

EVEN TENNESSEE CITIES HAVE COLORED COPS. — Ernest Scruggs, right, Knoxville patrolman, and James Smith, patrol wagon driver. Smith's family has been represented on the city force for over 75 years. Knoxville with 15,000 colored, has six colored cops. Baltimore, with 142,000, has none.

NAT TURNER

who had just gone for a short walk. The men, finding out who it was, fled. Concluding from this that they would betray him, Turner left his hiding place, but was pursued almost continually. At one time, he was shot at by one, Francis, near a fodder stack in a field, but happening to fall at the moment of the discharge, the contents of the pistol passed through the crown of his hat. Turner, resourceful as ever, contrived a new hiding place in a sort of den in the lap of a fallen tree, over which he placed fine brush.

He protruded his head from his cave to get his bearings Sunday afternoon, October 30, when a Benjamin Phipps, who was out for the first time in pursuit of Turner, suddenly came upon him and demanded to know who he was. Turner gave his name and surrendered his sword, which was the only weapon he then had.

This was 70 days after that Sunday in August when Turner and his comrades had feasted in the woods and planned their attack. At the time of his capture there were at least 50 men out in search of him, none of whom could have been two miles from the hiding place. Several companies of the State Militia and a battalion of United States marines had also joined in the search and failed.

Tried, Convicted in 12 Days
He was taken the next day to Jerusalem, the county seat, and was tried November 5 before a board of magistrates. He pleaded "Not Guilty," but was convicted on depositions of one Levi Waller, who read Turner's Confession. Turner was sentenced to hang Friday, November 11, 1831, twelve days after his capture.

Skinned for Souvenirs
A great throng gathered at the execution. Turner exhibited the utmost composure and calm resignation. He declined to avail himself of the opportunity to address the crowd, and went to his death without a sign of emotion. His body was given over to the surgeons for dissection. He was skinned to supply such souvenirs as purses, his flesh made into grease, and his bones divided as trophies to be handed down as heirlooms. It is said that there still lives a Virginian who has a piece of his skin which was tanned, and that another Virginian possesses one of his ears and that the skull graces the collection of a physician in Norfolk.

Maryland
Maryland, scared at the Turner revolt, and fearing a slave outbreak, passed a bill in 1831 to remove the free colored people to Liberia. Another act forbade the introduction of slaves either for sale or residence and the immigration of free Negroes.

In 1832 Delaware passed an act preventing the use of firearms by free Negroes and also enforced the law of 1811 against the immigration of free Negroes, prohibited meetings of blacks after ten o'clock and forbade non-resident blacks to preach.

Tennessee
Tennessee forbade free persons of color to immigrate into that state under the penalty of fine for remaining and imprisonment in default of payment.

Georgia

Georgia enacted a measure providing that free Negroes or slaves could not preach to an assembly of more than seven unless licensed by justices on certificates of three ordained ministers. Virginia and North Carolina prohibited free Negroes from learning to read or write and banned return of any Negro who left the state to be educated. South Carolina also enforced a law banning Negroes from working as salesmen or clerks in stores. Mississippi had already met most of the requirements in the slave code in the year 1839.

The insurrection was a moral success and was contributory in stirring forces that finally resulted in the Emancipation Proclamation and the Thirteenth Amendment. Nat Turner deserves to be ranked with the greatest reformers of his day. His name has come down the years to us as a bold fighter, a daring leader, and a martyr for freedom.

Among the descendants of the famous Nat Turner was the Rev. John E. Jones, dean of Maryland Baptist ministers, who died in Baltimore recently. The Rev. Mr. Jones was the son of Robert Jones and grandson of Turner.

Some of the relatives of Nat Turner who are living today are:

Six granddaughters: Mrs. Charity Lockley of Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Mittie J. Whitfield, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. Mason Dean, Franklin, Va.; Mrs. Mary E. Jones, Capron, Va.; Mrs. Ella Coleman, Newport News, Va., and Mrs. Margaret Jones, Capron, Va.; one grandson, John R. Jones, Drewville, Southampton County, Va.; 10 great-granddaughters, Mrs. Mary Banks, Mrs. Dalla Rucker, Mrs. Maude Stevens, Mrs. Catherine Books, Mrs. Luella Billingslee, Mrs. Abbie Gaither, Miss Ruth Lockley, Mrs. Maud L. Dixon, and Mrs. Ruth W. Frazier, all of Washington, D.C., and two great grandsons, John Jones and James Jones.

Subway Shower

I gave my seat to someone in the subway. As I stood, I dropped my package of lunch, which included a bottle of milk, on the floor. Not knowing that the glass had broken, I started to pick up the bundle. When I lifted it, the milk dripped on the hat of the woman sitting in front of me!

Caught by the Boss

Not having time during lunch to finish the chapter of a book I was reading, I decided to finish it during working hours in a little room next to my office which is rarely used. In the middle of my hookey escapade who should walk in (a place he never enters) but my boss, and I was supposed to have been working? If any one tells you the modern miss doesn't blush, you can tell them she does, and how!

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes that good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely. But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

"TOBE"

His wife needed an operation and the only doctor in town, a white man, hadn't ever operated on a colored patient.

Tobe's eyes were wet as he begged the ofay for his wife's life. He fished out of his pocket a little money, then he produced something else that made old Dr. Norton sit up and take notice.

What was that mysterious thing Tobe had?

"Africans have much in common with us as wit and wisdom expressed in their proverbs show. It is time for us to get away from the notion that they are in an inferior and barbaric state. In more than one sense, we Americans are less civilized and more barbaric than they." — C. J. BENDER.
