baking powder or two small teaspoonsful cream of tartar and one teaspoonful of soda. Stir all together, and bake three-quarters of an hour. Eat with sweet sauce.

Pretty Silk Waist.

With the Housewife

When you want eggs to come to a froth quickly have them almost ice-cold before you break them.

To make a damp cupboard dry stand in it a bowl of quicklime, which must be occasionally renewed, as it loses its power.

A length of cretonne laid over the pillows is one woman's solution of day bed dressing in these days when fashion has declared pillow shams quite passe. Of course, a spread of cretonne to match goes without saying.

Sprigs of wintergreen or ground ivy will drive away red ants. —Branches of wormwood will serve the same purpose for black ants. The insects may be kept out of sugar barrels by drawing a wide chalk mark around the top near the edge.

Many housewives experience difficulty in getting oriental rugs of square shape small enough to cover the landing of the stairway of the usual city house. A so-called "saddle-bag" is just the thing and may be bought quite inexpensively.

Latest for Gloves.

A pretty fancy for the woman who likes something different in gloves are those with narrow gauntlet cuffs, embroidered with steel beads. They are to be found on both black and white gloves, the black being stitched with white and the white with black. The gauntlets are regularly turned down over the cuff of the gown or reversed, turned back over the hand. They are but little more than an inch wide, and the embroidery is charming.

Caring for the Face.

Don't rub the face with too coarse a towel. Treat it as you would the finest porcelain, tenderly and delicately, for your face is not covered with parchment or cast iron. Learn how to "dabble" the face with a fine cloth as a method of drying. This preserves the delicate appearance of the skin.

Evening Gown Trimmings.

Trimmings of flowers are much used on evening gowns. For this purpose the small chiffon roses that come by the yard are very useful. There are other trimmings shown in wider and more elaborate designs of lattice work garnitures made up in bachelors' buttons and daisies and the like, which make beautiful berthas.

Back in Favor Again.

The changeable taffeta petticoat, which sold by the thousands a few years ago, but has been in the background lately, is to be fore again. Instead of the two tones of the old petticoat, the up-to-date garment has three distinct tones or shades.

New Style in Rings.

There is a variation of the two-stone ring, in which two diamonds or contrasting stones are set diagonally. Instead of the simple claw setting the two stones are set deep in the gold, which curves down on either side to the body of the ring.

Striking Skating Costume.

In aubergine colored face-cloth, trimmed with design in broad Russian braid; a white embroidered vest showing at the throat and waist. Toque of the same cloth and ermine furs.

Importance of the Veil.

The veil is always an important accessory to the hat, and veil modes change even more often than hats. The correct veil just now with the tailor hats, meaning the simple toques, turbans and Amazons worn with the short skirted tailor suits, is of a fine figured lace, the color of the suit, or of some special trimming on the hat. These veils are finished, as indeed, are all, on three sides, and when gathered up at the back fall in a short cascade. For dressy hats the fine-lined mesh nets, dotted, with a few large chenille or velvet dots, are correct. Sheer Chantilly lace and fine chiffon with lace insets are also worn by smart women; but the long automobile veil is not worn except for real protection from the cold and wind.

Circular Capes Return.

One of the prettiest evening wraps, and one which almost any deft-fingered girl can make for herself, happens, fortunately, to be the newest of fashions—the circular cape.

It is long, and being circular, is full enough to fall into graceful, rippling lines. Nothing before ever seemed to quite take the place of the old-fashioned fur-lined circulars, but this new little wrap, while not so formal, is given so much more flare and curve that it seems built on peculiarly girlish lines.

The cape forms almost a complete circle, the two pieces being cut in front, on the straight of the goods, the bias seams joining at the back. If a silk lining is used, take the silk lengthwise across the circle from corner to corner, with the widths above and below graduated as necessary. In this way the fewest number of seams are contrived.

Turn up the lower edge of the cloth and baste flat, pressing it well. Then baste the silk lining in and blind-stitch to the outside.

A few rows of stitching will give body to the front and do away with the necessity for an inner stiffening.

The little upper capes are cut exactly like the outside, but are only eight and the other ten inches deep. These shoulder capes should not be hemmed, as broadcloth—the only material appropriate—will fall into softer lines with the raw edge.

Tact in Dress.

Tact in dress is necessary to every woman who hopes to become representative of that refinement which is the chief ornament of womanhood or girlhood. It is rare that one sees French people dressed out of keeping with their surroundings or position. In the latter half of the nineteenth century a noted woman of France, Mme. de Girardin, said: "Style ought inevitably to vary according to the position and age.

WHILE THE TEA DROPS

Get an eton jacket ready for spring. Veils of thin figured lace to match the color of the suit are first choice. Mohair is being made up in jaunty little suits for wear a few months hence.

Detachable collars and cuffs of white pique look well with the tailored suit.

Even for dressy bodices the leg-o-mutton sleeve is the correct thing just now.

The smart girl has a little patch pocket put on the sleeve of her walking jacket.

A multi-gored skirt, flaring wide at the hem, is the favorite one for the tailor gown.

Separate white waists with dark cloth skirts are seen less and less frequently.

English eyelet work is displayed on the newer silk petticoats.

collar, ornamented with gold buttons, is finished at the bottom with little fancy revers edged with a little ruffe of white mousseline de soie, which also borders the fronts.

It is finished around the neck with a little collar of black velvet trimmed with embroidery, and the cravat and high standing collar are of lace. The draped leg-o-mutton sleeves are trimmed to correspond.

FOR EXTREME WEATHER.

1. Smart walking costume, with Russian blouse of caracal, having velvet belt and collar and the split sleeves caught with fancy buttons.

2. White baby lamb coat, with cape, cuffs and facings of the black Persian lamb, trimmed with gold embroidery and ornaments.

3. Figured zibeline coat suit, with cape and cuffs of sable.

GLOVES

Just now we are making a splurge on Gloves---a big splurge. We retail FOR 25c a Pair

Gloves that other Lincoln dealers pay $6.00 per doz. for. How? It's not a trade secret. Our New York buyer fell on a big job lot and bought for spot cash.

We'll make some money on the lot--but a very little on each pair. Other dealers make a big profit on each pair--and sell only a few pairs. We do it different. This is a different store.

SITUATION IS UNSETTLED

Clashing of Interests in Argentine Republic the Latest

An insurrection has broken out in the province of Buenos Ayres. Several police posts have been attacked by bands of about thirty men each, but the assailants nearly everywhere were repulsed. Two posts which were surprised were recaptured by the police. An attack on the arsenal was also repelled. It is rumored that two regiments of troops have mutinied and are marching on the capital. The Argentine government, which appears to have been acquainted with the plans of the leaders of the plot, took timely measures to suppress the uprising and seems to have complete control of the situation.

QUAILS PERISH IN SNOW

Farmers Take Pity on Them and Give Them Shelter and Food

Farmers say that thousands of quail are starving to death in Nebraska. The country roads are lined with quail searching for something to eat and in many cases the little fellows fly into barns and granaries in search of grain. The thawing and freezing of the snow of the last thirty days has formed coatings of ice over the ground through which the quail cannot scratch to secure food. In several instances entire flocks of them have been found in hedges huddled together, dead, caused by the severe weather and lack of food. Many farmers are feeding the quail on their places and hunger tempts them to leave their hiding places while the grain is being scattered on the ground.

The Cause for Rise in Prices

In the markets of New York and the world generally all stocks are advancing, especially is this true in patent medicine which is forcing the retail price of these commodities up. The continued and steady large dividend paying properties of this class have forced conservative investors to turn their attention to this class of stock and the result is they are being bought liberally by brokers who are operating for conservative men of means. It is said that no class of stock has been such good payers of large dividends as the patent medicines. If the call continues as it has every indication to prices on these stocks will be forced to a very high mark.
