

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached and back also; has slept poorly, been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart beats very fast; then that bearing-down feeling, and during her periods she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up; you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right," and hope vanishes; then come the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Mrs. Rosa Adams, of 819 12th Street, Louisville, Ky., niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C.S.A. She writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham:

"I cannot tell you with pen and ink what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered with female troubles, extreme lassitude, 'the blues,' nervousness and that all-gone feeling. I was advised to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it not only cured my female derangement, but it has restored me to perfect health and strength. The brooding, morbid, nervousness and that all-gone feeling, which I have suffered with for so long, has returned, and I do not feel any longer with despondency, as I did before. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a boon to sick and suffering women."

If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

WRONG IN REVENGE

PARDON IS THE ONE GREAT ENNOBLING ACT.

Surely Two Wrongs Never Yet Have Made a Right—Truth in Lesson Taught by Wisdom and Love.

So many crimes are committed in the name of vengeance that it gives one pause and turns one back to the meaning that lies beneath the word. Once, evidently, men killed at need, and snatched at greed and each man's idea of personal enlargement was to be a formidable power, holding out threatened injury and death to all who encroached. Civilization is a slow but sure progress toward the idea that all enlargement is by sympathy and service, by tolerance and kindness.

To return a wrong by another wrong has never by any mathematical computation made other than two wrongs in the world; they have never produced a right any more than ten persimmons can produce an apple. To imagine that a man can enrich himself by robbery is sheer intellectual stultification. Whatever a man takes from another to the other's loss and detriment becomes the impoverishment of the robber, paradoxical as it may sound, and another's suffering can never be our gain. We have but to look at the spiritual pauperism of the unrighteously rich to know this.

The whole lesson of revenge was taught of old. There came to live and to teach in the world Wisdom and Love incarnate, and men, seeing the power and the beauty, and desiring all power and all beauty in their own hands, said: "Let us torture and kill," and this they did. And Wisdom and Love incarnate spoke and said: "They know not what they do," and passed on. The revenge is that since then Wisdom and Love supreme are without bodily form in the world, and men who desire it go searching, and lose themselves in mists and thicket and swamps, they stumble and fall and cry again, and hope and despair, and cry out, but for no yearning, and no prayers, and no stretching out of arms through the centuries does the visible form become alive again.

This is the great revenge, to hide in the shelter of the silence and the mystery; acts entail further acts, and we become drawn into the mesh of human intricacies and partialities. But in the far quiet there is peace for the slain while the slayer wraps about him the gray isolation of his acts, and out of his errors come the sufferings which are the birth throes of new consciousness.

This is the wisdom of ages that there is no big and no little, and betrayal and fulfillment of destiny are one and the same; men do what is in them to do; they act according to the ideas that have already shaped the brute world. But in the future, the best and the lowest of men will know that there is but one revenge, and that is pardon.—Harper's Weekly.

The Fountain of Youth.
"The fountain of youth, I am persuaded," said Mr. Cheerily, "springs in our own bosoms only. The mistake we make in searching for it, as we all do, is in looking for it elsewhere."
"Here it is, as one might say, right under our noses, but that fact we never realize; and we all go searching for it, near and far, as Ponce de Leon did centuries ago in Florida."
"Here's the trouble, the real trouble. The fountain within ourselves, if we don't watch out, is likely to get sealed up; and it is when it ceases thus to flow that we begin to look for it elsewhere, always more and more aimlessly, and always with increasing weariness, for it is worry that prompts us on this vain search and that leads us always farther and farther away."
"That's the secret of the whole business—freedom from worry; it is worry, and worry only, that seals the true fountain and starts us on that fruitless quest."
"Don't worry, and you will never have to search for it; you will discover it, springing perpetual, within your own heart—the true and only fountain."

Theories as to Earthquakes.
The director of the solar observatory at Kensington in England announces that at the time of the San Francisco and Valparaiso earthquakes and those which occurred in 1894 the spots on the sun were at the maximum of their size. It is not known that the sun spots and the earthquakes have any relation, but their simultaneous appearance has been observed often. There is another theory of the western earthquake, however, which is more simple and probable. It is that the mountains on the western shore of the continent are slowly but constantly being forced upward. Occasionally the upturning strata of rock slip and the result is destruction to the cities within the area of disturbance. This theory fits well with the earthquakes on the Pacific coast.

Remarkable Coincidences.
Some remarkable coincidences are recorded in the case of two men, William Connolly and Patrick Cantwell, who were drowned a short time ago by the upsetting of a "float" on the Grand canal, near Tullamore, Ireland. The two men were born on the same day 36 years ago; they were baptized in the same water; they were drowned together in the Grand canal, and they have now been buried together at Raham, King's county.

CURED OF GRAVEL.

Not a Single Stone Has Formed Since Using Doan's Kidney Pills.

J. D. Daughtrey, music publisher, of Suffolk, Va., says: "During two or three years that I had kidney trouble I passed about 2½ pounds of gravel and sandy sediment in the urine. I haven't passed a stone since using Doan's Kidney Pills; however, and that was three years ago. I used to suffer the most acute agony during a gravel attack, and had the other usual symptoms of kidney trouble—lassitude, headache, pain in the back, urinary disorders, rheumatic pain, etc. I have a box containing 14 gravel stones that I passed, but that is not one-quarter of the whole number. I consider Doan's Kidney Pills a fine kidney tonic."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Aunt Mary's "Quiet" Funeral.

A dear old New England spinster, the embodiment of the timid and shrinking, passed away at Carlsbad, where she had gone for her health. Her nearest kinsman, a nephew, ordered the body sent back to be buried—as was her last wish—in the quiet little country churchyard. His surprise can be imagined, when, on opening the casket, he beheld, instead of the placid features of his Aunt Mary, the majestic port of an English general in full regimentals, whom he remembered had chanced to die at the same time and place as his aunt. At once he cabled to the general's heirs, explaining the situation and requesting instructions. They came back as follows: "Give the general quiet funeral. Aunt Mary interred to-day with full military honors, six brass bands, saluting guns."

BEGGAR WORE SILK HAT.

Attire of Mendicant Surprised Visitors in London.

The visitors from the country turning from a London railway terminus into the street on Saturday stopped to gaze aghast at a man standing in the gutter. "Look," said one, nudging the other, "even the beggars wear 'toppers' in London!" It was true in this case, at any rate.

Here was a man of about five and thirty, dressed like a city clerk, in a good morning coat, and trousers, sound boots, clean starched shirt and collar and a well fixed tie. He was crowned with a silk hat, well brushed and ironed. But there he was in the conventional attitude of the curbstone merchant, one foot on the pavement, the other in the gutter. One hand held out for sale half a dozen boxes of matches, the other invited alms.

A man keeps a nice little place in the country from the profits of his pitch on the pavement in the Strand, but his workaday clothes would not fetch as much as this man's hat cost to iron.—London Evening Standard.

To Stain Oak Color.

Dissolve five cents worth of brown polish in one quart of hot water, then add as much brown amber and yellow ochre as will give the shade desired by at least two applications. Apply hot, wipe off while still wet with a piece of rag, finishing in the direction of the grain. There is a method of staining and varnishing in one operation, but the more satisfactory way is to stain the wood first, then apply the varnish or polish. The colors mentioned can be purchased ground in water, in which state simply mixing them with beer or vinegar makes good stains at small cost. By this one can tighten the sashes.

Whistling.

As an organ of universal benevolence, the Post would thus admonish our whistlers not to whistle in public. We do this in the spirit of the kind old Scotch divine who, having prayed for two mortal hours for everybody and everything, closed with: "And now, let us say a quick word for the whistler." And then he prayed for the devil.

And that is the temper we are in when we forewarn the whistler. We shall not pray for him.—Washington Post.

THE LAXATIVE OF KNOWN QUALITY

There are two classes of remedies; those of known quality and which are permanently beneficial in effect, acting gently, in harmony with nature, when nature needs assistance; and another class, composed of preparations of unknown, uncertain and inferior character, acting temporarily, but injuriously, as a result of forcing the natural functions unnecessarily. One of the most exceptional of the remedies of known quality and excellence is the ever pleasant Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., which represents the active principles of plants, known to act most beneficially, in a pleasant syrup, in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to contribute their rich, yet delicate, fruity flavor. It is the remedy of all remedies to sweeten and refresh and cleanse the system gently and naturally, and to assist one in overcoming constipation and the many ills resulting therefrom. Its active principles and quality are known to physicians generally, and the remedy has therefore met with their approval, as well as with the favor of many millions of well informed persons who know of their own personal knowledge and from actual experience that it is a most excellent laxative remedy. We do not claim that it will cure all manner of ills, but recommend it for what it really represents, a laxative remedy of known quality and excellence, containing nothing of an objectionable or injurious character.

There are two classes of purchasers; those who are informed as to the quality of what they buy and the reasons for the excellence of articles of exceptional merit, and who do not lack courage to go elsewhere when a dealer offers an imitation of any well known article; but, unfortunately, there are some people who do not know, and who allow themselves to be imposed upon. They cannot expect its beneficial effects if they do not get the genuine remedy.

To the credit of the druggists of the United States be it said that nearly all of them value their reputation for professional integrity and the good will of their customers too highly to offer imitations of the Fifty Years a Publisher.

Frederick Hess, of San Francisco, proprietor of the California Democrat, has been celebrating his golden jubilee as a publisher. In September, 1856, being then 18 years old, he purchased the paper named and has been running it ever since. That he still has great confidence in the future of San Francisco is shown by the fact that although he lost his entire plant at the time of the fire he immediately reestablished himself.

Laundry work at home would be much more satisfactory if the right Starch were used. In order to get the desired stiffness, it is usually necessary to use so much starch that the beauty and fineness of the fabric is hidden behind a paste of varying thickness, which not only destroys the appearance, but also affects the wearing quality of the goods. This trouble can be entirely overcome by using Defiance Starch, as it can be applied much more thinly because of its greater strength than other makes.

Died in Westminster Abbey.

Henry IV. died in Westminster Abbey in 1413. It is claimed that from that time to this no life has ended there, except that of a minister named Shepherd, who dropped dead in the famous old sanctuary, just as he finished a speech, at a meeting recently held under the chancery of the Dean of Westminster.
