

Susan J. Crane of Hartford, Conn., was made the recipient of some of the stock of the Globe National bank through a will. The bank failed, the stock was assessed 100 per cent and she had to put up the full amount, although she had never had the stock really in her possession. That was the decision of the court.

Upon the retirement of Major General Wade, April 14, 1907, Major General Wood, M. D., will become the ranking officer of the United States army, and will continue, if he lives, to command the army until October 3, 1924, when he will retire. That is the reward that this great nation gives to a doctor for serving with the president for a few months in a regiment called "The Rough Riders." Is there any wonder that some of the old army officers think that the reward is out of all proportion to the service rendered? Army officers make no remarks for publication upon this subject, but now that the thing is done some of the republican newspapers are making some mild comments on the subject.

Hill won his case against Harriman in the suit brought at St. Paul but what interest the public has in the question is not explained. The lawyers will draw their fees and passenger fares and freight rates will not be any lower.

The admiral appointed to succeed Markaroff in command of the Russian navy in Asiatic waters reached St. Petersburg last week and was given a great ovation. So far all the ovations have been given to men who are "starting" to war, and great prophecies are made about what they are going to do. No such scenes have been reported from Japan.

This year Lincoln has 1,800 majority and 40 saloons. If the increase is kept up, next year it will have 2,000 majority and 50 saloons. Vote or straight.

Last week things got so hot in Judge Barker's court in Boston where the Rockefeller steals were being investigated that the judge suddenly ad-

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of urine difficulties. If it did there would be few children that would do it. There is a constitutional cause for this. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 169, Notre Dame, Ind., will send her home treatment to any mother. She asks no money. Write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child. The chances are it can't help it.

journed court. The question was whether Rogers should produce his letter book.

Judge Grosscup of Chicago delivered an address in Chicago last Monday in which he declared that there was urgent need of a new party that would control the great corporations. He made the positive declaration, so often made in the past by populists, that the increase in wealth was not what the plutocrats claim, and said: "The per capita wealth of the country has increased only 10 per cent over what it was 30 years ago." If Judge Grosscup will make a study of populism he will find the very party already in existence that he is calling for.

The form of Admiral Togo's report to the emperor of Japan is causing many remarks in the daily press. He attributes his success to "his majesty's glorious virtue" and "heavenly assistance." That is an equal division between the royal forms of Europe where the ships are "his majesty's" and the devout Christians of the republics of the world who believe that God directs the slaughtering of men that occurs in great battles. The only thing about the report that commends the admiration of all, is that the admiral makes no claims for himself. It was the emperor, heaven and the men behind the guns that did it.

A frog is a bird. That's settled. The customs house officers have decided to class frogs legs, a good many of which are imported, as poultry.

Of all the platitudes that were ever written, Hill's New York platform takes the lead for platitudes. There is not a principle enunciated or a policy indicated. It is worse than an interrogation point. It is a vacuum with the space extracted.

The Russians have thrown a bomb into the laws of war by announcing that any correspondent found using wireless telegraphy will be considered a spy and when found, will be tried by court-martial, and if convicted, hung. The London Times has had steamers equipped with a wireless telegraph apparatus sailing around Port Arthur and it is supposed that the order was aimed at this boat. The Times denounces the order and says that Russia has no dominion over the seas outside of the three-league limit. A protest has also been filed against the order with the state department at Washington, but nothing will be done until some concrete case arises. Admiral Togo has used wireless telegraphy in moving his ships. It has also been adopted by our own navy department.

The Japanese were the first of all nations to complete and install their exhibition at St. Louis. It is said that everything has moved along there with as little friction as in the Japanese army and navy. The Russian government abandoned the space allotted to it and it has been assigned to other parties.

Now that Dave Hill has absolute control of the machinery of the democratic party in New York, what will the Bryan democrats of that state do? There are thousands of them. Will they be democrats—still?

There was a heavy fall of snow reported in northern New York and the New England states on April 13. Forty years ago on the same date the thermometer fell to zero in Illinois and the states of the west.

Cutting Off Coupons

When a man arrives at the age of seventy (and few do), the best years of his life are surely behind him. If he has been prudent and industrious and fortune has favored him, he has accumulated considerable property. If his wife still lives and he has about him children and grand-children he will not regret the magnitude of his estate or the work, worry and self-denial incident to building it, though he can take none of it with him. He will contemplate with satisfaction and pride the amount of his accumulations. He has attained the object of his life's efforts—an estate for his family. It is for this—though in youth or middle age we may not realize it—we are all working. When God gave man the inextinguishable impulse to raise a family, he was also given the unquenchable desire to care for it during his life and provide for it after death.

The Old Line Bankers Life Insurance Company of Nebraska has been considering for some time how it might be possible for a man to make provision for protection for his family in case of his death, and at the same time insure him an income, or reasonable interest on his savings or investment for that purpose, during his life. The result has been the introduction by the Company of an entirely new policy. All companies write policies paying dividends every year, but the amount of these dividends can not be guaranteed or foretold and are generally disappointing. The Old Line Bankers Life in its Three Per Cent Guaranteed Income Bond, gives you an absolute Guarantee of Three Per Cent on every dollar paid in during the life of the policy. Each year your income increases as the premiums are paid beginning with the first premium and continuing to the maturity of the contract in twenty years.

The possession of such a Bond is the gratifying result of industry and economy combined with a decision to do it today. You would never have owned one if you had continued to postpone its purchase.

Suppose the government of the United States were selling these bonds on long time—suppose you could buy one of $1,000 on twenty yearly payments, receiving back each year three per cent on all installments paid in. Suppose in addition the government would say, "If you die before all payments are made we will cancel the balance and pay your family the face of the bond, $1,000 in cash." Would you want it? Would you put away one dollar a week more or less to get it?

Well, you can buy a guaranteed income bond of The Old Line Bankers Life Insurance Company with just these provisions. You can cut off a three per cent coupon every year—you can have the bond if you live twenty years drawing dividends during the remainder of your life. The deferred payments will be cancelled if you die and your wife and children will get the face of the bond in cash. It is said that "Money is always handy in the family." Can you imagine any handier or more opportune time than when the head of the family dies. On his bond are coupons numbered from one to twenty. Number one is three per cent on one premium, number twenty is three per cent on twenty premiums. To secure the income it is only necessary to cut off the coupon at the end of the year, sign your name and mail it in to the company. A check will be sent you immediately for the amount or it can be used in payment of the next year's premium. On a bond of $5,000 at the age of thirty-five the income returned to the policy-holder will amount in twenty years to $1,608.50, and is subject at maturity to the following options of settlement.

This bond is non-forfeitable after two years. Should it become necessary to surrender it the holder may have:

- 1st—Extended insurance for the full face of bond after two premiums are paid.
2nd—Paid up insurance after three premiums are paid.
3rd—Cash value at the end of each five year period.

When a boy reaches man's estate he lay aside childish things. He is looking for opportunities to make and save money. Whatever may be the result of other investments this will be successful. If he needs money at the maturity of the contract he can get more on his policy than he has paid in. If he needs temporary assistance during the term of the policy he can borrow of the company.

The more he puts in yearly the greater his interest will be and the larger his settlement at maturity. Every dollar invested is money saved coming back to him when he most needs it—or at his death to his wife and family when they most need it.

It is secure as a government bond and better as it costs less money and gives a larger return living or dead. The advantages of the bond may be summed up as follows:

- Three per cent on your money while you live—
Face of your policy if you die—
Your money returned if you mature—
Cost at maturity, nothing.

If the money sent east for insurance since the Old Line Bankers Life Insurance Company was organized seventeen years ago had been kept at home, bank deposits would be double their present size in the west today.

Further information will be given by any agent of the Company or address,
