

Not Fatal.

No Matter What Doctors Say—We Know That Heart Trouble in Many Cases Can Be Cured.

There are seven main features of heart disease, viz.: (1) Weakness or Debility; (2) Rheumatism or Neuralgia; (3) Valvular Disorder; (4) Dilation; (5) Enlargement; (6) Fatty Degeneration; (7) Dropsy.

Documentary evidence will prove thousands of so-called "incurables" have been absolutely cured by Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure.

Patients often have no idea their disease is heart trouble, but ascribe it to indigestion, liver complaint, etc.

Here are some of the symptoms: Shortness of breath after exercise. Smothering Spells. Pain in Chest, left shoulder and arm. Discomfort in lying on one side. Fainting Spells. Nervous Cough. Swelling of Feet and Ankles. Paleness of Face and Lips. Palpitation. Nightmare. Irregular Pulse.

"I have great faith in Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and speak of its merits whenever opportunity presents. I can now go up and down stairs with ease, where three weeks ago I could hardly walk one block." One year later—"I am still in good health; the Heart Cure did so much for me, that I find it a far greater medicine than you claimed it to be."—S. D. YOUNG, D. D., 697 North Pine St., Natchez, Miss.

American Society of Equity.

(The co-operative movement is finding expression in a number of ways in Nebraska, and each of the plans presented has some good points to commend it. First, there are a large number of independent companies of farmers engaged in marketing grain, live stock, etc. These have a state association for mutual protection, but there is no merging of ownership. Hon. J. S. Canaday of Minden is president of this state association.

Then there is what is commonly known as the "Butler" organization, a big corporation operating elevators in Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska, on the "line" system. Each local station must take enough stock in the big concern to equip its local elevator. Prof. C. Vincent, formerly of the Central Farmer, is organizer for this system in Nebraska.

A new organization somewhat upon the same lines as the "Butler" line system, was recently effected as the result of a meeting at Omaha. It is incorporated in South Dakota for something like $50,000,000—a genuine "farmers' trust," if its promoters' plans materialize. Hon. H. H. Hanks of Nebraska City is one of the high officials in this concern.

The communication below comes from Hon. D. Phillips of Pool Siding, Buffalo county, deputy president of the American Society of Equity, which has its headquarters at Indianapolis. He teaches co-operation in a little different way.

The Independent believes good will come of all these different plans. They may fall short of performing fully up to promises—but they will teach the farmers some valuable lessons. While learning co-operation in marketing their products, the farmers of Nebraska and elsewhere might find it profitable also to study the question of CO-OPERATIVE VOTING.—Associate Editor.)

Editor Independent: The fact is, there are practically no laws for the farmers, and it is in the intent of the corporate power, and the political machines, that there shall be none.

Ours is a government by the people in theory; but by corporations in practice.

The demagogue devotes a great deal of attention to the farmer and his independent position on the stump; but, also, all is vanity! The agricultural industry of this country is still the victim of the most intense competitive system ever established. Each farmer is in constant warfare against all others.

Each is striving to produce as much as possible for grain gamblers and packing institutions to benefit therefrom.

All he is supposed to know now, under the present system, is how to work sixteen hours a day and the road to market.

Let us see, then, what can be done to elevate the agricultural business of this country and place it on an equality with other industries. If the farmers would control their own products, they could refuse to ship until the railroads gave them fair and equitable rates. No man can buy until some other is willing to sell. These facts seem simple enough and they are being given a good deal of attention by certain classes who are disturbed at the thought that the farmers may decide to control their own business.

Why should not farmers act as business men? Other business men strive to the utmost to control the market; they form gigantic combinations to limit the output, to lift prices and to regulate wages.

Surely it is not wrong to urge farmers to do what other business men are doing.

Organization of the farmers on the plan proposed by the American Society of Equity will not harm, but will benefit every legitimate business. Local unions will be formed all over the country, in every township, to accommodate every farmer. It is not necessary for a member to belong to a local union, but it is recommended, where ten or more can join together, they should have a union.

The affairs of the society are regulated by a board of seven or more directors.

These directors are experts on various lines of products.

They may be selected by members interested by their particular crops.

The key to the workings of the society will be the official paper, which will go to each member. The national union will be the clearing house for all local organizations.

A very important part of this society is the crop reporting system. This will be the most complete and reliable. With such information the directors can put an equitable price on any commodity and recommend the members to ask that price, and not to sell for less.

If members will quit selling the moment the market will not take any more supplies at the minimum price, prices will be maintained, the demand will be supplied regularly as it appears.

Remember, it will not be necessary for each person to be told when to sell any crop. The plan contemplates that each owner of produce, wherever situated, will supply the market through the regular channels of trade, with all they will take at the minimum price. There need be no fear that the buyers will be out of the market long, because the world must have your goods all the time.

When a value is set on a crop, it will be expected to control until the next crop year. To prevent too liberal marketing at the start, an advance will be made on each staple article each month it is held, thus justifying part of the producers in holding their crops.

The frequent fluctuation of the markets (many times a day) are not in the interest of the farmers, but for the speculators.

We never see machinery or coal quoted one day one price and one price another. I speak of this for an illustration.

Manufacturing and mercantile enterprises are not conducted by chance.

Why should farming be an exception? It need not be. We appeal to every producer of crops to consider this matter very carefully and decide in the future to do business on business principles.

And to the farmers in Nebraska, let us all take this into consideration at once and demand a price for our grain on the first market in proportion to what it will bring six months later.

Disgusted

Editor Independent: I have been receiving your paper for some time, by what authority I don't know. Please stop sending it to me.

I am thoroughly disgusted with trying to help the industrial classes. Since 1872 I have spent time and money to help them, and now that they are organized, they turn and rend me. Last year I employed 65 hands and they by authority of the local labor union levied 60 per cent of my income.

I am an anti-monopolist of the strongest kind, but if I am compelled to live under a monopoly, I rather it would be one of money and brains than one of brutality and ignorance and slavery, for the only appeal that can be made to the great majority of the members of labor unions is to their selfishness and brutality.

No more reform papers for me. Please discontinue.

GEO. T. ELLIOT.

Hollister, Cal.
(Of course, every question has its observe and reverse sides. Mr. Elliot does not intimate how much his income would have been had he employed no "hands" whatever. He does not say directly that the 60 per cent levied upon his income was more than the laborers were entitled to receive—but leaves that impression.)

The thought will come up, after reading Mr. Elliot's letter, that the time and money he has spent in trying to "help" the industrial classes—whatever he may mean by that—was regarded by him as a sort of investment which would entitle him to hire 65 men for lower wages than they demanded last year. Franklin says that God helps them that help themselves. Why not let the "industrial classes" work out their own salvation upon that theory?—Ed. Ind.)
