And therein lies the danger. It is diftreads of opinion regarding books ficult to know how many others there are who have more discretions there not proclaim their views from the house-tops. Men who never under Eastand, publish "Principles of Po-stood, or cared to understand, the re-ficial Electronity and Taxation," by racy in 1896 and 1900, nevertheles; gave hearty support to Bryan-because they believed he could wir! And Bryan having been defeated twice, they are ready to try some other platform and some other candidate in the hope that the change might bring success,

The Brooklyn Eagle, one of the most plutocraffic of the self-styled democratic sheets, has started a boonfor Cieveland as "the only man who could heat Theodore Roosevelt" And the following papers have fallen in Those rebellions striking workers line with a hearty, Amen!

Post, Boston, Mass. Times, Hartford, Conn

Times, Eufraio, N. Y. (Norman E Mack's paper.) Observer, Utica, N. Y.

Press, Troy, N. Y. Advertiser, Montgomery, Ala. News and Courier, Charleston, S. C. Times-Dispatch Richmond, Vo.

The New Yor! World has been saying complimentary things about Cleveland, and the Literary Digest avers that the New York Sun has been "treating him with more regard than it has been according to President Roosesvill.

Other democratic papers are more guarded and while not helping the boom are not opposing it very hard. although some of them believe is would be a "mistake," or characterize the boom as nonsense. Among these ares

What most impresses a populist is that nearly all of these papers wholly ignore the question of what principies shall constitute the platform. but content themselves with discussing the man Cleveland without regard to what he stands for.

With such a favorable beginning of Cleveland's boom, it stands the populists of the United States in hand to brush up their organization a litthe and he ready for the fray. They can provide a home for men who want neither Cleveland nor Roosevelt, nor the plutocratic principles they represent.

Montana to Organize

The Press of Helena, Mont., in its Issue of May 9, says:

"The majority of the people of Montana want clean politics; they want decency and honesty in polities. They want to rid the state of the low class that thrives on political dishonest;

"Governor Toole has told us what to do. Get a legislature that will pass a direct primary election law and submit to the people a direct legislation amendment. That will give the people of the state the opportunity to get rid of the corruptionists and lobbyists and the men who hire lobbylsts. The longer we delay thstronger the corporations will become, and the harder it will be to get the corporations off our necks.

"Under the leadership of Governor Toole, and with care in the selection of condidates, we can get men in th legislature who will not sell out. We will have business sessions of the legislature when we have a direct primary election law and direct legislation. We will not have business seasions of the legislature until we have these things. We will have boodlers in the legislature until we get direct legislation and a direct primary law We must have clubs.

"Nothing can be done without or-ganization. Whether they are called good government clubs, direct legislation clubs, majority rule clubs or an ti-corporation clubs makes but litte difference. The organization is the (ninc. We must have an organizatio) in every county in the state, for the discussion of state matters, of county and municipal matters, for the ad-vancement of good government through direct legislation and a direct primary law. We need men for the next campaign in this state who can not only stand on a platform and speak, but can sit or stand on a platform and answer questions. Force the Carter Clark-Hauser crowd into a question and answer campaign. Make then answer questions every time they up pear before the public. Honest merdo not fear to answer questions.
