A PRINTER "DOPE SHEET"

Frank Kennedy (nee Sadie Maguire), THE Executive Council, and William Mallett Maupin, the Most Worshipped Secretary of the Benevolent Order of Zoos (Zoos meaning vipers, Buzzards and other zoological specimens), continue their unseemly controversy in a matter calculated to bring great humiliation and discredit and lack of Harmony to the loyal Vipers and Buzzards.

Most Worshipped President George Wilnot Harris seems to have got cold feet and fails to put forth any effort to restore Harmony (see L. C. S.) to these officials of the Benevolent Order.

As the Senior Benevolent Viper, we demand that the Most Worshipped President George Wilnot Harris at once restore Harmony. Failure to comply with this demand, and within a reasonable time, will be construed as contumacious neglect of duty, and his office will be vacated.

As an Associate Benevolent Buzzard, we demand that the Most Worshipped Secretary instantly retract, withdraw, skin back and apologize for his reference to us two weeks ago in the same paragraph in which he spoke of near-vipers. Failure to do so will work a forfeiture of his authority to collect per capita tax. This is to the end that Harmony may be restored.

As the Passed Zoos, we demand that THE Executive Council back up on its attempt to grab the per capita tax and other perquisites and do a little viping and buzzing against the common enemy, and thereby restore Harmony. Failure to immediately comply with this demand will automatically operate in the declaring "dark" of THE Executive Council, for the purpose of restoring Harmony.

SHELBY SMITH,

Senior Viper and Associate Buzzard.

Shelby Poo-bah Smith needn't think he can take cards in this game without putting up his ante. The Most Worshipped Secretary, which is us, hasn't received his per capiter yet, and until he remits he will have to do his viping all by himself. The Most Worshipped Secretary, which is us again, will, however, apologize to Shelby Poo-bah Smith, although Smith has no apology coming. The Most Worshipped Secretary, which is us some more and forever, did not mean to call him a "near-viper", but the intelligent compositor neglected to his comma key and that made it read wrong. Smith is the great grand-daddy of all the Vipers and Buzzards, and if he will only remit time to sit at his feet and gather wisdom in the art of viping. But we insist on the per capiter.

The Most Worshipped Secretary has not yet heard from THE executive council concerning our last deft, but is expecting a roar pretty soon. As soon as it comes we will immediately issue official notice that the salary proposition insofar as it relates to THE executive council will not appear on the ballot, while the salary proposition insofar as it relates to the Most Worshipped Secretary will appear three times, with a footnote explaining that the proposed increase in salary will not result in an increase of the per capiter.

It is unofficially reported that the Crowell Publishing Co., Springfield, O., publishers of the Ladies Home Company, have capitulated and made peace with Springfield Typographical Union. It is to be hoped that the report is true this time.

A Government Printing Office man, an ex-delegate at that, received a great setback while recently visiting his old home in Pennsylvania. He was sightseeing in a big rolling mill and had received a general introduction as a man from Washington. "Where do you work in Washington?" asked a big, husky son of Vulcan, one of a little knot who had gathered around the visitor. "In the Government Printing Office," was the reply. "Hell! Scab, eh?" snarled big husky, turning his back and walking off. Hope that isn't the way they regard us everywhere.—Washington Trades Unionist.

The bulletin President Lynch sent out regarding the recent meeting of the "Teapot" at Niagara Falls was a "peach." Very appropriately the bulletin was enclosed in a heavy black border.

It is reported that the wife of a Lincoln printer wants to join the Auxillary, but the husband will not allow it. Guess who.

Union printers are requested to remain away from Fremont. A strike is on against the Hammond Printing Co. Labor exchanges please copy.

If Public Printer Stillings' ears are as long as they would seem to be, judging by his actions, certainly they are burning at a rate calculated to call out the Washington fire department. The way the Washington Trades Unionist is going after him is something awful. Stillings, who is an appointee of President Roosevelt, was secretary of the union hating "Teapot" when he was appointed. He is a martinet, utterly without ability to manage men, and since assuming direction of the g. p. o. he has succeeded in sadly demoralizing the force.

Al Edmonson, who has printed in Omaha ever since the Missouri river has been running under the Union Pacific bridge, was a victim of a joke at the hands of the writer some ten years ago. The writer sneaked a line out of a "take" Al had dumped, and with a leadcutter cut off a cap "T" at the beginning of a sentence and deftly inserted it again upside down. This occurred on Saturday night about 11 o'clock. Al expressed wonder that the machine would cast a line with a letter upside down, and his language was somewhat lurid. But he made the correction and handed the proof to the galleyboy. Sunday afternoon George Taylor, the World-Herald machinist, dropped in to the composing room for something and saw Al at work on the machine. The machine was fairly stripped and Al, covered with grease and perspiration, was carefully scanning each part.

"What a thunder are you doing?" queried Taylor.

"I'm trying to find out how this blankety-blank machine can cast a cap 'T' upside down," replied Al, "and I'm going to find out if I have to take the dod-blasted thing all apart."

Then, in order to have the machine in commission for the night's work, Taylor gave the snap away. But the author of the joke felt it necessary to dodge the irate Al for a week.

February 25, 1908, will be the "silver anniversary" of Lincoln Typographical Union No. 209. What's the matter with celebrating the event in a manner somewhat out of the ordinary? And what's the matter with a banquet, followed by a ball, with our international officers as guests? And again, what's the matter with taking the subject up at the October meeting and beginning the work of planning for the event? Wouldn't it be a great thing for about 100 printers most of them with their wives, to sit down at a banquet table graced by the presence of the international officers, together with the employing printers and their wives? Come on, boys!

Frank Coffey came down from Fremont last Friday, returning to his post of duty Saturday morning. He reports the situation as being encouraging. Several printers who were induced to go to Fremont were induced to depart without reporting at the Hammond establishment. The job department is tied up, but by the aid of two or three "rats" the duty is gotten out in pretty "bum" shape each day. "Doc" Stanford, who worked for the Hammonds at a meagre salary for several years, and who joined the union when it was organized, "ratted" and went into the Tribune office. His reason for "rattin'" is so unique that it deserves the widest publicity.

He was offered $18 a week to "rat," and as that was about $6 a week more than the Hammonds had ever paid him, he accepted. He says it gave him an opportunity to make the Hammonds pay him for a lot of work he had formerly done for them. Wouldn't that jar you?

ANOTHER RUMOR.

Traction Company Employees Hear It And It Sounds Very Familiar.

The first of the week the daily papers printed a rumor that the Traction company employees were about to be granted an increase in pay. "The rumor, however, could not be verified," remarked a conductor when asked if there was any basis for the rumor. "We've been talking a little about organizing, and I guess it has reached the ears of the big chiefs. I'll believe we are going to get a raise when I receive official notification of it."

A raise of a half-cent an hour would mean that the highest paid man in the car service was still receiving less than the first-year men in Omaha and St. Joseph, where the men are organized. It would also mean that the four-year men were getting from 5 to 6 cents an hour less than the first year men in the cities like Detroit, Buffalo, Louisville and Cleveland, where organization is strong.

Meanwhile the "Johnnies-Afraid-of-Their-Jobs" will continue to fight organization, and tremble with fear every time the manager or the president shows up on the car.
