

UNPROFESSIONAL.

Diner—Have you seen that a doctor intends to inoculate himself with the cholera virus so that he may have the results of the experiment. Isn't that fine?

Proprietor—No, perfectly mad. I call it. Supposing I ate the same meals as my clients.

BOY TORTURED BY ECZEMA

"When my boy was six years old, he suffered terribly with eczema. He could neither sit still nor lie quietly in bed, for the itching was dreadful. He would irritate spots by scratching with his nails and that only made them worse. A doctor treated him and we tried almost everything, but the eczema seemed to spread. It started in a small place on the lower extremities and spread for two years until it very nearly covered the back part of his leg to the knee.

"Finally I got Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills and gave them according to directions. I used them in the morning and that evening, before I put my boy to bed, I used them again and the improvement even in those few hours was surprising, the inflammation seemed to be so much less. I used two boxes of Cuticura Ointment, the same of the Pills and the Soap and my boy was cured. My son is now in his seventeenth year and he has never had a return of the eczema.

"I took care of a friend's child that had eczema on its face and limbs and I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. They acted on the child just as they did on my son and it has never returned. I would recommend the Cuticura Remedies to anyone. Mrs. A. J. Cochran, 1823 Columbia Ave., Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 20, 1909."

CHANCE TO ACQUIRE AFFINITY

Atchison (Kan.) Woman Has an Incomprehensible Willing to Part With.

If there is any woman in this town, or in any other, who sees her affinity in my husband, this is to notify her that she can have him by calling at my home, the Hilltop, Atchison, Kan., at any hour she may choose. He grumbles at his meals, he blows his nose into the grate, he puts his feet on the parlor chairs and his head on the parlor cushions; he tells callers that his father was a poor man, and that he never "had any schooling," he contradicts my statements when I tell of my kinship to the real prominent people, and if I don't watch him he visits with the hired man, and once asked the milkman to dinner! If there is any woman who sees her affinity in HIM, let her hang around my house a few minutes while I ask him for Christmas money. Then let her take him away if she still wants him.—Mrs. Lysander John Appleton.—Atchison Globe.

Very Funny.

Boroughs—Mr. Merchant's out, you say? Why, he had an appointment with me here. That's very funny.

New Office Boy—Yes, sir; I guess he thought it was, too. Any ways he was laughing when he went out.—Catholic Standard and Times.

THE ELECTRICAL WORLD

ELECTRICAL NOTES.

The Ohio state university will conduct a wireless course next year.

There are 4,000 electric lights in the streets of the ancient city of Damascus.

Paris has 62 electric street car lines, carrying 180,000,000 passengers a year.

Greece has so little coal that practically all of its electric power is derived from waterfalls.

The tungsten incandescent lamp is the first artificial light by which all colors can be distinguished.

A six-foot electric kaleidoscope, designed for advertising purposes, is capable of 16,383 changes of design.

The first alarm of fire given by electricity was sounded at Boston on the evening of April 29, 1852.

The Italian government has established a bureau to deal exclusively with the electrification of the state railways, which is making rapid strides.

Acetylene, exploded by an electric spark, is being used for blasting in Germany. It does not scatter the shattered rock as much as dynamite.

English scientists were making substantial progress in the knowledge of the phenomena of electricity a century and a half before Franklin flew his historic kite.

Good results have attended the extension test made in the Chicago public library of the adaptation of the electric ozone generation to ventilating systems of public buildings.

Electricity at last has been applied to the Teddy bear, a Maryland man having patented one that opens its jaws and flashes lights from its eyes, nose and mouth when a battery in its interior is pressed.

REGULATE RAYS BY SCREENS

Any Degree of Artificial Light Can Be Produced by Photographers in Their Studios.

Clear days or cloudy days and any degree of light can now be produced at will by photographers in their own studios. This is through the ingenuity of a Massachusetts man who has invented an apparatus for producing artificial skylight effects. In one corner of the studio, near the ceiling, is an electric light, or some other artificial light, though electricity is better, because steadier. In front of this is a glass partition, hinged in the middle, so that it can be adjusted to vary the angle at which the light strikes it.

In front of this is a series of screens. By changing the angle of the partition and adding or removing screens, almost any light effect can be produced, from the glare of bright sunlight to the shadow of a cloudy day. The illustration shows an electric light bulb, with reflector, so arranged that it can be raised or lowered on cords, behind the partition and increases the possibilities of the apparatus.

New Transformer.

The use of batteries and their attendant inconveniences in the operation of annunciator and bell-ringing systems is dispensed by the invention of a new transformer, by which the necessary current is secured from the ordinary lighting circuits. As the transformer has no moving parts, once fixed it will thereafter require no attention. It is adapted to operate on circuits running from 100 to 130 volts, and is provided with taps giving 6, 12 and 18 volts, so as to meet the requirements of various styles and sizes of bells and buzzers.

Automatic Hoisting Record.

An automatic electric hoisting record, including signals as well as trips, is kept by a new instrument used in a mine of South Africa. As the cage or skip moves up or down, a small disk carrying a needle travels along a strip of paper ruled into time spaces, and thus marks down the time of the trip. Each ring of the signal bell perforates the paper, the number of perforations showing whether the hoisting has followed the signals.

Farm by Electricity.

At the Ramsdell farm in Minot, Me., electricity runs the feeding gear, rings an alarm for the hired hands, operates four clocks, sounds an alarm of chicken thieves and fires, saws wood, runs a threshing machine, separator, corn sheller, grindstone, fanning mill and sewing machine.

ELECTRIC LAMP FOR MINERS

Recent Invention Supersedes Old-Fashioned Light—Operated by Means of Button.

The old-fashioned oil lamp still being used by miners seems soon to be superseded by the electrical lamp, a recent design being shown in the illustration. It can readily be imagined that the general use of the electrical lamp would mean to the miner—the elimination of the horrible accidents of daily occurrence due to explosions from contact of the oil lamp with invisible gases. That electrical lamp shown here is operated in conjunction with a specially designed cap, in which is stored an electric battery. Light is furnished by a small incandescent lamp surrounded by a reflector on the fore part of the cap. The light is operated by a push button secured to the under surface of the visor, where it is constantly in convenient reach of the wearer. The cap and attached lamp are light in weight and in no way interfere with free movement of the arms. The battery is readily recharged at little expense. In fact, the cost of maintenance is only slightly in excess of the lamp, the greater cost being the initial expenditure for the apparatus.

Electric Lamp in Cap.

BUTTERS-IN HURT WIRELESS

Daily Interference by Thoughtless or Malicious Amateurs—Stations May Be Licensed.

It may surprise some readers to learn that the serious business of wireless telegraphy is daily interfered with by thoughtless or malicious amateurs. Every inventor of a new system is anxious to "tune" his apparatus so that each receiver shall get messages from its corresponding transmitter, and only from that; but the state of things, which may be looked upon as the millennium of wireless, has not yet arrived, consequently the regular stations are more or less at the mercy of the casual interperimeter. An electrical magazine reports that some joker near Boston—exact location unknown—spends his evenings in drowning out with a very powerful apparatus every message to or from a neighboring naval station. When this facetious individual is spotted his amusement will, of course, be interfered with. It is said an effort will be made this winter to get congress to pass a bill requiring all wireless stations, public or private, to be licensed. All public stations and many private plants now have special call signals. The Marconi company uses combinations of three letters of the alphabet. The United States navy uses combinations of two letters and monopolizes about half the possible number of these. An effort to publish a complete up-to-date official directory of these wireless calls has failed, owing to objections advanced by the commercial companies. The only available list is now that of the navy, which is more than a year old.

ELECTRIC HONE FOR RAZORS

Very Clever Device Invented by Los Angeles Barber Holds Blade Steadily to Surface.

A very clever device that will be appreciated by every man who has tried to hone his own razor, is the electro-magnetic razor hone, invented by a Los Angeles barber, says Popular Electricity. The idea is simplicity itself, as would of necessity be the case, for the inventor is no electrician.

Electro-Magnetic Razor Hone.

It consists of a coil of insulated copper wire (about four pounds), a core of Norway iron and directly above the latter a shallow groove which receives the stone; an ordinary hone.

The coil is connected with an electric light fixture and uses about as much power as an eight candlepower incandescent bulb. When the current is turned on, this magnet holds the razor blade steadily to the grinding surface, overcoming the tendency of the thin, elastic edge to spring away from the hone.

London's electric street railways carry about 412,000,000 passengers a year, of whom 24 per cent. pay but a 1 cent fare.

A LITTLE COLD.

He caught a little cold— That was all. So the neighbors sadly said, As they gathered round his bed, When they heard that he was dead.

He caught a little cold— That was all. (Puck.)

Neglect of a cough or cold often leads to serious trouble. To break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable mix two ounces of Glycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whisky. Take a teaspoonful every four hours. You can buy these at any good drug store and easily mix them in a large bottle.

EFFECT OF GOLF.

He—Golf is an awfully fine exercise, don't you think? She—Oh, yes. Why, it makes the men so strong in their arms that one can scarcely breathe.

Where is Bessie Hartman? Rosanna and Bessie Hartman lived with their mother at Chapman, Neb., in 1901, the year that their father was killed by a falling tree at Anada, Mo. Their mother, an invalid, being unable to care for them, the girls were sent to Omaha to school, being housed and mothered by a Mrs. Smith.

Finally, in 1903, Bessie, the younger of the two, was taken in charge by the Nebraska Children's Home society, who refused to tell her married sister, Rosanna, where she is. Bessie became of age last February. If she will send her address to P. O. Box 898, Omaha, Neb., it will be forwarded to her sister Rosanna, who is now Mrs. Geo. Duerr.

Easily Explained.

Mr. Swainson is a powerful preacher, but is never above leaving his sermons with humor.

A good story he tells concerns a visit once paid to the cottage of one of his parishioners. It was early spring and for a long time he sat by the window with the woman's little girl.

"In looking out," he remarked to the child, "do you notice how bright is the green of the leaves and grass?" The little girl nodded.

"Now tell me why does it appear so much brighter at this time?" Mr. Swainson asked.

"Cos," was the unexpected reply, "ma's just washed the window and you can see out better."

FAME AND FORTUNE OFFERED

Rich Prize for Man Who Discovers the Long-Sought Cure for Tuberculosis.

Dr. George W. Bloomer of Yale university, acting as spokesman for an anonymous giver, has announced that a prize of $100,000 has been set aside, to be awarded to the first person anywhere in the world who discovers a cure for tuberculosis. The gift is unconditional as to time, place, or kind of cure, the only real condition being that the new cure must have been in constant use at least five years, and that the promoter of the cure convince the investigating board of the merits of his discovery.

A large number of physicians have been working for years to perfect vaccine, or anti-toxin for tuberculosis, or to find some agent, such as tuberculin, which will assist in the cure of the disease. Thus far, the experiments have not furnished a product which will either absolutely cure or prevent consumption, or render the patient immune against the disease. Many of these serums have proved effective in increasing the resistance of the patient and thus helping in the cure, but no scientist of repute to-day claims to have discovered a tuberculin which will produce a cure without the combined aid of fresh air, rest and wholesome food.

A Pessimistic View. Among the patients in a certain hospital of Harrisburg there was recently one disposed to take a dark view of his chances for recovery. "Cheer up, old man!" admonished the youthful medico attached to the ward wherein the patient lay. "Your symptoms are identical with those of my own case four years ago. I was just as sick as you are. Look at me now!"

For Celestials.

I once visited a very rough boom town in Oregon, near Cottage Grove. In the leading saloon a man in a red shirt said to me:

"Ye wanter carry yerself almighty straight in these parts, stranger. Go wrong the least mite and, by crimus, we'll lynch ye as quick as look at ye."

"Would you lynch me," I asked, "if I killed a dog?" "Would we?" he snorted. "Why, stranger, we've lynched fellers here for killin' Chnamen!"

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favor's Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol or habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't tangle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.—take the advice received and be well.
