

FIGHTING CHAMBERLAIN

Late English newspapers show that Chamberlain's tariff campaign waxes hotter every day. The liberals are using his record in the Boer war against Chamberlain and the recently printed report of the war commission furnishes an inexhaustible fountain of facts of the most damnable character ever brought against a set of public men. The British people were lied to and deceived and were induced to sanction the most cruel, needless and inhuman war that has been waged for centuries. It came near wrecking the British empire. At one time there were but two boxes of rifle ammunition left in all England, and the rifles that had been furnished to the troops were so sighted that they shot 18 inches in the left in 500 yards. New sights were made and sent to South Africa to be put on the rifles there. According to this report of the war commission the whole of the new territory has fallen into the hands of the diamond trust, British workmen are rigidly excluded from the mines from fear of the organization of trade unions, the capitalists are determined to introduce Chinese labor and it has cost the lives of 1,080 officers, 21,370 enlisted men and desolated 20,000 British homes. The five or six Englishmen who stopped The Independent because it opposed the Boer war should be furnished with these facts. The Independent was the friend of the British common people just as it has always been the friend of the common people of the United States.

Our own war of imperialism has not been so disastrous to the nation as the Boer war was to the British, but it has also cost thousands of lives and millions of money for which we have received no return whatever.

It is said that the Wall street brokers spent last year $5,000,000 on Christmas presents, but that this year they will have very little to spend. The crowds of speculators that

The question of why one man succeeds and another fails, is a problem that has puzzled philosophers for centuries. One man attains riches and position, while his neighbor who started with seemingly the same, and better opportunities, exists in poverty and obscurity. No man can win success who is suffering from an irritating and nerve racking disease and the man who has the qualities of success within him, would be quick to recognize this fact and seize the best remedy to eradicate the trouble.

A person afflicted with a serious case of hemorrhoids or piles is handicapped in the race for power and advancement. It is impossible to concentrate the mental energies when this dreadful trouble is sapping the vital forces. To show how easily this success destroying trouble can be overcome, we publish the following letter from a prominent Indiana man:

"When I received the former letter and booklet on 'Piles, their nature, cause and cure,' I was in a critical condition. Ulcers to the number of seven had formed on the inside of the rectum culminating in a large tumor on the outside resembling fistula. I suffered the most excruciating pain, could get no rest day or night. After reading the booklet I sent to my druggist, but he happened to be out of Pyramid Pile Cure just at that time. However, I obtained a part of a box from my brother-in-law and began their use. Five pyramids completely cured me. I procured a box later, but have had no occasion to use them. I have been waiting to see that the cure was permanent, before writing you of its success. I believe Pyramid Pile Cure to be the greatest and best pile cure on the market, and ask you to please accept of my grateful thanks for this invaluable remedy. I take great pleasure in recommending its use to any sufferer along this line. You may use my name if you wish for reference to any one afflicted with this disease." J. O. Littell, Arthur, Ind.

thronged their offices in 1902 began gradually to disappear early this year and half the time the offices and commission houses were as empty as the caves of Siberia. They not only sheared all the lambs early in the year, but they took the hide along with the wool and there were none for the fall shearing. Along with the employes of the steel trust, they are finding that their dinner pail is not very full.

COWARDICE AND GREED

The plutocratic magnates are very brave when some one else has to do the fighting. They are always in favor of large armies and navies, but they, themselves, never serve in the army or navy. If they had to serve long years at sea or in humid, hot, tropical countries, burned up with fevers or reduced to skeletons by other tropical diseases they would make a radical change in their theories. At home they are the same sort of cowards. They are never willing to make a fair and open fight for anything. They always seek some advantage over an opponent. They are forever demanding "protection." First they must be "protected" from the foreigner. Then they must be "protected" from competitors at home. They get a tariff to shut out the foreigner and form a trust to shield them from American citizens.

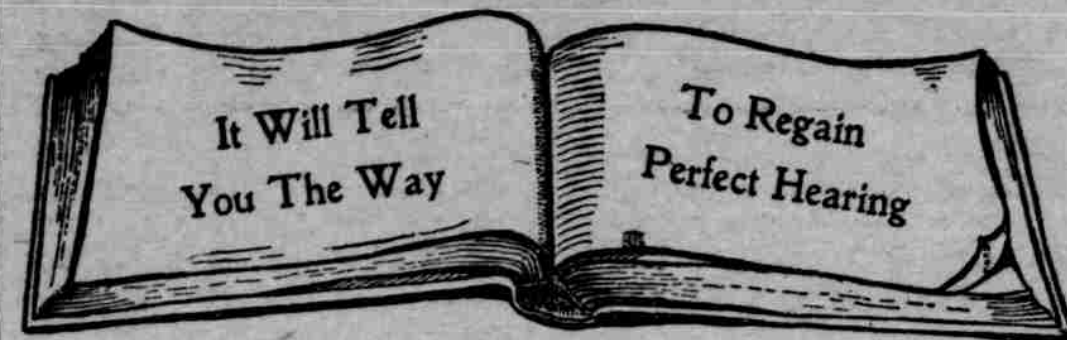

Sordid greed and cowardice are their distinguishing characteristics. They are governed by the lowest instincts. These are the men who are forming the policies of these United States and the result will follow that has always followed when nations were controlled by such ideas. The increase in crime, the flooding of the country with police gazettes called daily papers, the constant extension of the "red light" districts in the cities, the never-ceasing grind of the divorce courts, the lack of interest in the public welfare shown by one-fourth of the citizens in the cities refusing to register and vote, all these show that a reform must soon come or it will be too late for reform. The news from the centers of power show that there is no concern about the public welfare or the building up of a nation based upon righteousness and justice, but it is altogether taken up with the question of whether the trusts and the money power shall nominate Mark Hanna for president and support him, or whether they shall secure the nomination of a Cleveland democrat and support him.

The Nebraska City Tribune says: "Theft has never worn the distinctive badge of any political organization." But there is a political organization that wears the badge of theft and has worn it for many years in this state. Every dollar that was ever stolen from this state or the United States in the bounds of Nebraska has been stolen by a member of the republican party. Nothing else could be expected from a party run by railroad corporations.

The report of Messrs. Bonaparte and Conrad, the special counsel employed by the president to investigate the postoffice thieving, has not yet reached this office, although diligent watch has been kept for it in all the great eastern dailies. Only extracts have been printed. From these it appears that the following high-up republican officials were the really responsible parties. Their report says that the investigation revealed that the postmaster general, Charles Emory Smith, the first assistant postmaster general, Perry S. Heath, James P. P. Willett, and John A. Merritt, the two Washington postmasters, were really the responsible parties. Not one of these have been indicted. They were too

The table of modern finance which will soon no doubt appear in all the school books, is as follows:

- 10 mills make a combine,
 - 10 combines make a trust,
 - 10 trusts make a merger,
 - 10 mergers make a magnate—
- And he makes all the money!

As the days go by the American people are getting more and more dissatisfied with the sacrifices of blood and money in the Philippines which bring this country no return whatever. The Independent predicts that within the next five years this dissatisfaction will become general. The whole project was the most senseless thing that any civilized nation ever undertook.

THEY SURRENDER

The Jacksonian club of Omaha has run up the white flag and surrendered to the handful of gold democrats that left the party and fought Bryan in the last two presidential campaigns. The club passed a resolution and reinstated into full membership the following list of republicans and Palmer and Buckner democrats:

- Charles Dugdale, George V. Hines, T. J. Mahoney, Euclid Martin, W. D. McHugh, P. W. Sherlock, Lee W. Spratlan, Frank Heller, E. W. Schermer, M. C. Thaxton, Arthur C. Wakeley, Thomas Leady, P. D. Sturdevant, F. E. White, A. J. Sawyer, Chas. G. Ryan, R. E. Dumphy, D. P. Rolfe, M. J. Hughes, John F. Croker, Milton Doolittle, A. M. Glover, D. C. Cavanaugh, John A. McShane, Thomas Kilpatrick, George E. Pritchett, E. Wakeley, Albert Watkins, B. B. Wood, J. M. Woolworth, Henry E. Yates, Dr. George L. Miller.

The last two, Dr. George L. Miller and Henry E. Yates, are pronounced republicans, having long ago united with that party. Ed Howell, who is the prime mover in this business, said: "It has been a great injustice to those men who have been barred from the deliberations of their party for so long a time, and it was due time that reparation was made."

Mr. Howell also declared that "it was not the intention of the resolution to prevent Mr. Bryan going as a delegate to the national democratic convention in 1904, neither can the move be construed in any way as one to repudiate Mr. Bryan in any sense." Upon reading that most men remarked: "It seems to me that he protests too much." When the club meets there is likely to be a pretty lively time.
