BOOSTING FOR BENNETT

All Advocates of the Square Deal Backing His Candidacy.

Unusual interest attaches to the candidacy of John R. Bennett, who is a candidate before the republican primaries for the nomination as county commissioner. The district which Mr. Bennett seeks to represent embraces the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth wards and precinct B of the Second ward, in the city of Lincoln. The interesting feature is the attempt of the Traction company interests to "get even" with Mr. Bennett because he has, as a member of the city council, refused to grant any further concessions to the Lincoln Traction company. This opposition has been so plain that every reader of the morning Traction organ could see it. All this is, or should be, quite enough to induce every republican working man in Mr. Bennett's district to vote for him at the primaries.

But aside from this, Mr. Bennett has other claims for support. He has been a resident of Lancaster county for many years. He came to the county a young man and by economy managed to get together enough money to buy a little farm. Later falling health in the family forced him to leave the farm and he came to Lincoln. He bought a lunch house near the Burlington depot, worked night and day, lost no opportunity to make friends by leaving satisfied customers, saved his money and invested it in Lincoln property. Every dollar he has was honestly made and has been honestly used. Being a representative citizen and an interested taxpayer, he would make a good county commissioner. The Wageworker does not know Mr. Bennett personally, but it knows his record, and it is the kind of a record that recommends its possessor to the confidence of the people. His record during his short service in the council shows that the possession of a competency has not made him feel above those who still have to toil for a daily wage, and it further shows that he is in full sympathy with the principles of trades unionism. The Wageworker believes that the election of Mr. Bennett would give the toilers a "friend in court."

CENTRAL LABOR UNION.

Short Meeting and For Last Time in the Old Hall.

The Central Labor Union met Tuesday evening at 1034 O street, but it will not meet there again. It was the last meeting in the old building. When the building on the corner was removed to make room for the new Little block, it sounded the death knell of the old building in which the central body has met so long, and it has been condemned. The next meeting of the central body, which occurs on Tuesday, September 10, will be held in Brus's hall. In the meantime an effort will be made to secure a regular rate for Carpenters' hall.

Little business of importance came before the meeting. Charley Bowen, proprietor of the Pioneer barber shop, presented a grievance against the action of the local barbers' union in arbitrarily raising the prices to be charged the public. The central body, of which Mr. Bowen was long a faithful member, listened to his grievance, but decided that it had no jurisdiction in the premises, and could not have until the local brought the matter to the body for adjudication. The matter, however, brought to light the fact that several of the boss barbers had combined to force the open shop. The facts about this will be found in the department devoted to the local Barbers' Union.

It was reported that all arrangements had been made for Labor Day, and that there was every indication that the celebration would be a success. Mr. Griffith, who is largely interested in the concessions at Capital Beach, appeared before the meeting to offer a proposition to hold the celebration at the Beach, but the central body decided that it had no control of the matter, and the committeemen present thought it best not to interfere with arrangements already made.

The announcement that the Citizens' Street Railway Co. had donated $20 towards defraying the expenses of the celebration was greeted with applause.

A RIGHTEOUS DECISION.

Union Scale of Wages the Just Basis of Remuneration.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the portrait and platform of Walter A. Leese, who is a candidate before the republican primaries for the nomination as county judge. In this connection The Wageworker desires to recall a little fact in history, which will very plainly set forth Mr. Leese's attitude towards organized labor.

Some ten or eleven years ago, while Mr. Leese was a justice of the peace in Lincoln, a member of Lincoln Typographical Union No. 209 brought suit before him against a publishing corporation for wages earned. The defense was that the man had been paid enough, but the plaintiff set forth that he was a member of the union and entitled to the union scale of wages. The amount involved—the difference between the amount paid and the union scale demanded—was less than $3.

Mr. Leese decided that the plaintiff was entitled to recover, holding that the union scale of wages was the "prevailing scale" and that in the absence of any definite agreement as to wages the union scale for that particular craft should be paid. The case was appealed to the district court and the decision rendered by Justice Leese was upheld.

This little bit of history should recommend Mr. Leese to the union voters of Lancaster county.

WESTERN SUPPLY COMPANY.

That Lincoln is assuming a fixed and undeniable front rank position in the commercial world is evidenced by the numerous enterprises which have during their few years of existence become unqualified successes. This fact is especially true among the large wholesale and manufacturing concerns.

Every year adds to our now excellent railroad facilities and where a few years ago for lack of these we could not successfully compete with Omaha, Sioux City and St. Joseph, we can now meet them on an equal footing. What has been accomplished along this line has only been made possible by the character of the men who have had the growth and progress of Lincoln in their hands. Their untiring efforts have gained for them the rank they now take. Out of the numerous examples which might be cited there stands out a notable incident, that of the Western Supply Company, wholesalers of all kinds of plumbing supplies. Only the insiders fully appreciate the relentless competition in this line and this fact only adds more credit to the men who have made this what it is today.

From an unpretentious start in 1892 they have had a gradual but healthful growth, reaching the high water mark, the past year with sales of $300,000 to their credit.

They are at the present time represented on the road by five salesmen, Mr. Fairman, F. E. Chapman, W. L. Hunt, R. H. Ritch, and John Fees, who cover their territory several times each year.

Mrs. Gus Swanson and daughter visited in Eagle several days this week.

It is reported that a new daily paper is to be launched in Chicago September 1.

The latest injunction against organized labor has been issued in West Virginia. Unionists are prohibited from aiding electrical workers in forming an organization. What next?
