

Citizens Railway Company

CHAS. H. COX, General Manager. General Offices: Fraternity Building, Lincoln, Neb.

ALEX BERGER, President

I. M. RAYMOND, Vice-President

L. E. WETTLING, Secretary

I. H. SMITH, Treasurer

DIRECTORS

J. E. MILLER W. E. SHARP F. M. WOODS

R. E. MOORE W. C. WILSON

I. M. RAYMOND F. M. HALL T. P. KENNARD

S. W. BURNHAM W. T. BOGGS

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

ALEX BERGER

C. T. BOGGS

R. M. MOORE

M. W. WOODS

W. E. SHARP

LIST OF STOCKHOLDERS

Alex Berger
F. D. Levering
C. G. Crittenden
L. E. Wettling
L. P. Funkhouser
J. E. Miller
W. E. Sharp
J. H. Smith
E. J. Hainer
A. O. Faulkner
F. M. Hall
Chas. Stewart
L. A. Ricketts
T. P. Kennard
M. W. Woods
C. T. Boggs

Walter Unland
A. R. Talbot
I. A. Westerfield
E. Collins
C. J. Bills
E. D. Gould
S. H. Burnham
Geo. H. Clark
I. M. Raymond
H. O. Barber & Sons
A. W. Field
H. K. Burkett
Geo. J. Woods
N. E. Foster
W. C. Phillips
E. J. Waddle

H. Herpolsheimer
S. M. Caffyn
L. J. Herzog
J. L. Kellogg

Citizens Railway Company

What does this mean? It means just this. That this company has expended more than Two Hundred Thousand Dollars ($200,000.00) of Lincoln money in the past twelve months bettering the street car facilities of this city and by so doing have been the means of placing in cold storage many of the antiquated street cars formerly used on lines not controlled by us, as well as causing noticeable improvements in other directions.

Nearly Eighteen Thousand Dollars ($18,000.00) per month, or almost Six Hundred Dollars ($600.00) per day for every day during the past year has been invested in permanent street car improvements by this company in the city of Lincoln and we are pleased to be able to say that the public has substantially manifested their appreciation of our efforts and by a continuation of the patronage that we have enjoyed since the opening of the various lines now giving service to our citizens, and with the further co-operation of the public, we will make or cause to be made other such permanent improvements that will give our people as good a street car system as may be found in any city of this size in the United States.

We will venture the statement, notwithstanding the opposition displayed by some people interested in another street railway company, that within the next twelve months an interchangeable transfer on all lines of the city will be in effect as well as the sale of six tickets for 25 cents, which may be purchased of conductors on the cars and with ten school tickets for a quarter.

We need the further support of all loyal citizens of this city in order that we may carry on this work, and with it there is no doubt but what the results will be satisfactory to everyone who has the best interests of the city at heart. Glance at the list of stockholders of this company and see if they are not, in your opinion representative business men whose every effort would be directed in further development of the city.

LIST OF STOCKHOLDERS

S. W. Burnham
J. L. Kennard
W. T. Van Dorn
Miller & Paine
August Hagenow
A. J. Sawyer
J. C. Harpham
A. S. Raymond
R. E. Moore
W. V. Whitten
H. H. Wilson
J. H. Harley
E. Marshall
C. W. Sanford
W. C. Wilson
S. A. Foster

John B. Wright
F. M. Woods
A. H. Buckstaff
Mrs. W. D. Fitz Gerald
E. B. Stephenson
R. S. Young
H. S. Freeman
W. H. Ferguson
C. A. Smith
H. B. Treat
W. J. C. Kenyon
J. K. Honeywell
G. E. Haskell
M. W. Folsom
O. P. Wilson

Louis J. Siekman
M. S. Whedon
H. B. Grainger
Geo. W. Holmes

NOTICE

SPECIAL WATCH SALE FOR FAIR WEEK
Don't fail to get my prices before buying elsewhere

Fred Gardner Jeweler
1006 O Street

STATE FAIR VISITORS

We Extend You a Cordial Invitation to visit our store

SARTOR JEWELRY CO.
139 South 13th St.

DEFEATED BY OWN PLAN

The members of the Bar Association who prostituted that organization to their own selfish ends are beginning to realize that they have made a grievous mistake. It is being impressed upon their minds that the public, which is usually fair-minded, resents the attempt of a few lawyers to vent their personal spleen and at the same time dictate the judicial nominees. A very little investigation will bear out the statement that the men responsible for the Bar Association nominations were not actuated by a desire to make the best possible selections, but by a desire to prevent one or two candidates from being considered. In short the Bar Association did not nominate Frost, Cornish and Tuttle because the association loved them more, but because the association loved a couple of other candidates much less.

A majority of the lawyers who attended that meeting are republicans and most of them love to class themselves as "Roosevelt republicans." Now if there is anything that Roosevelt stands for with all his heart and soul, it is the "square deal," and for men who claim to be Roosevelt republicans to frame up such an unfair, untruthful Bar Association convention is little short of a downright insult to the president.

The Wageworker reiterates that it has nothing to say against the legal ability or judicial fairness of either Judge Frost or Judge Cornish. But those two gentlemen did not add anything to their reputations as jurists and fair-minded citizens by accepting the nominations handed out by a coterie of lawyers who used them to vent their own spleen.

The mere fact that a man is a lawyer does not endow him with omnipotence, omnipresence or infallibility. His sheepskin does not confer upon him the right to select the candidates for judicial positions. And in view of the primary law, for which most citizens fought, it was the acme of impudence and insolence for the lawyers to meet and arrogate to themselves the right to even suggest who the judicial candidates should be. Lawyers have no more interest in the judiciary than other citizens.

When Judge Waters refused to allow his name to go before that Bar Association convention he made a manly and independent stand. He demonstrated that he was perfectly willing to test his case before the people and let them decide the question at an open primary. It showed him to be a man who was willing to give the new primary law a fair trial without any subterfuge, and without any bald-dash such as that indulged in by the eminent gentlemen who used the Bar Association to work their own personal ends. It is because of this independence and his willingness to let the people decide, that the Wageworker is supporting Judge Waters. His nomination will be a deserved rebuke to the Bar Association and especially to those members of the association who pose as good citizens but are never loath to use their friends to vent a personal spite. A vote for Judge Waters is a vote for an independent man, and at the same time a rebuke to the insolent and arrogant action of the Bar Association. This should be sufficient for every man who carries a union card and believes in fair play.

ELECTRICAL WORKERS.

Recruiting Their Numbers and Making Rapid Progress in Lincoln.

A. N. Ireland, district organizer of the Electrical Workers, has been in Lincoln for several days, quietly working among the non-union members of the craft. The local is much pleased with the results of his work. Thursday night the local held an open meeting which was attended by a number of electrical workers who are not members of the union, and at this meeting Mr. Ireland and others briefly but plainly set forth the objects and aims of the organization. As a result of Mr. Ireland's work here the local has gained in membership and has renewed its zeal along union lines.

Last week Mr. Ireland organized a local at Beatrice, and next Sunday will return to that city to help the men get started. He has also visited Hastings, Holdrege and other western Nebraska cities and has secured a number of applications for membership. He has hopes of eventually organizing locals in those cities.

Work in Lincoln continues to be good—much better than the average of the past three years. Telephone and street railway extensions continue to call for men, and the tremendous building boom keeps up at a rate that keeps the organization busy supplying men.

Mr. Wageworker

Lend me your ear, I want to whisper in it this word of advice—DON'T WORK FOR A LANDLORD all your life—get a home of your own and on the advance, in Lincoln real-estate. I can sell you 50-foot front lots with water and sewer accessible for $300 to $400. In this way you can get a home with modern luxuries for a very low price. See me about them at once as something is happening near them that is sure to increase their value soon.

Make Money

A Big Snap

Very nice looking well located home, 8 rooms, hard pine finish good large barn, corner lot, trees, everything up in good shape, $2,600. Cant build the house for the price.

Brand new, pretty 5-room cottage on high, nice lot, city water in sink, walled up cellar, now vacant $1,600. Terms.

I have other good snaps.

Talk with Fielding

136 South 15th Street.

The best glove made for railroading, bridge building and mechanical work of all kinds. Made of best horse hide and calf skin leather. Every man who wears leather gloves should secure a pair of the HARDY gloves.

Manufactured by

Deputy Spangler Hat Co.

Wholesaler of Fine Hats, Caps and Gloves, Lincoln, Neb.