The financial transactions of the Cigar Makers' International Union for the year 1907, including the amount on hand on January 1, 1907, amounted to $1,538,828.18.

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway has been fined $1,000 on a motion of the attorney general of Wisconsin on the charge of violating the eight-hour law for railroad employes. The specific charge was that a telegrapher worked overtime. The road declares it will carry the case to the United States courts.

Much favorable comment has been expressed throughout the country since the announcement made by the International Typographical union some time ago that it had inaugurated a system of supplemental trade education, under the direction of a commission created by the Hot Springs convention for such purposes, with headquarters in Chicago, Ill.

According to the forty-eighth annual report of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners of the United Kingdom, the total membership was, at the close of 1907, 269,735, showing an increase over 1905 and 1906. There was also an increase of five in the number of branches, the total being 910 at the commencement of the present year in the United Kingdom of colonies, and in the United States.

More than 500 managers of Chicago's places of amusement, including theaters, concert halls, nickel shows and public amusement parks, recently received circular letters of warning from State Factory Inspector Edgar T. Davies as his first step in a crusade against these places. Parents are also to be held to account by the chief inspector when it is found they permit the children to work in these places when they are under 16 years of age.

COMPARE THE PLANKS.

One Frank and Fair, the Other a Meaningless Jumble.

We submit the above plank (the injunction plank) in the platform adopted by the democratic national convention for the consideration of all laboring men. For our part we do not see that any more could be said. If the platform had been one on which a distinctly labor candidate was intended to run it could not be more in keeping with the wishes and desires of organized labor. Mr. Bryan himself is a man universally liked by the laboring people, and running on the platform which has been adopted he should receive the favorable consideration of all toilers. Compare this plank with the garbled one placed in the republican platform, and then make your choice. The same plank was offered the Chicago convention by Mr. Gompers, but it was too favorable to labor to suit the ideas of the republican leaders, and they substituted in its stead a meaningless jumble of words which it is to be hoped will fool no one, much less the men of organized labor. Mr. Bryan has always borne the grand appellation of the "Great Commoner," and we are sure that he deserves it. Making his fight with such good-will toward the common people proves his consideration for them and recognizes in them a power which he is desirous of summoning to his aid in the great battle which he is about to wage.—Baltimore Labor Leader.

THE ELECTRICAL WORKERS.

They, Too, Are Bound to Take Part in the Political Game.

The Electrical Workers are about evenly divided as to party affiliations, but they are a unit in their unionism. For that reason they have been agitating the matter of boosting some good union men into the legislature, and it is a cinch that they will get behind their brother, O. M. Rudy, who has been endorsed by the Central Labor Union.

Work in the electric line continues to be good, and there is a fine prospect.

The Electrical Workers promise something out of the ordinary for the Labor Day demonstration.

Cachinnation.

He told us our only salvation Was voting for Taft. But much to his perturbation The union men laughed.

KERN IN LINCOLN.

Vice-Presidential Candidate Meets a Number of the Boys.

John W. Kern, vice-presidential candidate of the democratic party, was in Lincoln several days this week, and while here met a number of the union men of the city. Monday afternoon he felt the need of a shave and asked to be directed to a good union barber shop. H. C. Peate of the Typographical Union took the distinguished visitor in charge and piloted him to a shop that proudly displayed a union shop card. Mr. Kern met a number of railroad men in a local cigar store and impressed them favorably.

"He's a good mixer, all right, all right," was the general comment among those who met him.

THE PRESSMEN.

Motors Going Again and Work Resuming Normal Proportions.

A goodly number of the pressmen took enforced vacations several days last week owing to the flood. But since the current has been turned up, again the boys have been making up for lost time. This is campaign year and the prospect for a big run of work the political game, not as partisans is unusually good.

The pressmen, too, are getting into but as union men. They will be found on hand and willing to work when the time comes.

Notice of Petition.

Wise Talk by the Office Boy

Wise Talks by the Office Boy. Cheer up, Mary! Peaches are ripe, and so are fruit jars. It's time to think of preserving something besides your beauty. Mary. You know you can go to the beauty doctor any time and give her cards and spades (get your spades of us) but you can't always put up nice fruit, because it isn't always looking the gift jars in the mouth. What I'm trying to tell you is to advise you not to have any gift jars, or cheap old style jars, that may put you to a lot of trouble in the fall. Just come and see the new Schram Schram automatic jars, and let us explain the improvements in jarring things. Then you will rise and say, "Blessings on the man who invented that jar, even if he is a homely old thing." A man can't be pretty, and be an inventor, so don't expect Mr. Schram to make good on the line of beauty, but thank your stars he didn't invent bloomers, or something you wouldn't care for. I have to tell you a lot about fruit jars this month, because we have to sell a lot or sell out. It beats all how hard times would be if we didn't call her bluff, but cans or jars, we are ready for you. WILLIE, with Knudson & Lundholm, 118 So. 12th.
