

"Johnny Horton's Political DOPE"

by John Benj. Horton, Jr.

WELL FOLKS—WHO'LL ANSWER THIS QUESTION?—OUR GOVT AND OUR SOCIETY—PROGRESSIVE CANADA AND THE LAGGARD UNCLE SAM: CHINA AND JAPAN!

How shall we as a race preserve partial equality in the face of economic inequalities, or liberty in the face of powerful economic and social groups that are pressing up. Johnny Horton on each of us, from every side on Democracy against Demagogues on the one side and Plutocrats and Despots on the other?

Our government has grown like a cotton seed in the wet spring time—new costs new functions; but its form remain non-changed and there is nationwide dislike for experimentation. Here's the result: Uncle Sam has come to the "parting of the ways" in the broad field of public relations.

Canada is far from the top climbing "prosperity peak", but she is making progress and leading the rest of them.

Seems that Uncle Sam is doomed an eternal laggard, being continually at the bottom of "prosperity peak" and will, for a long time, be there. WHY? Because when cheap foreign labor, paid with cheap foreign money laughs at our so-called "tariff wall" and imports cheap goods into our country, while ten million of our workers tread the streets of America, there's reason to believe that we'll be at the bottom of "prosperity peak" while our neighbors to the north of us will climb.

Remember this quotation: "The invasion of our home market is complete; at every point our tariff barriers are crossed at will!"

It is this column's opinion that ever since the Russo-Japanese War over the rich and fertile province of Manchuria, the struggle in the Orient has continued. Japan, being situated on an island, is rapidly becoming over-populated and seeks other fields for expansion for her human over-flow. China, of course would be the proper spot upon which to expand; hence, she fights China for this exclusive privilege.

However, Japan realizes further that the eyes of the world are focused upon China for another purpose and that is namely: For exploitation. Everybody knows that China, with her land rich in natural resources which modern means of experimentation, research and engineering have just begun to touch above the surface, is a land of 400,000,000 inhabitants, most of whom still live in ignorance.

Japan knows that it would be dangerous to allow any other country to interfere with China; she envisions the idea that if she should conquer by force, the Chinese, enlighten their masses intellectually and train the Chinese in the modern art of warfare. She would not only promote her expansion, but would also perfect a strong and well organized military machine which could be thrown together with that of Japan and would be able to master the whole civilized world, if necessary. She might, one day in the distant years, be able to perform this miracle, but its a super-human sized job to tackle, throwing a small army of well trained soldiers against a massive and diversified human wall of 400,000,000 human souls.

Don't Miss Swiss for Cheese Dishes!

By MARVE DAHNKE
Kraft Cheese Institute.

Once upon a time Swiss cheese belonged to Switzerland just as surely as yodelling and Edelweiss belonged to the Alps.

But today Swiss cheese—made in America—is gathering a just fame all its own, and added to our national cuisine is proving itself one of the most versatile of all the cheese-favorites of America. Educated cheese-tongues of all nations thoroughly appreciate that mildly salty, mildly ripe flavor of Swiss—but American tongues are learning to appreciate what this subtlety of Swiss can do to many an otherwise undistinguished cooked dish.

Swiss, American-made, which may be had in small quantity in packaged form, has a multitude of uses discovered by chef and home cook alike during the past few years. Because it can be melted into a creamy molliousness, the cooked foods because it can be shredded and grated so readily, it fits into all manner of appetizing cheese dishes. Simply served, in generous slices, it is a happy accompaniment to any meal.

and has been an active worker in political campaigns for the past 20 years.

His supporters say that he will accept the petitions and make the race. He was treasurer of the Douglas County Central Committee for three campaigns, senatorial committee member for Nebraska four years ago, also active in the recent presidential campaign. Mr. Harper has attended five presidential national conventions. He is acquainted with many national and local political leaders in both parties.

NOTICE

Harry Leland informs us that the club report of the Southside Negro Non-Partisan Club sent in last week gave the impression that he had endorsed certain candidates for the City primary election. He says that this was incorrect as he has not personally endorsed any candidate up to the present time.

WHITE WOMEN GET PROPERTY OF NEGRO WOMAN

Savannah, Ga., (CNS) By the provision of the will of Mrs. Fannie Stiles, three white women get all of her property. Mrs. Stiles died recently and left her property to the white women who had befriended her in old age, and Judge Gordon Saussy of ordinary's court, has upheld the will in the face of relatives attempt to break it.

A sister and a group of nieces and nephews filed a caveat, claiming she was of unsound memory and that the beneficiaries, Mrs. Marguerite Murphy, Mrs. Myrtle McQuire and Mrs. Mamie Chinell, influenced her unduly.

The women denied that and maintained they took care of their old friend long before her death.

Round cheese puffs, made with Swiss fried to a golden perfection in deep fat, are a Swiss treat to make any family yodel for joy. And for a special dessert treat, try cheese tarts, which possess all the nutlike goodness of Swiss cheese in a pastry, which fairly melts in your mouth.

U. S. ATTORNEY SIFTING THIRD DEGREE CHARGES AGAINST SECRET SERVICE AGENTS

Yonkers, N. Y., (CNS) Three Negroes recently arrested for possessing $5 counterfeit notes charge that they were beaten by Secret Service agents and detectives in a police station here Judge John C. Knox, after hearing the men's stories ordered the Federal grand jury in investigate.

Although the defendants, Ossie Harris, 212 West Sixty-fourth street, Bush Vail, 240 West Sixty-fourth street, and Henry Williams, who gave no address, entered pleas of guilty, Judge Knox said that he would dismiss the indictments against them if their charges proved to be true.

George Z. Medalie, United States Attorney, assigned William B. Herlands, his assistant, to investigate. Mr. Herlands said that the defendants had accused John A. Kett and M. W. Rodney, members of the staff of Alan G. Straigh, chief of the Secret Service of this district.

Both Kett and Rodney denied that the prisoners had been abused. Police Chief Edward Quirk of Yonkers made a similar denial.

WIND WRECKS VA. CONVICT CAMP AND ENDANGERS LIVES OF 100 PRISONERS

Richmond, Va., (CNS) One hundred Negro convicts narrowly escaped death at 2 o'clock the morning of January 26, when the building that housed them, as they were chained to their bunks, was blown down at a prison camp near this city.

Guards extricated the men from the wreckage and there was no attempt to escape. One man, slightly injured, was brought to the penitentiary here for treatment. Stoves in the building were overturned, but the live coals fell on a concrete floor and did not cause a general fire.

Major Rice M. Youel, superintendent of the penitentiary, who made an investigation, said that the lack of any attempt at a break for freedom and the excellent discipline shown by the men during their trying experience were regarded by him as a compliment to both guards and prisoners.

DESTINY by R. A. ADAMS (The Literary Service Bureau)

Heed not when men may find senseless prate,

"Just take life as you find it,"
And what you hear of 'luck,' or 'fate,'
'Twere wisdom not to mind it,
For every man is, verily,
Master of his own destiny.

Note this: Dreams never "just come true;"

Success comes by contriving
What noblest is and best, to do,
And unremitted striving
In every way by which you can
For consummation of your plan.

Let us therefore, remember this—
With fullest credence take it;
Let men think right, or think amiss,
Life still is what we make it,
And we, acknowledge or denied,
Must our own destiny decide.

LOOKING BACK by Videtta Ish MAKING CHILDREN WAIT (The Literary Service Bureau)

Children are human beings—even little children. And this should be remembered in dealing with them. All of us remember some thing that seemed unfair. Among these is the old custom of making children wait while their elders eat. This was because it was considered unwise and almost disrespectful to have children eat at the same table with the older folk. Fears, anxieties, disappointments, and childish anger were experienced but the little sufferers did not dare hint of such things. In fact, as a general thing, they were not near enough to give any indication of displeasure. But, was it fair?

Because of such experiences I have had my children sit at the table with the family and with our guests. Not only is this justice to the children, but it has its cultural influences. Children will be more careful, eating at the table with their elders than they will be eating alone. But, anyway, it seems almost barbarous to make children wait and be consumed by the fear that the supply will be exhausted—as is true sometimes!
