THE CARPENTERS.
Notes from Local No. 1055 of Carpenters and Joiners.
Dr. Winnett is before the public as a candidate for railroad commissioner. Claiming a clear and untrammelled record, business ability and all necessary qualifications, he desires to retire from active business. Let us see: He has served as mayor of Lincoln four years and has shown great executive ability. There was a general house cleaning on the "reservation," in fact vice was not so rampant on the "reservation" as before, but you could find numerous women parading the streets and avenues at all times of the day with a bundle of books and tablets under their arms and a pencil in their hair in the guise of University students, plying their trade throughout the city without molestation, and having a glorious time in uptown blocks and rooms at night. After the close of his official career he sojourned on the Pacific coast, for a time. It is a noteworthy fact that on his return to Lincoln he knew all about conducting such affairs.

Dr. Winnett is erecting a new mansion with unfurl labor.
Bread and water is good enough for working men.
Joe Burns does not take state contracts while a member of the legislature. His son transacts the business. Joe simply holds the business end.
Union labor is fair and gives value revealed.
The republican convention has turned down organized labor. What will the democrats do?
Local No. 1055 reports progress.
Councilman John S. Bishop does not need the votes of organized labor. What does his successor want?
Organized labor is beginning to see the necessity of standing together.
Bro. Sutter is reported improving.
Local 1055 has lost some of its members, but their places are filled with mechanics. We have lost nothing; we have gained.
F. A. Mason is mad. He chased our business agent off from the job with his mouth and a silver.
Labor Day is approaching. Look out for a good time.
In the State Journal of July 25 an article appeared implicating Bro. Maupin and Bro. Greenlee in jobbing the labor vote. Organized labor does not deal in jobs, but it does stand together.

"CHRISTIAN SOCIALISTS."
Unwarranted Use of a Name by a Purely Political Party.
There are men who call themselves "Christian Socialists." As the socialists insist that their system is purely a political or an economic system, it would seem that there is as much justification for you and me to call ourselves "Christian republicans," or "Christian democrats."
The Christian man who says that he is a Christian socialist means to place the emphasis upon the word "Christian," while the socialist who is interested in securing his vote thinks only of the word "socialist." Meanwhile, socialism is given the credit for the "Christian" socialist's Christianity, which gives the party a dignity that it hardly deserves. Indeed, the dignity sometimes becomes quite an embarrassment to some of its leaders.
As Christianity is not a political party, nor, primarily, an economic system, it can hardly be compared to socialism as such. It is true that the principles of Christianity applied to human society create political parties and economic systems, but Christianity is the motive power and not the machine itself. Needless to say, other political parties have been influenced by these principles, and Christian men in these parties have been just as devoted to the principles of Christianity as are the men who call themselves Christian socialists, so that the claim that socialism is the only practical expression of Christianity, seems to be rather egotistical.

It must be conceded that socialism hasn't a monopoly of the high aims and purposes for which Christianity stands. Perhaps it is because there is so much in socialism that is not Christian, that the Christian men in the movement find it necessary to label themselves "Christian."
I have no quarrel with the socialist. If he is perfectly honest in his convictions, he has my respect. But I do protest against the assertion that the Christian socialist is the only kind of a Christian that has a big, broad sympathy for the masses of the people. As a matter of fact, the mighty movement in behalf of the people inaugurated by the church have been started and pushed along by men who have not thought it necessary to proclaim themselves as others than just plain "Christians."

CENTRAL LABOR UNION.
Gets Busy with Labor Day Preparations and Other Things.
The Central Labor Union met Tuesday evening, and after a long and tedious jangle over nothing in particular, proceeded to take some definite action concerning Labor Day. It was decided that it would be best for the central body to exercise a supervisory authority over the general committee, and George Bush was authorized to call the committee together as soon as possible and start things.
Several new delegates were obligated during the evening, and the trades reports were all good. The meeting was the largest for several months. Collis Lovely, vice president of the Boot and Shoe Workers' International Union, was present and made a rousing talk.

SPEED THE DAY!
Organized labor is awakening to the fact that it has the power, and after the November elections there will be many others throughout the country who will realize what a power we are. The next session of congress will see a few men in their seats who will help fight the battles for our rights. The next time organized labor petitions congress for a redress of wrongs that the petitioners will at least be respectfully treated.—Albuquerque Labor Advocate.
Cousin of Mikado Coming.
Yamaja, secretary of the Japanese exhibit at Venice, Cal., states that he is in receipt of word that Prince Kanin, a general in the Japanese army and a cousin and personal representative of the Japanese emperor, will reach San Francisco next week and that he comes bearing a message of national sympathy from the mikado in connection with the recent disaster.

LABOR'S CALL TO ARMS
therewith we hope, and have the right to expect, to arouse the citizenship of our common country, interested in good government, to the apathy or hostility of the party in power to the real interests of the people, so that men more honest, faithful and progressive may be elected as the people's representatives.
"If it has come to a condition in this, the greatest and wealthiest nation on earth, that the almighty dollar is to be worshiped to an extent of forgetting principle, conscience, uprightness and justice, the time has arrived for labor and its friends to raise their voices in condemnation of such degeneracy, and to invite all reform forces to join with it in relegating indifference to the people's interests, corruption and graft to political oblivion; to raise the standard of legislation by the election of sincere, progressive and honest men who, while worshipping money less, will honor conscience, justice and humanity more.
"We recommend that central bodies and local unions proceed without delay by the election of delegates to meet in conference, or convention, to formulate plans to further the interests of this movement, and in accordance with the plan herein outlined at the proper time and in the proper manner nominate candidates who will unquestionably stand for the enactment into law of labor and progressive measures.
"Wherever both parties ignore labor's legislative demands a straight labor candidate should be nominated, so that honest men may have the opportunity in exercising their franchise to vote according to their conscience instead of being compelled to either refrain from voting or to vote for the candidate and the party they must in their innermost souls despise.
"Where a congressman or state legislator has proved himself a true friend to the rights of labor he should be supported and no candidate nominated against him.
"This movement must not degenerate into a scramble for office. It should be a determined effort, free, absolutely from partisanship of every name and character, to secure the legislation we deem necessary and essential to the welfare and happiness of all our people. As the present objects of this movement are purely in the line of legislation, all efforts should be concentrated upon the election of members of congress and the various state legislatures.
"To make this—our movement—the most effective the utmost care should be taken to nominate only such union men whose known intelligence, honesty and faithfulness are conspicuous. They should be nominated as straight labor representatives and stand and be supported as such by union men and their friends, and sympathizers, irrespective of previous political affiliation.
"Wherever it is apparent that an entirely independent labor candidate cannot be elected, efforts should be made to secure such support by indorsement of candidates by the minority party in the districts and by such other progressive elements as will insure the election of labor representatives.

"All observers agree that the campaign of our fellow workmen of Great Britain has had a wholesome effect upon the government, as well as the interests of its wage-earners, and the people generally of that country. In the last British election fifty-four trade unionists were elected to parliament. If the British workmen with their limited franchise accomplished so much by their united action, what may we in the United States not do with universal suffrage.
"Those earnestly engaged in our movement must, we believe, be guided by the fact that the principles for which we stand must be primary consideration, and office secondary. We ask our fellow workers and friends to respond to this call, and to make of it a popular uprising of honest men, and to see to it that the best, most conscientious men of labor or their supporters are chosen as their representatives.
Advantages Won by Sacrifices.
"Whatever vantage ground or improved conditions have come to the workers of our country were not brought to them on silver platters; they are the result of their better organization and their higher intelligence; of the sacrifices they have made and the industrial battle scars of many contests. The progress of the toilers has not been due to kindness or consideration at the hands of the powers that be, but achieved in spite of the combined bitter hostility of mendacious greed, corporate corruption, legislative antagonism and judicial usurpation.
"Labor men of America, assert your rights, and in addition to strengthening your faith and loyalty to your organization on the economic field, exercise your full rights of citizenship in the use of your ballot. Elect honest men to congress and to other halls of legislation, and by so doing you will more completely and fully carry out your obligations as union men, and more than ever merit the respect of your fellow citizens.
"Labor demands a distinctive and larger share in the governmental affairs of our country; it demands justice; it will be satisfied with nothing less. Fraternally yours,
"SAMUEL GOMPERS,

After the retirement of Field Marshal Oyama, General Kodama was made chief of the general staff of the Japanese army. His wife, Sutamatsu Yamanaka, was educated at Vassar.
