Pleasant Green Baptist Church
 Acting Pastors, Cooper and Clayton Mrs. I. Keys, Clerk, Mrs. I. Keys, reporter.
 Sunday School at 9:30 with Supt. Uphir was well attended, Thirty enrolled. Lesson review by Mr. Hall. The morning devotion was conducted by Deacon Surley and Mr. Strange. Rev. Clayton delivered the sermon and the choir sang beautifully. Present, Mrs. McGuire.

Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m., the Mission and Pew Rally was held. Rev. Cooper preached and the Pleasant Green quartette rendered several selections. The service was well attended and was a large success. The evening service was preached by Rev. Hall. Pleasant Green had a spiritual meeting all day long. Friends and visitors are always welcome.

Morning Star No. 1 Baptist Church
 A high day at Morning Star Baptist Church on North 24th St. March 26th. Rev. T. W. Stevenson, our new elected pastor, was in the pulpit. BYPU was very nicely attended. Mrs. L. A. Hughes, president. The evening services were well attended, and since being with us such a short while, Rev. Stevenson has inspired six to be added to the church. If you want to hear the gospel come to Morning Star Baptist Church No. 1. Rev. T. W. Stevenson, Pastor, N. L. Raybon, reporter.

Christ Temple, 26th and Burdette Sts., O. J. Burckhardt, Pastor, Verda Gordon, reporter.

Christ Temple is being enlarged and redecorated. We have a new choir stand, and beautiful ceiling lights. When we shall have finished, we will have a very respectable place of worship. Elder F. H. Huntley has been supervisor of the work, assisted by some of the other brethren and the women who make up the various organizations of the church.

We have a Bible class each Tuesday evening and you who live in the community are missing a great opportunity of learning the truth about the Bible and its teachings. Brother J. C. Parker is the teacher, and we consider him one of the most proficient Bible teachers in the city. Elder Huntley and Sister Mitchell have organized a junior choir, which sings in the mornings and the adults choir sings at the evening service. Both choirs sing well. You should hear them. We had in the audience Sunday evening, Mrs. James Smith and Mrs. Eula Britt and with them Mrs. Jennie B. Holland of New York an old friend of our pastor and a former resident of Lincoln when a girl.

Elder J. W. Goodwin brought us a splendid message Sunday evening which brought compliments from the visitors. You will always find a hearty welcome at Christ Temple. Come and worship with us and we will do these good.

St. John's A.M.E. Church, The Friendly Church—22nd and Willis Ave., Rev. L. P. Bryant, Pastor.
 The services at St. John's A.M.E. Church were very well attended last Sunday. Rev. Bryant preached three sermons at St. John in the morning, at Zion Baptist at 3 p. m. and again at St. Johns for the evening worship. At Zion Rev. Bryant preached a great sermon on the value of being truthful and knowing your real friends.

Sunday was promotion day in the Sunday school at St. John. The Sunday School board feels that by this method of promotion, there will be greater interest shown on the part of the children.

The Booster Club of St. John directed by Mr. John Woods and assisted by local talent, presented a play, the Slave Maid of Israel last Wednesday night at the Elks' Hall, sponsored by the Lady Elks. The play was very well presented. It showed there had been some very hard concentrated work on the part of Mr. Woods and the cast. The play was so well appreciated that it will be presented again by the same cast on April 14th at St. John's A.M.E. Church. If you did not see the play when it was presented before, make your plans to see it when it is presented again. Each member of the cast played his part well but the outstanding parts

been led to believe that this system would accomplish impossible things. Unfortunately for the inauguration of this permanent system it happened to be started amidst the throes of a national political campaign. The plan to refinance sound mortgages temporarily in distress has been misunderstood and the thought is a-broad that the United States Government will immediately take over all distressed mortgages and thereby relieve private capital of its present troubles and loss. The emergency confronting the nation and the home owner should not occupy the entire attention of the public without reference to the benefits that would flow from a permanent system any more than should the emergency relief aspects of the temporary Reconstruction Finance Corporation banking, supplant the permanent Federal Reserve System.

There are really two pressing problems in the home financing field. One is taking care of the individual with a short-term mortgage which has been called and the individual who has good real estate security, who can repay and who merits further funds. The Home Loan Bank System can effectively solve this problem. The second problem is the property owner who does not have employment and has not been able for many months, if not years, to pay interest, taxes, and insurance. Further loans will not assist this individual and most advances made under such conditions could ever be repaid. The Home Loan Bank System cannot deal with this problem.

If the Federal Government should desire to undertake the granting of loans with the resulting hazards which such a departure in Government and in business entails, necessarily they must do it without inviting into stock partnership community businesses and private investors because private institutions cannot risk the investments of their members and pledge their credit in unsafe and unbusinesslike enterprises.

The Home Loan Bank System continues to be criticized in banking circles and in banking publications. The home financing institutions in this country, and particularly building and loan associations, do not presume to pass upon and criticize the obvious shortcomings of the commercial banking structure of the country. As the building and loan associations are primarily engaged in the home financing business, we feel that other institutions should be equally tolerant and should refrain from continuing the competitive offense against the Home Loan Bank System that characterized their actions during the six months it was being considered by Congress.

The life insurance companies militantly opposed the system and to this date, (continued next week)

IN COMMISSION RACE

Mr. Frank C. Best, a candidate for City Commissioner, is seeking election on the strength of his past record as a former county official. When he was a member of the County Board he served as chairman of the Finance Committee. He was Chairman of the committee that had charge of the building of the present County Court House.

He has always been a friend of the working man and has always been a his third term in the Senate has proven his friendship for our race group. He fought for colored employment in this present session. He worked hard on the bill to put married women out of schools and to elect the school board from Districts, claiming that the colored people had a right to representation on the school board. If you want a friend in the City Council put Gus Dworak in there, and you will have one.

Yours truly,
 O. J. Burckhardt.

"What Others Say"

Dear Mr. Galloway: I would like to say a few words in interest of Dean Noyes. I see that he is a candidate for Commissioner April 4th.

Mr. Noyes moved when I was evicted from my home last fall on 22nd St., and my family had no place to go.

So many of my friends received the same help from him. The colored people should appreciate a man like Dean Noyes for he gives our men work and helps us at anytime.

Mr. Silas Johnson.

EDITORIALS!

TUESDAY, APRIL 4th
 The Omaha Guide as press representative has (by printing news items sent in by the various candidates), endeavored to present all sides and angles of the campaign issues. These arguments will be terminated Tuesday, April 4th, when the Omaha citizenry selects 14 men to represent them in the finals of May 2nd. We hope our limited amount of press items combined with the knowledge you already have of the prospective councilmen will be sufficient to help you in selecting the logical candidates for the city council. If we seem to favor certain candidates it is because we know from actual contact and experience that these candidates will give our people the greatest percent of deserved consideration.

AMONG THE Churches

Mt Moriah Baptist Church, 24th and Ohio Streets, Rev. F. P. Jones, Pastor.

Sunday was another great day at Mt. Moriah both spiritually and financially. The pastor delivered very helpful and inspiring sermons, at the morning and evening worship. A men's chorus of 30 voices rendered the music for the evening service. This was their first appearance, and they received much praise and comment for their splendid music. Much enthusiasm was demonstrated in the Sunday school at which time closing reports of the Hill Top Race in which all classes were participating were made. When the final reports were summed up it was found that the Sunday School had gone over the top in new members and offering. This same enthusiastic spirit continued through the BYPU, at which time a very impressive program was rendered by the Old Reliable Group to a packed house. The closing report showed that each group had raised over their apportionment. The afternoon service under the direction of Ever Loyal Group was well attended. The Pastor and Officers were highly pleased with the final reports of auxiliaries for the Month of March. Dr. R. T. Frye, President of Western Baptist College, Kansas City, Mo., who was Guest Speaker at the New Era Board Meeting last week, was house guest of Rev. and Mrs. F. P. Jones, during his stay in the city. He also spoke at the evening service on last Sunday Dr. Frye, Rev. and Mrs. Jones were entertained at Breakfast at the Home of Dr. and Mrs. Hawkins, Wednesday morning. The Recital by Mrs. Rosa Brown Buckner, on April 6, The Beautiful Pageant, on Easter Night by the Senior Choir, The Sunrise Service, The Elaborate Program by the Sunday School Easter Sunday afternoon, are some of the leading events for the month of April.

Salem Baptist Church, 22nd and Seward St., Rev. E. W. Anthony, Pastor, Mr. Wm. Cooper, Reporter
