

Wear Armstrong Clothes

...And Be A Well Dressed Man...

Let your clothes argue in favor of you, rather than against you—Get that comfortable feeling which only comes from being rightly clothed—Get the habit of wearing stylish clothes and you will find a greater joy in living.

A farmer boy will pay $250 for a horse; $150 for a buggy; $25 for a lap robe, and $3 for a whip—Why? Simply because his horse sense has been cultivated—he knows the difference between a plug and a good animal, and he wouldn't ride in a cheap buggy, but he might not mind wearing a cheap and poorly fitting suit of clothes because he had never paid any attention to it. On the other hand a young chap in the city will be mighty particular about his clothes and keep himself looking as fine as a fiddle, but he wouldn't know the difference between a fine horse and buggy than a cheap one—he needs to have his horse sense cultivated, while the farmer lad needs to pay just a little more attention to his clothes.

MOST MEN WANT TO DRESS WELL

And dressing well is largely a matter of habit—all you have to do to dress well is to buy your clothes where they sell stylish stuff. It costs no more and is so much more satisfactory.

STYLISH SUITS AND OVERCOATS AT $10.00, $12.50, $15.00, $18.00, $20.00.

GOOD ALL WOOL SUITS AT $8.75, $7.50, $6.50 AND $5.00.

LANDIS HAS NOVEL SCHEME

Federal Regulation of Insurance in the Territories

Washington, Dec. 11.—A novel method of seeking federal control over insurance is proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Fred Landis of Indiana.

The bill cites that congress has exclusive jurisdiction over the District of Columbia, the territories and the insular possessions of the United States; in consequence authority is given the department of commerce and labor to require full statements from all insurance companies doing business within such jurisdiction. He states that publicity is the one thing required and that no insurance company can afford to quit business in any of the territories named to avoid government supervision.

The bill creates in the department of commerce and labor the offices of "superintendent of insurance" and "national actuary."

These officers are to frame regulations for annual reports from life insurance companies doing business in the territory specified. Such reports are to contain an itemized statement of all assets and liabilities, amount and character of all business transactions and number and character of policies outstanding, the names and salaries of officers, itemized statements of receipts and expenditures with full information and names of all parties receiving payments.

Authority to examine the books of insurance companies is given. Such companies are also restricted as to the character of their investments.

Violations of the regulations are made punishable by revocation of license.

Representative Ames of Massachusetts is preparing a bill along similar lines which he will introduce soon.
