No Need to Suffer Every Day from Backache.

Mrs. Joannah Straw, 526 North Broadway, Canton, S. D., says: "For three years I suffered everything with rheumatism in my limbs and a dull, ceaseless aching in my back. I was weak, languid, broken with headaches and dizzy spells, and the kidney secretions were thick with solids. I was really in a critical condition when I began with Doan's Kidney Pills, and they certainly did wonders for me. Though I am 51 years old, I am as well as the average woman of 50. I work well, eat well and sleep well."

Judge Will Wait and See.
An earnest plea was made by Attorney Charles Pettijohn to Judge Pritchard of the criminal court for leniency to a client who had entered a plea of guilty to larceny. The burden of the attorney's argument was that his client was the father of twins and was tempted to theft in order to feed the mouths of the infants.

"Your honor, I will say frankly," said Mr. Pettijohn in closing, "that if I were the father of twins and needed food for my family, I would not hesitate to go out and steal it."
"Mr. Pettijohn, when you are the father of twins I will consider your proposition," said Judge Pritchard.—Indianapolis News.

Saltng a Diamond Mine.
Howard DuBois, the noted mining engineer, told a good story to the Tech men recently, illustrating the "art" of saltng a diamond mine. The story was told of a man in South Africa who, while walking one day over his property, suggested that they assay some of the soil.

In the search that ensued eight rough diamonds were found and offers began to fly through the air at a rapid rate for the land, when the host's wife called out to her husband: "Why, John, where are the other two?" The sequel of the story was left to the imagination.—Boston Record.

Future Ideal Town.
In the ideal town of the future, as pictured by Sir Oliver Lodge, the houses will have gas for heating by open fires and for cooking, and electricity for lighting. The gas, produced from the coal at the mine, will be sent long distances through pipes, as water is now distributed. It is hoped that the experiment will be tried soon, the burning of crude coal in town being absolutely forbidden, and at least two English towns are already considering the plan. The purification of the air is one of the greatest needs in the improvement of the conditions of city life.

VARIED CAREER OF BILL DAHLEN

BOSTON NATIONAL SHORTSTOP IN NINETEENTH YEAR OF MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL.

PLAYED WITH OLDTIME STARS

"Bad Bill" Broke into Fast Company in 1891, Lining Up with the Chicago Nationals, Where He Remained Eight Years—Still Holds His Own with Youngsters.

Very few fans among the multitude of baseball enthusiasts appreciate the fact that there is on the Boston National team a veteran who has a record scarcely equaled in the annals of major-league baseball.

This player is "Bad Bill" Dahlen, shortstop of the Doves and veteran of many a battlefield during the last decade. Everybody who has followed the game to any extent in this period is as familiar with the name as with the mannerisms of the bad one, and, while quiet and unassuming, he has had a varied experience during his career on the field, and stands to-day as a connecting link between the days of Anson, Lang, Burns, Daly and others who were dazzling stars in the days of yore, with the Wagners, Lajoies and Cobbs of our own time.

Bill is no idle boaster, but has a quiet sense of humor that just sticks out all over him, and, when he falteringly owned up that he was no chicken, he was entering on his nineteenth consecutive year in the major leagues.

"Bad Bill" Dahlen.

he caused a laugh, for, when asked his age, he admitted to 26 years. The old warhorse is as sensitive about his age as a giddy old maid, and refuses to discuss the topic at all. When pressed he casually puts his hand to his head and feels that increasing spot where the hair once used to grow.

Some people are apt to scoff at these old-timers, but a look at the baseball guide of last year tells the old story. For instance, Dahlen played in seven less games than the mighty Honus Wagner, yet he had nearly a hundred more assists than the big Dutchman, which says that William the Naughty must have covered a little ground during the season of 1908.

But he has been so long in the game that he covers his position mechanically, and his continued experience gives him that ease of movement that comes with keeping at one continued line of exercise.

It was in 1891 that Dahlen broke into the fast set. After a short year in minor league baseball in New York state, he found himself tied up with the Chicago National league team in that year, and under the leadership of Old Pop Anson, at that time captain and manager. During his first year with the Windy City outfit, he played third base and the outfield, and only once or twice was shifted to short.

The next year, though he started the season at this position, and made such a record that he remained a fixture in the place and stayed at it for the remainder of his connection with Chicago.

For eight consecutive years he wore the word Chicago on the uniform, and in his last year with that team was made captain. But foxy Ned Hanlon was then collecting an aggregation of stars in Brooklyn, and Dahlen was traded for Gene Demontville, and became a member of the famous Brooklyn outfit that included stars like Jennings, Keeler and Keeley.

Bill always thought pretty well of Brooklyn and was right in his own diggings for the following five years, playing both third base and shortstop while on Hanlon's team.

Then another shift in the continuous juggle of baseball lottery took him across the river to Muggsy McGraw, and in 1904-5-6-7 he was with the Giants, playing his old position of shortstop all the time. In exchange for him Brooklyn got Charlie Bass and Pitcher Jack Cronin and $3,500 in cash. The last move brought the Bad One to the Hub and he has been there since.

It is more than interesting to get a man like Dahlen talking, for he has a fund of anecdotes and interesting data on baseball that would keep you interested for hours. He played with two championship teams—Brooklyn and New York—and has traveled over the length and breadth of this wide country.

PAINT EVERY YEAR.
No One Wants to Do It, But Some Paint Will Wear No Longer.

When you have a job of painting done you don't expect to have it done over again very soon. But to make a lasting job, several things must be taken into consideration—the proper time to paint—the condition of the surface—the kind of materials to use, etc. All these matters are fully covered in the specifications which can be had free by writing National Lead Company, 1902 Trinity Building, New York, and asking for Houseowner's Painting Outfit No. 49. The outfit also includes a book of color schemes for both interior and exterior painting, and a simple instrument for detecting adulteration in the paint materials. The outfit will solve many painting problems for every houseowner.

Meantime while buying paint see that every white lead keg bears the famous Dutch Boy Painter trademark, which is an absolute guarantee of purity and quality. If your paint dealer cannot supply you National Lead Company will see that some one else will.

RASH ALL OVER BOY'S BODY.

Awful, Crusted, Weeping Eczema on Little Sufferer—A Score of Treatments Prove Dismal Failures. Cure Achieved by Cuticura.

"My little boy had an awful rash all over his body and the doctor said it was eczema. It was terrible, and used to water awfully. Any place the water went it would form another sore and it would become crusted. A score or more physicians failed utterly and dismally in their efforts to remove the trouble. Then I was told to use the Cuticura Remedies. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, and before we had used half the Resolvent I could see a change in him. In about two months he was entirely well. George F. Lambert, 139 West Centre St., Mahanoy City, Pa., Sept. 26 and Nov. 4, 1907."

The Way It Appeared to Her.

When she was five years old her aunt took her to church; it was her first experience.

When she got home her mother asked her how she liked the service.

"Oh, well, God was there in a white nightgown, and he didn't speak loud enough for the people to hear what he said; so they kept saying over and over: 'We beswitch thee to let us hear thee, good Lord.' I didn't like it very much."—Judge's Library.

Sheer white goods, in fact, any fine wash goods when new, owe much of their attractiveness to the way they are laundered, this being done in a manner to enhance their textile beauty. Home laundering would be equally satisfactory if proper attention was given to starching, the first essential being good Starch, which has sufficient strength to stiffen, without thickening the goods. Try Defiance Starch and you will be pleasantly surprised at the improved appearance of your work.

A Little Slip.

Rev. Mr. Spicer had for three days enjoyed the telephone which had been his last gift from an admiring parishioner. He had been using it immediately before going to church.

When the time came for him to announce the first hymn, he rose, and with his usual impressive manner, read the words. Then in a crisp, firm tone, he said: "Let us all unite in hymn six double o, sing three."—Youth's Companion.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it has a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
