JOHN MITCHELL WILL QUIT.
Head of Miners' Union Forced by Ill Health to Step Down.
John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America, has announced that he will retire when his term expires on April 1. In this week's issue of the United Mine Workers' Journal, the official organ of the union, he says he will not stand for re-election.
When the news of Mitchell's decision reached Wilkesbarre and other points in the anthracite regions yesterday it caused much regret among the miners. In the anthracite, even more than in the bituminous coal fields, Mitchell was idolized by the miners for his efficient leadership in the great strikes of 1900 and 1902. No other man who has ever headed the miners' organization was as popular among the rank and file as is Mitchell.
President Mitchell urges the condition of his health as his reason for quitting. A few months ago he underwent an operation for a strangulated hernia, and it is said that a second operation will be necessary.
Mr. Mitchell writes as follows:
To the Officers and Members of the U. M. W. of A. Greeting:
Inasmuch as notices calling for nominations are being sent out from the office of the secretary, and in order that all local unions and members thereof may be in position to express their choice for the office of president, I herewith announce that I shall not be a candidate for the presidency of your organization.
I am prompted to arrive at this decision because I believe that I no longer am well enough to give your interests the consideration their importance demands.
I shall explain in greater detail in my annual report to our coming convention the causes which impel me to give up the high office to which you have elected me for so many years.
I thank you for the confidence you have reposed in me, and I beg you to believe that the advancement of my craft has been my highest ambition.
It is said that Mitchell's choice for his successor is W. B. Wilson, secretary-treasurer of the organization. Wilson was elected to congress last November and will take his seat at the coming session. Thomas L. Lewis, vice-president of the organization, has been a candidate several times for the presidency, but his policy differs from Mitchell's.

The anthracite men probably will nominate Thomas D. Nicholls of Scranton, who also was elected to congress last fall.
A difference of opinion among the union's leaders is said to have something to do with Mitchell's retirement. Mitchell favors restoring the interstate agreement in the central competitive field which was abrogated at Indianapolis in March, 1905. Lewis favors separate agreements for each state.
Mitchell was first elected president in 1898 and has been re-elected each year since that time. It is said he was anxious to retire a year ago, but did not want to see Lewis succeed him, and as Lewis appeared the strongest candidate then, Mitchell decided to stay in.
President Mitchell submitted to an operation for appendicitis last week, and he has not rallied from it as his friends hoped. He is still very weak and his condition is giving his friends great anxiety.

BEST IN TOWN.
Everything considered, The Wage-worker is the best advertising medium in town. Last week The Wage-worker man advertised in a two-line local that he had a base burner to rent for the winter. The paper was delivered in Lincoln on the first delivery Saturday morning. Before noon Saturday there had been six calls about the stove. At 7 p. m. there had been seventeen by actual count. On Sunday there were nine more, making twenty-six in all. Monday there were three more, on Tuesday three more, and on Wednesday one more. Up to Thursday morning there had been thirty-two answers to the two-line local.

JUST BECAUSE.
Oklahoma comes nearer being the "land of the free and the home of the brave" than any other state in the union. This is because organized labor took an active part in framing and adopting its constitution.—Buffalo Progress.
