

GORDON'S TESTIMONY PROVES INTERESTING

Charles W. Gordon, whose picture is given above, is agent for the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company in Ogdensburg, N. Y., and resides at 78 King street, that city. In giving testimony regarding his own case, Mr. Gordon recently made the following statement:

"Some time ago, while suffering from stomach catarrh, I was advised to take Cooper's New Discovery, and did so, two bottles of the preparation putting my stomach into good condition. Previous to my taking the New Discovery I could not eat a meal without experiencing pain and discomfort afterward."

"I had been in this condition for a long time, although I had tried many different remedies in search of relief, and at last reached the conclusion that I had exhausted every available resource. Cooper's New Discovery was therefore to me almost a heaven-sent blessing, and the work of the medicine was so permanent and lasting that I have had no recurrence of my former trouble whatever."

"I can eat anything I care for without noticing any bad effects afterward. I have recommended Cooper's New Discovery to many persons of my acquaintance, and it never fails to give satisfactory results. It reaches the seat of stomach trouble in mighty short order."

Cooper's New Discovery is sold by all druggists. If your druggist cannot supply you, we will forward you the name of a druggist in your city who will. Don't accept "something just as good."—The Cooper Medicine Co., Dayton, Ohio.

Where the Tafts Attend the Easter Service

PRESIDENT TAFT'S CHURCH IN WASHINGTON

HISTORIC, OLD ST. JOHN'S CHURCH IN WASHINGTON OF WHICH MRS. TAFT IS A MEMBER

THE present occupants of the White House, alike to most of their predecessors, have been regular attendants at church, but, as in the case of the average citizen, special significance attaches to their participation in divine worship on Easter Sunday. As concerns the president it may be said that part of this significance is in a religious sense and part is in a spectacular sense. It is not the special music and the flowers which make for the latter so much as the disposition on the part of a large share of the public to seize the opportunity to get a glimpse at close range of the president of the United States.

As has been said the president attends church service almost every Sunday morning in the year, but there is no certainty as to his appearance, nor, on the ordinary Sabbath, does the president invariably attend the church of which he is a member. Indeed not infrequently the chief executive accepts an invitation to worship with some congregation of another denomination, if the occasion be a special one of any kind. On Easter Sunday, however, the president goes to his own church and only the most exceptional circumstances interfere with his attendance at the morning service. Knowing this, throngs gather at the church, whereas a good sized crowd is sure to follow the president all the way from the White House gates to the church.

As was the case during the Roosevelt administration, the president and his wife are adherents of different religious denominations and hold membership in different churches in Washington. President Taft comes of a Unitarian family, his father and mother both being Unitarians and his grandmother having joined the Unitarian movement with the famous Dr. Channing. William H. Taft, like his father before him, was a member of the Unitarian church in Cincinnati. After entering official life in Washington, he took a pew in the only Unitarian place of worship at the national capital—stately All Souls' church, which is located not more than half a mile from the executive mansion.

The new "President's church" is one of the most historic churches in what might be termed "The City of Famous Churches." John C. Calhoun, Daniel Webster, Bullfinch and the late Senator Hoar, have been among its members and the late Edward Everett Hale frequently occupied its pulpit. President Taft will be summoned to worship on Easter morning by the far-reaching tones of a great bell, cast by the famous Paul Revere of revolutionary fame. This bell which has place in a lofty belfry, has sounded on great public occasions since 1822, tolling successively for Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley.

The pastor of All Souls', who preaches President Taft's Easter sermon, is Rev. Ulysses Grant Baker Pierce and he appears in the pulpit in a black gown such as is worn under similar circumstances by many Episcopal clergymen. Rev. Pierce is a native of Providence, R. I., and was born in the closing year of the civil war, which readily accounts for the choice of the name bestowed upon him. He was educated in New England and at Hillsdale college, Michigan, and also pursued advanced studies at Harvard. The pastor had charges in Iowa, California and Ithaca, N. Y., ere he assumed his present position in 1891, in which year also he was married. Rev. Pierce, like the distinguished member of his congregation, has traveled extensively and lectured considerably upon travel subjects.

Mrs. Taft, like Mrs. Roosevelt, worships at a different church from that attended by her husband and by odd coincidence these two successive first ladies of the land have had the same religious affiliations. The Easter mecca of these two well-known women is old St. John's Episcopal church, located just across the park from the White House and often called the "church of the presidents," from the fact that every President from Madison to Lincoln, and several since that time, have worshipped there. The quaint little edifice has also been dubbed "the court church" from the fact that during every administration many leading foreign diplomats and high officials of the nation have regularly attended its services. A pew in the church is always set aside for the use of the president of the United States and his family and this pew is now used by Mrs. Taft in place of the pew which she formerly rented. Miss Helen Taft is also a member of this church and usually accompanies her mother to the services when in Washington at Easter, but the president's sons are wont, as were the Roosevelt boys, to go to church with their father when at home for the Easter holidays or on other like occasions.
