

LIFE INSURANCE AGAIN.

Some of the Bright Spots.

There has been much discussion the last few months upon what the press has called "scandal" in the life insurance industry. It has been revealed upon the difficulties of these institutions the public has almost grown to believe all are alike, and are inclined to condemn all for the shortcomings of the few.

In looking over the situation carefully there seems to be some companies located in the west that have neither operated in Wall street securities nor invested in them. All their assets, including both reserves and surplus are invested in farm mortgages on western improved farms, the best security in the world, and yielding a good rate of interest. One such company that certainly exhibits a clean record, as shown by its records, has its home office at Lincoln, Neb., and conducts its business under the name of "The Old Line Bankers Life of Nebraska," and has nearly twenty years old, but has never done much talking about itself. It has made conservative and quiet progress each year along lines that its policy holders approve. Practically all of its assets of a billion and a quarter dollars are invested in first mortgage loans on the best of farm and city real estate. Its surplus last year for its policy holders was more than 3 1/2 per cent of the amount reserved, the cost for new business written is less than any of the leading life insurance companies in the United States, and its death loss per thousand was less by one-half than any of them. Unlike many companies organized in recent years on the remains of some defunct assessment order, or company, it started originally as an old line company, and has no assessment business weighing it down. Its surplus alone earned for its policy holders in amount equal to 23 per cent of its entire reserve, a statement of assets does not show a single dollar of the many items like agency balances, bills receivable, promissory notes, stocks and bonds, real estate, other assets, etc., which make up a considerable portion of the assets of many companies, but it consists of money and loans, and nothing else.

The public who discriminate more and more in the future between companies, not as to size, in the past, but quality, and the one that can show a clean record, and ability through conservative management to pay prompt dividends, will certainly in the future an increasing patronage from that great conservative portion of the public who are not looking for speculation in a life contract, but for protection and reasonable returns on their investment.

If the investigation of New York companies has done any good, it will cause the western people to wake up to the fact that as illustrated above, they have as good companies as exist in the world, capable of taking care of all business offered, and when taken managing it as you would manage your own money, and showing results that no eastern company has up to date been able to duplicate.

READ AND YOU WILL LEARN

The leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice endorse and recommend, in the strongest terms possible, each and every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for the cure of weak stomach, dyspepsia, catarrh of the bladder, chronic bronchitis, torpid liver, or biliousness, chronic bowel affections, and all catarrhal diseases of whatever region or nature. It is also a specific remedy for all such chronic or long standing cases of catarrhal affections and their resultant, as bronchitis, throat and lung diseases (except consumption) accompanied with severe coughs. It is not so good for acute coughs and colds, but for lingering, or chronic cases it is especially efficacious in giving perfect cures. It contains Black Cherry bark, Golden Seal root, Bloodroot, Stone root, Mandrake root and many other all of which are highly praised as remedies for all the above mentioned affections by such eminent medical writers and teachers as Prof. Bartholow, of Jefferson Med. College, Prof. Hare, of the Univ. of Pa.; Prof. Finley Ellingwood, M. D., of Bennett Med. College, Chicago; Prof. John King, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. John M. Scudder, M. D., late of Cincinnati; Prof. Edwin M. Hale, M. D., of Hahnemann College, Chicago, and scores of others equally eminent in their several schools of practice.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is the only medicine put up for sale through druggists for like purposes, that has any such professional endorsement, and is more than any number of ordinary testimonials. Open publicity of its formula on the bottle wrapper is the best possible guaranty of its merit. A glance at this published formula will show that "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no poisonous or harmful agents, and no alcohol chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine being used instead. Glycerine is entirely unobjectionable and besides is a most useful ingredient in the cure of all stomach as well as bronchial, throat and lung affections. There is the highest medical authority for its use in all such cases. The "Discovery" is a concentrated glyceric extract of native, medicinal roots and is safe and reliable.

An Original Punisher.

Of Capt. Harry Graham, who is to marry Miss Ethel Barrymore, a Philadelphia student.

"I knew Graham well in London. He often entertained me in his beautiful apartment overlooking the Thames. Sometimes he read me his poetry. What was execrable; sometimes he sang comic songs in a pleasant tenor voice, and that was better.

"During one of my visits some gardener called, and over the apricot case and the soda water they told stories of Graham's military life with the Coldstreams.

"He was always an ingenious man at a punishment," said a tall youth.

"Some of his punishments are still remembered, they were so original and odd.

"There was a private one day who had misbehaved, and Graham ordered him to be put on bread and water for three days.

"But the sergeant, saluting, said that such a punishment would make no difference to the culprit, because he was a vegetarian.

"Oh, vegetarian, is he?" said Graham. "Then put him for three days on bread and butter."

After Dark.

"But you are always bothered with poor light are you?" inquired the complaint clerk at the gas office.

"Oh, no, not always," replied the quiet citizen.

"Ah! I thought so; it's only at certain times that you notice it, eh?"

"Yes; only after dark."

Convincing Evidence.

Winthrop, Cal., Nov. 20th (Special).

—A plain and straightforward story is always the most convincing. And that is what has impressed us most in reading the testimonials in regard to Dodd's Kidney Pills. The experience told by Davis Lewis of this place bears the ring and stamp of truth upon it. He says:

"I was troubled for six months with dull heavy pains in the small of my back, some times it passed into my stomach, at other times up between my shoulders. When it was in my stomach I was doubled up, and hardly knew what to do for the pain. I was advised to take all kinds of remedies, and did so but without getting any relief. Then some one told me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I got a box and began taking them. The first few doses gave me relief, by the time I had finished them all the pain was gone and I have been well ever since."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the world. Catarrh is often a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional cure, and Hall's Catarrh Cure is a constitutional cure, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Write for particulars to Dr. J. C. HENNEY & CO., Toledo, O. FROM THE FORETHOUGHT BOOKS

The old fire insurance agent sat on the wagonmaker's sawhorse. He was a bright man but not the only jack-knife in the show case. Some were dull in the right hand, and some were just like him. He had been jollying the mechanic's boy who was tinkering at the vise, and had got the laugh on the boy. A painter was working at the other side of the room and enjoying the fun.

The agent got up and went to the bench, picked up an apple and asked, "What is that?"

Before any one could answer, the boy jerked out, "An apple!"

The laugh was on the agent who was struck dumb. The painter said that the boy was worth saving. The father remarked that honey and salt saved him, as for many years the croup hung around the house like a bat in the night, and nothing helped until some one put them on to this God-given remedy.

"How did you use it?" asked the painter. The father replied, "Mix a half teaspoonful each of honey and salt for any kind of a croupy cough unless due to a bronchial cold that remains on all day and night. For the latter drink hot corn-meal gruel very thin with or without milk, but salted, and put honey on the chest as a warmer and tonic."—From Money Stories.

SPLENDID FIELD FOR ROMANCE

Sir Gilbert Parker Says There is Room for American Novelists.

Sir Gilbert Parker, Canadian novelist and historian since 1900 member of the English house of commons, sailed back to England Saturday on the Campania, according to the New York Herald. He had been on a two months' visit to Canada. The last six days he had spent in New York.

When seen on the Campania just before it sailed he was surrounded by friends and relatives who had come to see him off, but he found time to say a few pleasant things about the United States and its people.

"I was in the United States," he went on, "became more and more common as the various S. P. C. A.'s increase in number.

"A San Francisco woman left the income of $5,000 to be expended in keeping the streets free from broken glass, tin cans and all such rubbish as might cut the feet of horses.

"There is a hospital for birds in New York, and I know a woman whose will, when she dies, will make it richer by $150 a year.

"A St. Louis millionaire left a good sum to be devoted to making easier the lives of aged and broken-down horses and mules.

"Animal bequests of this kind are wise. There is another kind of animal bequest, though, that is very foolish. This is the setting aside of extravagant sums for the luxurious maintenance, after the master's or mistress' death, of pet animals. Such bequests cause swindling. The person who has $200 or $300 a year to keep a cat or dog on is profiting largely, and when the cat or dog dies, substitutes another for it in order that the income may not cease.

"I know of bequests of this foolish sort to cats, dogs, birds and even goldfish. In each case there was cheating. As the real pet died another that resembled it was substituted."

Among the many good stories of humorous happenings in court told by Attorney Watson of Pittsburg is the following:

"A prominent attorney of Kansas City who was retained as counsel for the defense in a criminal case in the city named succeeded in getting his client out of a pretty bad situation by means of an alibi, which the attorney presented to the court in so novel a way that it was a little short of masterful.

"At the end of the trial the attorney was overwhelmed by congratulations from his colleagues of the legal fraternity, who spoke in the highest terms of admiration of his able work. To these felicitations there were added those of the learned judge himself, who observed:

"A fine alibi, that, and mighty well put!"

"Well, modestly responded the lawyer: 'I myself think it was rather neat. Of those that were offered me it was by far the best.'"—Harper's Weekly.

Why She Resigned.

She had been in her mistress' service exactly two weeks when she announced that on the following Saturday there would be a vacancy as lady's maid. Her mistress was puzzled. Their relations had been mutually satisfactory, at least to all outward appearances.

"Is there anything the matter with the place?" she demanded. "I thought I had been very easy on you."

"Deed, ma'am, I ain't got no kick 'bout de work," was the earnest assurance. "You shore am a fine lady to wuk for."

"Do you want more money?"

"N-o, no, exactly money?"

"Well, what is the trouble?" exclaimed her mistress impatiently.

"Well, you see, ma'am, wherever I wukked befoh, 'de ladies, dey sent notes to gemmen frens, an' 'de gemmen frens, dey give me a dollah foh bringin' 'de note, an' den dere was de excitement. Yes, dat's de trouble. Dey ain't no excitement here. I got to go."

And she went.—New York Sun.

ANIMAL BEQUESTS ARE COMMON

Wealthy People Leave Money for Maintenance of Pets.

A free bed for cats is maintained in an animal hospital in Philadelphia. It is a large cage of polished nickel, with a porcelain floor that slides for cleaning and with an outfit of porcelain feeding utensils, a pneumatic bed and an abundance of soft, clean blankets.

Standing beside this bed the hospital's superintendent said:

"It was bequeathed to us seven years ago by a rich old woman. The income of $1,000 is set apart for its maintenance. It does a deal of good. 'Bequests to animals,' he went on, 'become more and more common as the various S. P. C. A.'s increase in number.

Mountain Sheep Prisoner in Glacier

The entire carcass of a mountain sheep was found embedded in the ice of the Arapahoe glacier by a party of scientists from the university. No one can tell how long it had been there.

Very likely the animal was caught in one of the deep crevasses which extend into the glacier. The ice must have closed in around it soon, before there was time for putrefaction, and thus the sheep was placed in natural cold storage.

The slow movement of the ice in this glacier, as in all glaciers, brings everything eventually down to the terminal moraine. It was here that the carcass was found.—Boulder correspondence Denver Republican.

Shrewd Scheme of Poachers.

A very ingenious trick employed by English poachers is that of leaving an end of a candle burning in a saucer of water in the bedroom. This usually is so arranged that the candle will sputter out at about 10 o'clock, just as if it had been extinguished and the man retired for the night. This ruse is often employed by poachers, who discover that the keepers are watching the house for signs of the poacher leaving. In very many cases the gamekeeper does not discover that the candle could go out without any human agency.

Japanese-Argentina Steamers.

Japan is to establish a line of steamers to ply between that country and South America. The purpose is to get cheap wheat from Argentina. Rice eating in Japan is giving way to bread made from wheat, or from a mixture of wheat and rice or other cereals. Japan's representative in Brazil is instructed by his government to collect data of trade possibilities between the two countries.

Incentive to Arbitrators.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach was in a hurry when he passed through New York recently, on his way to Singapore, to arbitrate in the transfer of the docks there from private owners to the government. No wonder, for he and two other arbitrators are to receive $450,000 for their services.

Liner's Remarkable Run.

A White Star liner arrived in New York a few days ago from the Mediterranean, bringing 120 cabin passengers, eighty-six of whom were women. They had the run of the ship, even invading the smoking-room, the result being that for the first time on record, it is believed, a trans-Atlantic liner made a voyage without a card game, not even a hand at whist. The bar took in only $10 during the trip, another unprecedented feature.

Arctic Circle Postoffice.

Served during the winter by dog teams, a permanent postoffice has been established by the Canadian authorities at 5,000 miles from Ottawa and 2,000 miles north of Edmonton, the capital of the new province of Alberta.

Museum of the Drama.

Prof. Brander Matthews, of New York city is strongly advocating the establishment of a museum gallery for the drama to show the gradual development of the theater in various countries.

"Getting Back" at a Joker.

"That reminds me," said Manager John R. Langdon of the Beivlerde, as he finished telephoning regrets to a launching party on Mr. Sylvanus Stoke's boat, the Madge, "of an experience I had in New York—once upon a time. I was invited to go with a yacht party down the Sound, and couldn't make it. Just for a joke I sent a note to my host saying that I was sorry I couldn't go, but he could make it right by just sending me what he thought I would have won on the trip. Thought it was a great joke, I did. That evening a boy brought a message, collect, and the message ran: 'Dear Langdon: You lost $37.45. Please remit by bearer.'

"And what did you do—send him the money?"

"Not, Father John! I wrote across the note, 'Opened by mistake—J. H. L.,' and fired it back. The boy collected double charges on the other end."

A Texas Tragedy.

It was in a little Texas hamlet. A more or less excited crowd had collected in the road.

"What is the matter?" I inquired of a native.

"A po' ol' darkey killed, sub," was the reply.

"Indeed?" said I, shivering.

"Yes, sub; an' only jes' kaze he stole a mule."

"Good heavens!" I exclaimed shudderingly.

"An' only a scraggly, vicious, bitin' runaway dog, or nery mule at dat!"

"Oh, my! Have they arrested his slayer?"

"I ralk' n't, sub."

"What! Don't they know him, then?"

"Oh, yes; dey shore know him."

"And won't arrest him?"

"No, sub."

"In the name of heaven, why not?"

"Kaze de mule was de slayer, sub."
