Simplicity Marks Striking Styles In New Daytime and Evening Frocks

Once again simplicity marks the spring and summer styles.

As if recognizing the demands of the outdoor season, fashion authorities have seen to it that women's new fashions are along lines that make them as easy to take care of as they are becoming to their wearers.

The new cotton sports frock of waffle weave shown here can be cleaned, for instance, in less than five minutes in any household washing machine, and pressed ready for wear again in scarcely more time. Its simplicity makes it becoming to almost anyone. The bodice tucks and the contrasting sash and the scarf slipped under the shoulders and revealed again on the upper arms, give it distinction.

Look at this formal dance frock of embroidered novelty pique. It has unusual charm, and yet it can be tossed into the family washing machine with the rest of the week's garments and linens. The checked design, the bias panel back and the removable cape are outstanding. The stiff sash with its huge bow and interesting back detail lends a striking final touch.

Dressing well offers no problems of economy or care with such clothes as these in the washer-equipped home. Such simple summer designs are increasingly popular for almost 9,000,000 homes have electrical washers, and half the farm homes have power washers of one kind or another. The numbers are increasing steadily, because more women every year learn how easy it is to obtain a washer, and how easy and yet how economical it thus becomes to enjoy the wearing of such attractive clothes as these.

means and sometimes I am tempted to take his help and pay the price, just to get things for my children. What do you say?

—Tempted Mother.

Tempted Mother: Better say to yourself "Yield not to temptation." You'd be playing with fire. Your husband might find it out and wreck would follow, and the disgrace would do your children more harm than the "things would be worth." Say "Get thee behind me, Satan." The best service you can render your children is to keep your own life clean for their sakes.

—MAXIE MILLER.

will appreciate and never forget. This case reminds, "When a woman loves a man, As a woman only, can, There's naught she will not do, To prove her love is true. Thus the story ever ran— When a woman loved a man."

HEROES UNSUNG
(Laundry Workers)
by A. B. MANN
(The Literary Service Bureau)

Perhaps little thought is given to the tasks, the perils and the sacrifices those who keep the nations clean.

The laundry "does the clothes" of all classes. There are consumptive syphilitics, cancer victims and sufferers from many contagious and infectious diseases. The men who "collect laundry", those who assort and mark the articles and those who run the washers are in constant and imminent peril from germs, millions of which lurk in clothing of unfortunate victims of diseases. Every moment in contact with these articles is a moment of serious danger.

We put on our clothes and feel proud, but we seldom consider that many persons risked their lives to make this possible and that unmeasured credit is due them.

Perhaps, some day some bard will write "Epics of the Washer Woman". But as it is now, these sacrificing servants of men are confined to the list of unsung heroes.

LOOKING BACK
(Cruel Kindness)
by Videtta Ish
(The Literary Service Bureau)

Some years ago I read a story entitled "Cruel Kindness." It was the story of an indulgent mother and the tragic end of the only daughter who was indulged by this mother. If indulgence is kindness, it is surely cruel kindness—and destructive kindness.

"I just cannot deny my child anything she wants," means foolish indulgence. Children often want what is not best for them. Even grown people make this mistake. It is the duty of parents to deny their children things which are harmful.

I am thinking now of a mother of that kind. We whose parents were strict and economical envied this girl. She had nice clothes, tasty lunches to take to school, and money to spend. She was permitted to go out quite often, to visit all the other girls, and to spend nights away from home. When her mother was warned to be more careful she became angry and resented the interference. Well, it was the old, old story. The girl went wrong and the mother's heart was broken. I heard her tell my mother, "I wish I'd had good sense to hold a reign on my daughter as you did." But she did not—and her life was darkened by the fall of her daughter. Well, I am determined that I shall not be guilty of showing cruel kindness to my own children.

Book Review

"BREAKING INTO PRINT" by F. Fraser Bond
Professor of Journalism, Columbia University
(McGraw-Hill Book Co., 330 W. 42nd St., New York, Publishers)

Whoever is responsible for the title of this book it must be acknowledged that "Breaking Into Print" literally describes its contents. Professor Bond has provided an up to the minute treatise for the amateur who would seek his fame in the journalistic field, and in a plain, understandable, non-technical, language.

Perhaps the best compliment I can pay the text is that, more than any journalistic book I have studied, I have gleaned more practical working ideas and writing technique, which I am putting into immediate effect in my own work, than three years of contributory experience has taught me. In other words, the lesson learned in "Breaking Into Print" will enable me to give a greater journalistic service to my own readers in nearly one hundred colored papers in every portion of America.

"Breaking Into Print" outlines journalistic subjects from three angles—the writer—the publisher and particularly, the reader view-points. In my own three years of humble efforts I have been somewhat familiar with the first two angles, but thanks to "Breaking Into Print", I now more than ever, recognize journalism from the reader's angle, and in this respect, I am deeply grateful to the McGraw-Hill Book Company, for the review copy of this particular book.

—Clifford C. Mitchell.

Youthful Strength

Dr. Magnus Hirschfeld, the world-known authority on Sexology and Director of the Institute for Sexual Science of Berlin, Germany, created to help the millions of men and women who have lost or are losing their vital physical power. In his 35 years of practice and research, however, he realized that the weakening of man's glands was also responsible for other troubles: High blood pressure, hardening of the arteries, physical exhaustion after work or exercise, dizziness, depression, neurasthenia, etc.

All these troubles can be removed with Titus-Pearls. Numerous cases were treated by Dr. Hirschfeld in his Berlin Institute.

L. S. (State Official); 60 years old, married) complained of physical exhaustion, dizziness and tremors. Was easily tired. Mental power dull and slow moving. Physical powers had been incomplete for previous 5 years. Blood pressure too high. Given 2 Titus-Pearls 3 times a day, 2 weeks later the medical report on this man was:—general health better, more vigor; dizziness much less and returning of power. Treatment continued and 2 weeks later L. S. reported again, this time to say that all weariness and exhaustion had gone; he felt fresh and buoyant. His blood pressure had fallen, and at 60 years of age he had regained the physical power and virility that he had known in the prime of his life.

Start regaining your youthfulness now! To-day! In 2 weeks time you will be aware of the new, virile force within you. Send $5.00 (cash registered or money-order) for 2 weeks treatment. C. O. D. Orders accepted. Write for Booklet.
