TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION.

Some News Notes About the Men Who Chronicle Events.

Lincoln Typographical Union No. 209 will meet one week from next Sunday—the day before Labor Day. The committee appointed to arrange for the union's participation in the Labor Day celebration is presumed to have performed its duty. Its report will necessarily come pretty late in the game.

Charley Barngrover, who has printed in Lincoln for the last eighteen years, drew his card last week and departed for Loveland, Colorado, where he will operate a machine in a one-mill plant. The best wishes of the "gang" accompany him. His family will remain in Lincoln for a while.

Lincoln printers hope to march under a "scrumptious" new banner on Labor Day. The matter is in the hands of the Auxiliary, which is in the habit of doing things just right. And the banner will bear the union label, too.

President Ingraham is in receipt of some printed matter from Humphrey O'Sullivan which is interesting in the extreme.

The Star chapel looked like a real workshop the first of the week. Getting out a magnificent special edition taxed the resources of the shop, but the "Ad Alley" made good. The Star's special edition showed a big lot of artistic work.

Bert Pentzer has been off duty for several days, rustleating on his extensive "Kinkaid ranch" in Cherry county. "Professor" Hall looked after the Star mills while Pentzer was absent.

"Sherm" Foxworthy, ex-president of No. 209, and now manager of the Western Newspaper Union, cast discredit upon The Wagetworker man's ability as a fisherman. "Sherm" was shown to the limit. If you do not believe it ask him.

"Ye editor" jumped town last Saturday night and spent Sunday at Big Lake, Mo. He brought home a goodly catch of fish, too. Prove it if asked.

The Allied Printing Trades section will head the second division of the Labor Day parade, with the Capitol City Band to furnish the music. The printing trades will form on L street east of Eleventh. Remember, the parade starts at 10 o'clock.

There will be a lot of important business to transact at the next meeting, and every member should make it a point to be on hand.

There has been lots of work during the past week or two, but there has been a surplus of men to turn it out. The "subs" have been numerous in both machine and job shops.

CENTRAL LABOR UNION.

A Poorly Attended Meeting Results in a Short Business Session.

For some reason or other the attendance at the Tuesday evening meeting of the Central Labor Union was the smallest for months. Perhaps it was due to the fact that The Wagetworker neglected to announce it the week before. President Rudy was absent from the city so Vice-President Quick officiated. Only routine business was transacted.

The Labor Day program was announced and the delegates urged to go back to their locals and arouse some more enthusiasm. J. W. Dickson, candidate for a republican senatorial nomination, was present and spoke a few words. Others urged the necessity of union men getting behind Dickson's candidacy and doing some lively hustling between now and sundown next Tuesday.

Delegates from the Tailors' Union made a brief report of conditions in their present controversy. The story of assaults on non-union tailors was branded as a fabrication and told for the purpose of prejudicing the public.

TAFT AND LITTLEFIELD.

How the Republican Candidate Bid Defiance to Organized Labor.

Mr. Union Man, do you remember when we were trying our best to defeat Congressman Littlefield of Maine, that arch enemy of trades unionism? Every effort was put forth by the American Federation of Labor to encompass Littlefield's defeat.

William Howard Taft, republican candidate for president, went into Littlefield's district and exerted every effort to secure Littlefield's re-election.

The Chicago Record-Herald is a pretty good republican paper, isn't it? Well, Mr. Taft went into Littlefield's district on September 5, 1907, and in its report of Taft's speech the Chicago Record-Herald of September 6 had the following headline over a Bath (Me.) dispatch:

"TAFT BIDS DEFIANCE TO ORGANIZED LABOR."

How do you like it, Mr. Union Man? "Taft bids defiance to Organized Labor!" And Taft is receiving the heartly support of VanCleave, of Post, of Parry, and every other hater of organized labor.

Under which flag, Mr. Union Man?

SHEET METAL WORKERS.

Seventy Men in Omaha Strike for Saturday Half Holiday.

The sheet metal workers of Omaha asked their employers for a Saturday half-holiday and were refused. They said they would take it.

"All right," said the employers. "But you need not come back Monday."

The men took the Saturday afternoon off, and they did not show up for work Monday, knowing that they were locked out. They did not ask pay for the half-holiday, but they insisted on time and a half if they worked then. This was refused. The ground of refusal was that this is the busy season and every man is needed. The idea of adding some more men seems never to have entered the heads of the bosses.

The employers are not trying to get new men, and the locked out employes are putting in their time at the Labor Temple or in fishing. There is a general impression that the difficulty will be amicably adjusted in a short time.

NEW CIGAR FACTORY.

The Lincoln unions have been strengthened this past month by the addition of a new cigar factory at 815 O street. Mr. J. Pepperburg, the owner of this factory, has been operating a union factory at Plattsmouth, Neb., since 1869, and gives employment to between twenty and thirty men. The factory is certainly the most sanitary and best equipped in the west. Members of all the Lincoln unions are invited to visit the factory and get a free smoke of Pepperburg's "Buds."

OF COURSE NOT.

"We do not propose to enter into any controversy with Mr. Dickson," says Rev. L. M. Grigsby, of University Place. Certainly not. After having made a bald misstatement of facts, Rev. Mr. Grigsby wants the incident closed. That is the usual way.

PLEASES A LOT OF US.

The action of the Independence League in endorsing Bryan and Kern, the democratic nominees, is gratifying to the Democratic Schnectady County committee. Following so closely after the action of the Trades Assembly which body also endorsed William Jennings Bryan it looks like a democratic victory in this country next November.—Schnectady (New York) Leader.
