

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

MAY LET FORTUNE SLIP

James Armstrong Chanler, descendant of John Jacob Astor, brother of the lieutenant governor of New York, Columbia, '83, chum of the late Stanford White, art patron, and quondam husband of Amelie Rives, the author of "The Quick or the Dead," goes about free and untrammelled in 45 states of the union. In the forty-sixth state, New York, where property interests of a million dollars in value are held in his name, his presence would be the signal for quick descent by the legal authorities and incarceration in Bloomingdale insane asylum. To regain the right to legal sanity and to recover the property, which is now administered by a committee, he has instituted suit in New York state. He must attend in person, but he says he would rather give up his million dollar estate than be returned to an asylum.

Mr. Chanler is a son of John Winthrop Chanler, who died in 1877. His mother was Miss Ward, a granddaughter of John Jacob Astor. His brothers are Lieut.-Gov. Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler of New York, Congressman William Astor Chanler and Winthrop Chanler. To his brothers and his cousins, the Astors, Chanler attributes his troubles, and the book which he published, "Four Years Behind the Bars of Bloomingdale; or, The Bankruptcy Law in New York," was a bitter attack upon his relatives and upon the conduct of his keepers while he was under restraint.

When Chanler was 28 years of age he took in marriage Amelie Rives, who stood at the height of her public fame by her daring novel, "The Quick or the Dead." The hero of the story, Jock Dering, was Chanler.

Married life to the couple was happy—for a time. Then came the Dakota divorce, which Chanler did not resist. Mrs. Chanler shortly afterward married Prince Pierre Troubetzkoy, a member of the Russian nobility. Then came Chanler's commitment to the Bloomingdale asylum. Finally he escaped and went to Lynchburg, Va., where he remarried six months before his identity was discovered. In Virginia the law declared him sane and fully capable of taking care of his own business. Not so in New York, however. The trustee refused to recognize the Virginia decree.

In his Virginia home Mr. Chanler is a devoted horseman and a close student. His divorced wife, the Princess Troubetzkoy, was in a private sanitarium for some time, under treatment for a complaint similar to that alleged against Mr. Chanler.

RUN OVER BY AN ENGINE.

Young Man at Louisville Has Narrow Escape From Death.

N. Vaughn Hardy, time-keeper for the National Stone company at Louisville, had a remarkable escape from death in the quarry yards, just east of town, on Tuesday evening. He was standing on the front footboard of a switch engine moving about ten miles an hour, and in stepping around the bumper missed his footing and fell between the rails. The engine passed entirely over him, doubling him up and rolling him like a ball, and lacerating his flesh and bruising them terribly. A deep ragged wound ten inches long extending around back of the left thigh and cutting dangerously near the bladder and intestines is the most serious hurt and invites dangerous complications. No part of his person escaped abrasions, bruises and contusions. Drs. Lewis and Worthman dressed his wounds in one of the quarry buildings and brought him to town. He is in a hopeful but by no means safe condition. It will be weeks before he can be removed to his home, and months before he reaches a point of recovery that will permit him to return to work.

His parents were summoned from St. Michael, Neb., where his father is agent of the Burlington railroad, and are at his bedside. The stone company officials are devoted in their care of him, and the Modern Woodmen of the local lodge, of which he is a much-loved member, are unremitting in their attention.

For the Housewife.

Pencil marks on new linen or muslin clothing should be carefully erased before washing, as frequently hot water or soap will set the mark. Old tea and coffee stains on table linen, it is said, will yield to a treatment of soaking in glycerine for 12 hours, followed by thorough washing in cold soap suds.

Pen Used in Italian Schools.

The pen prescribed for Italian schools is long and pointed, pierces three times above the crack.

Cause of Mutton's Woolly Taste.

The woolly taste in mutton is said to be due to slow dressing the carcass.

GIVE IT TO HIM.

A Nebraska man says Mr. Bryan is good, wise and honorable, but he won't vote for Bryan, he says, because he doesn't abuse labor unions. That Nebraskan should be given an opportunity to vote for Parry or H. Grey Otis.—San Francisco Star.
