EDITORIALS!

Tuesday, November 8, 1932, the people of the United States of America made an emphatic decision as to their system of government. The Democratic party gained an overwhelming victory in the recent campaign, a government for the people and by the people. Gov. Roosevelt's lead far outstripped that of other members on the ticket. New hope is expressed for better business relations and a general regeneration of the economic world.

THE SCOTTSBORO DECISION

(Editorial from the World Herald)

Seven poor and friendless Negroes, convicted of a capital crime, are to have a chance to plead their innocence anew because the supreme court of the United States finds the state of Alabama did not accord them that "due process of law" guaranteed every citizen by the constitution. The denial of due process the court holds lay in the fact that the seven were not permitted legal counsel at a time when such counsel was vitally necessary for the preparation of their defense. The decision establishes a hitherto unconstrued point of constitutional law.

The court's careful consideration of this case and its conclusion give new faith in the American system and new confidence in the nation's highest tribunal as the guardian of the citizen's constitutional liberties.

The Sacco-Vanzetti and Tom Mooney cases in which prejudice, irrelevant to the crimes charged, seemed to have played so important a part, have given rise to a good many pessimistic doubts about the purity of local justice in America. The bad impression which Massachusetts and California have given is offset by Justice Sutherland and his associates in their reasoning in the Scottsboro case.

It is not of course particularly to the merit of the court that the defendants in this case happened to be the humblest of the humble. Its decision would have had to be the same had the case involved the rich and influential. The fact, however, that they were poor and despised makes the outcome doubly reassuring to the average ordinary citizen.

We can all quit glaring now, and smile at each other again.

A phrase that is true once more "The solid south."

Well, it's all over, including the shouting.

IN KEEPING

(Louisville Courier-Journal)

After the doctor had been treating him for six months or so a bill was rendered. This the patient began to liquidate by means of monthly checks.

"Hey," said the medico, "you are paying me by installments."

"Well, doctor, you didn't cure me instantaneously."

NOTHING TO SPEAK OF

(London Humorist)

Diner (to night club waiter)—I hear you get a lot of celebrities here icognito.

Waiter—Well, sir, a wee bit perhaps.

(Studebaker Wheel)

"Jones doesn't know much about art."

"No, one radiator cap is just like another to him."

AN APPRECIATION

Arthur C. Thomsen District Judge

I am very grateful to my fine colored friends who in a very large measure helped in electing me to such a high position among the judges in the court. The large majority obtained in the second ward gave me a great personal satisfaction.

Sincerely,
Judge Arthur C. Thomsen.

I wish to thank my many friends for the splendid co-operation given me in my re-election to the school board and the confidence placed in me.

Sincerely, Bessie Saxton.

BILLY LOVE LOSES

The pride of the Jensen Brothers stable dropped a decision to Jimmie Wooten on the Grogan-Smoogy card at the auditorium Monday night, October 31. Wooten had Love on the floor in an early round. These two have fought plenty of times before Billy lost a chance to fight Grogan on November 14th.

South Omaha Packers Fail To Beat The Seward St. Aristocrats Rainey Merrill's South Town Packers made many desperate attempts to sweep down the good old Aristocrat football team in a well played game at twenty-first and Paul streets between 2 and 4 p. m. last Sunday. The southern visitors can be given credit for making the most gains in the game but touchdowns in the things that count in this game of block and tackle. The great Jobbo Curry exhibited great work as left tackle whenever he was sly enough to sneak through the packer line. Dick Artison tried his best to reach his opponent's goal but was continuously dragged down by such men as J. C. Harris, Valnee Johnson and C. Merrill. In the last ten minutes of play, Val Johnson made a twenty yard gain and was stopped on the third yard boundary line at the last end of the bed him at this point. Some of the field by What-a-man Artison, grab-horses of the grid started an argument for some unknown cause.

The Lineup is as follows:
Joe Allen, RE. Ray Merrill
Jobbo Curry RT. J. C. Harris

G. Stromile RG. M. Williams
Norm Love C. Lon West
Blackburn LG. F. Davis
Curry Stewart LT. C. Merrill
Lon Stromile LE. J. Hodges
Dick Artison FB. Warren Alston
Chuck Banks HB. V. Johnson
Preston QB. L. Mitchell
L. Harrold RH. H. West
Substitutes, Aristocrats—Pemberton, Little, Lorry Ray Wells and Percy Hall Referee Lorry Stewart until the last quarter. Umpire Travis is Dixon. Linesmen, Zek Desplin and Leroy.

Gerber's Kangaroos will play up in Sidney, Ia., Sunday. Other teams are in doubt as to who they will play next.

FOR A CHOSEN 500

What does the Community Chest do for destitute, dependent and orphan children? Here are just a few statements as to the actual work of some of our agencies for you to pass on. Notice how it all fits into a definite plan.

The Nebraska Children's Home Society takes orphaned children and arranges for their adoption and placement in childless homes.

The Creche and the Immanuel Children's Home provide temporary care for children of school age whose parents are temporarily unable to care for them because of illness or other serious family problems.

The Child Saving Institute cares for children under school age during such periods of emergency.

At the Hattie B. Monroe Home crippled children are provided with medical attention and convalescent care while their bodies and limbs are strengthened and repaired.

The Salvation Army Home and Hospital provides care and works out solutions for the unmarried mother and her child.

The Junior League Day Nursery gives day care to the children of widows who must work and who cannot afford to pay for adequate care themselves.

The Child Welfare Association secures foster homes for children and extends care work service to all other children's agencies.

Over 400 children are cared for every day in the year by these agencies and, most important, there is no child problem in Omaha which cannot be met and adequately handled, immediately and efficiently, by these children's agencies.

The Nebraska Children's Home, the Child Saving Institute and the Immanuel Children's Home, statewide in scope, receive from the Community Chest only the money necessary for the care given Omaha children. Although parents and relatives, when able, carry part of the financial burden, in 1932 the Omaha Community Chest is spending $71,102.00 in this work.

"BLACK SOULS"

by Mrs. Annie Nathan Meyer (1225 Park Avenue, New York N. Y.)

Usually when I read a book that has been sent to me for review I do so a few pages at a time in spare moments just as long as I can finish it in time to prepare a syndicated comment to be sent out with my weekly releases.

The book is a play. And I understand that the play ran for a few weeks last spring in New York. And I can further understand why it didn't continue running. White theatre patrons, on whom the producer depended mostly for his financial support, were not going to pay to see their own race characterized and dramatized to the extent that the real naked truth is presented in "Black Souls".

This little volume, neatly printed and bound, easily readable, selling for only seventy-five cents, either from the author, or the publishers, Reynolds Press, New Bedford, Mass., should be in every colored person's collection of books—that is if you enjoy reading of racial characters, both men and women, who can measure up to every standard that is erroneously presumed and propagandized as being possessed by the whites only.

—Clifford C. Mitchell.

"Black Souls" had been on my book-shelf for a couple of weeks before I even glanced at the Foreword by John Jaynes Holmes, but after reading that much I continued on and did not stop until I had read the entire book.

WORLD INSURANCE COMPANY'S NEW POLICY

PROVIDES FOUR-WAY COVERAGE

The World Insurance Company, organized in 1903, with its Home Office in the Omaha Building & Loan Association Building, Omaha, has a policy which gives Four-Way Protection in new and complete form. First, accidental death benefit; second, benefit for accident disability; third, benefits for temporary sickness, and fourth, a large benefit in case of death from sickness. Every accident and every sickness except venereal is covered. The policy pays disability of one day or more. In case of hospital confinement, additional benefits are payable.

Most accidents and health policies pay benefits for only a short period in case a person dies after a short sickness. The World, under its Silver Anniversary monthly or weekly payment policies, pays a definite large benefit no matter how soon death follows the beginning of sickness.

It recently augmented its Agency Force by several men, including William Davis, residing at 2514 Corby Street, who together with his wife has recently moved to Omaha from Washington, D. C. Mr. Davis is representing the Company in the capacity of a Special Agent and he will be in a position to render special service along the insurance protection line.
