

POSITIVE AND NEGATIVE

LaFollette and Foraker Represent Opposite Poles on Railroad Rate Legislation

The strongest kind of pressure was brought to bear on Foraker to come in line and make it unanimous as far as the republicans were concerned. But he would not do it. He was implored and told it would be different if his vote against the bill would do any good. Then when he had voted several republican senators, whose names cannot be given went to the Ohioan and said they agreed with him and wished they could have voted with him. All of which shows that here was one day when public sentiment did do something in the senate of the United States, for there were senators who acknowledged they were voting for something they did not want.

"While I may be alone in my vote," said Mr. Foraker, "I am not alone in my opinion among senators on this floor."

Then Senator Foraker explained that, as he could not do any good to himself, to the country or to the interests involved by voting for a bill that was sure to be passed anyway, he would have the satisfaction of knowing he had voted as he believed.

While Foraker stands at this negative pole where lightning may strike, LaFollette stands at the positive.

Harken to this battle cry of the junior senator from Wisconsin. Listen to the reference to the leadership of the railroad senators—how that kind of talk already has worked political revolution. Hear the implied denunciations of his republican colleagues for their "hazing" of him and then remember that in conclusion LaFollette said the new campaign is to begin with the congressional elections, and the state elections where the legislators who choose United States senators are in the field next fall.

"Before I record my vote on this bill I desire to enter a denial here," said the Wisconsin man. "I deny that this bill complies with the recommendation of the president. The president, in his message in 1901, urged upon congress the amendment of the law, declaring that the people of this country were entitled to just rates. In 1904, in his message urging legislation upon this subject, he recommended such legislation as would insure reasonable rates. In 1905, he recommended such legislation as would insure maximum reasonable rates.

"This bill does not comply with any of the recommendations of the president. It does not contain provisions that will enable the commission to ascertain what are reasonable maximum rates. It does not contain provisions that will enable the commission to ascertain what are reasonable rate, or what are just rates.

"I desire, sir, to protest against the making of this question a political or partisan question. It has been done here apparently upon this floor. It cannot be done in the country, however senators upon this floor, under the lead of republican senators, may seek to draw party lines. You cannot divide the people of this country on political lines upon a question as to whether the public service corporations of the country shall serve the people of the country fairly, equitably, reasonably, justly.

"I offered some amendments here from time to time to the bill. I offered no amendment to the bill upon which any political question ought to have been raised or any party vote cast. Every amendment which I offered to the bill would have strengthened its provisions and made it more just to the shippers, the consumers and the carriers of this country.

TWO WOMEN WHO WERE RELIEVED OF PELVIC CATARRH BY TAKING PE-RU-NA
Headache, Backache and Weakness Are Symptoms of Pelvic Catarrh.

Mrs. LIZZIE LOHR

FOLLOWED DR. HARTMAN'S ADVICE WITH BENEFICIAL RESULTS.

Mrs. John M. Stabler, Millersburg, Ind., writes:

"I have been cured of a very bad case of catarrh of the stomach and constipation, and a complication of ailments that I have had for several years. I doctored with three doctors, who did me not much good, so I quit doctoring. I bought a bottle of Peruna and commenced taking it. I found I was getting some better, but thought I was not doing as well as I might. So I wrote to Dr. Hartman to see what he thought about my case.

"He gave me special directions and medical advice. To our astonishment I improved and am today a well woman, and weigh as much as I ever did in my life."

"My old friends in Ohio, where we moved from some months ago, say when they see me, 'How well you look. I did not expect to see you ever look so well again.' I tell them I would not be so well if it had not been for Peruna. Peruna saved my life. I recommend Peruna wherever I am, and whenever any of our people are sick, I give them Peruna with success.

"I thank Dr. Hartman, and may he live many years more to go on with the good work. Tongue cannot express the gratitude that my husband, children and I owe to Dr. Hartman for the kindness he has shown toward me during my sickness. I want the public to know what Peruna and Dr. Hartman have done for me."

Revised Formula.—"For a number of years requests have come to me from a multitude of grateful friends, urging that Pe-ru-na be given a slight laxative quality. I have been experimenting with a laxative addition for quite a length of time, and now feel gratified to announce to the friends of Pe-ru-na that I have incorporated such a quality in the medicine which, in my opinion, can only enhance its well-known beneficial character.

"S. B. HARTMAN, M. D."

A LETTER OF GRATITUDE.

Mrs. Lizzie Lohr, 1155 W. 13th street, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"I take pleasure in writing you these few lines, thinking there may be other women suffering as I did. I had my complaints over a year. I tried different medicines and doctors also. Nothing seemed to do me any good. The doctors wanted to operate on me.

"At last I wrote to Dr. Hartman. He told me what ailed me, and how I should take Peruna. I did as he told me for four months and now I am cured. No one can tell how thankful I am to him, as I had given up all hopes of ever getting well."

Mrs. J. M. STABLER

The organs of the pelvis, like other internal organs of the body, are lined by mucous membranes.

These membranes are liable to catarrh the same as the mucous membranes in any other part of the body.

Or, it may be brought on by overwork, by irritating discharges and by excesses of various kinds.

When the organs of the pelvis once become the seat of catarrh, various derangements arise which are called by different names.

It is the variety of symptoms of pelvic catarrh which cause it to be mistaken for many other diseases. Many of the slight headaches and backaches experienced daily are merely the external symptoms of pelvic catarrh.

Local treatment often does not seem to be of any use.

Some of the organs are so located as to be beyond reach.

Peruna is an internal, systemic remedy.

It relieves catarrh wherever located in the human body.

Thousands of cases of pelvic catarrh have been relieved by the internal use of Peruna.

If you suffer from catarrh in any form, try a bottle of Peruna.

A bottle or two of Peruna taken in the beginning of the disease will often save much expense and suffering.

any other place no argument or reason against a single amendment which I proposed to this bill. None have been interposed here. But my republican colleagues, under the leadership of New England senators, have been lined up to vote down those amendments.

"This bill, when it becomes a law, will not put this question at rest. It cannot. When you clothe the commission merely with the power to ascertain whether rates are simply relatively equal, but withhold from it all authority and all means of determining whether those rates are just and reasonable, you cannot expect that legislation to put anything at rest."
