AMONG THE Churches

The Salem Baptist Church, 22nd and Seward Sts., Rev. E. W. Athony, Pastor, Mr. Wm. Cooper, reporter.

Good services were held at Salem Sunday. The Sunday School started the day with two new members. The BYPU had no meeting on account of city BYPU at Zion where 275 were present.

The Pastor came forth at 1 1/2 p. m. with a soul stirring sermon and he brought us a thriller at 8 p. m. At 3 p. m. Salem journeyed over to Mt. Moriah Baptist Church where the two jointly held a Deaconship ordination service, ordaining Mr. Wm. Cooper of Salem and Mr. Miles Speese and Mr. Baltimore of Mt. Moriah.

Don't forget the Mother's Day program at Salem May 14th at 8 p. m. to be given by the Y.W.C.A. girls, Mrs. E. Q. Anthony, director. You never miss good services if you attend at Salem.

St. John's A.M.E. Church, "The Friendly Church" 22nd and Willis Avenue, Rev. L. P. Bryant, Pastor.

Sunday, April 23rd was quarterly meeting day at St. John's. Rev. W. S. Brooks, the presiding Elder of the 15th district, preached in the morning and Rev. J. H. Jackson of Bethel Baptist Church of South Omaha, in the afternoon. All services were well attended. Four young people joined the church during the day. The Senior Choir gave an all request program at the evening service. Many hearts were made to rejoice through this song service.

Last Sunday was a splendid day. Rev. Bryant preached both morning and evening. The Sons of Allen are having their rally Sunday, May 7th. This will be a great day for men. They expect to show the Daughters of Allen just how to have a rally. All men of St. John's church and all friends are members of the Sons of Allen, so come out and show your colors. Men, the big tea at Mr. Howell, 2827 Binney, Sunday from 4 to 7 p. m. will be one long to be remembered by all who attended. Let all come and see the men really put on a tea.

The Sunday school and Christian Endeavor invites you to attend their services. Sunday school, 9:30 a. m. and Endeavor 6 p. m.

Christ Temple, 26th and Burdette Sts., O. J. Burckhardt, Pastor, J. W. Goodwin, Ass't., Mrs. Vera Gordon, reporter.

Sunday was an enjoyable day with the members and friends who attended the services. The Sunday School was full of interest. Our additional teacher in charge of part of the children's class was on hand and went at her work with a zeal. We believe Oneda Watts will make us a useful teacher.

The Pastor preached at 11 a. m. The Young people had a splendid program. Master Robert Goodwin was Master of Ceremonies and junctured fine. Elder Huntley and Mrs. Mitchell and our little organist, Marion Butler are to be given the credit for the splendid work being done by the young people who make up the league.

Elder Huntley brought us an interesting message Sunday evening. You are invited to our services Sunday. We indeed would be delighted to see you present. We will have a fine program on Mother's Day and you are invited to be present. In fact we need your presence.

Pilgrim Baptist Church, 25th and Hamilton Sts., Rev. Jas. H. Dotson, Pastor.

Services were very good at Pilgrim Sunday.

In the morning, Rev. O. W. Lenoir, Pastor of McKinney Memorial Baptist Church, Greenwood, Miss., and Chairman of the Home Mission Board was with us and delivered the message. His subject was "Working Together." Rev. Lenoir's sermon was felt by all present. Two united with the church, one a candidate for baptism. At the evening services, Rev. B. C. Winchester of Mt. Zion Baptist Church was the speaker. We are all ways glad to have Rev. Winchester with us because his sermons are very inspiring. His subject was "Dried Brooks", and one statement which he made and which is very much in keeping with our present day problem was, "We do not need an inflation of currency to restore the world to normalcy, but an inflation of brotherly love and kindness." One member was added to the church. A number of visitors were present with us during the day and you are always welcome at Pilgrim.

Prayer meeting every Wednesday night. The Mission Circle is sponsoring a Mother and Daughter Banquet May 12th.

Weird World In Water Drop Is Shown At Chicago's World's Fair

FEROCEOUS animals battling to the death, vegetations growing into trees in the twinkling of an eye, insect-like creatures dividing into living entities as if by magic—all in a single drop of water.

This startling, incredible world will actually be brought to life for the millions of visitors who will come to Chicago's 1933 World's Fair—A Century of Progress, which will play host to the world from June 1 to November 1.

To the average man, not acquainted with the marvels unfolded by science during the past few years, such a revelation seems impossible and well beyond the realm of imagination.

But to Dr. George Boemmer, noted scientist, formerly of Germany, now of New York, this modern miracle is all in a day's work. In an exhibit in the biology section of the Hall of Science at the World's Fair he will demonstrate to any doubter "there is more in heaven and earth than dreamt of in everyday philosophy," to paraphrase Shakespeare.

Micro-Projection Used Using a new method of micro-projection, Dr. Boemmer for the first time will exhibit moving pictures of the everyday life of that biological family—the Protozoa, a family of many branches of the tiniest of both animal and plant forms. Not only the aforementioned ferocious beasts, rapid-growing trees and self-blooming insects will be exhibited, but also the activities of numerous other tiny plants and animals—inhabitants of a single drop of water—will be shown.

Protozoa are little known to the public. Although scientists have observed them for over a century, comparatively few people have heard of them, let alone seen them. The reason for this is simple. They are too small to be observed with the naked eye. Only through the lenses of powerful microscopes can they be detected, as many of their bodies consist of but a single life-cell.

With apparatus combining principles of both the microscope and photo-projector, single drops of water will be enlarged to the dimensions of a four-foot screen in the exhibit at A Century of Progress. Magnified to this extent, the Protozoa inhabiting the drop of water will be plainly visible.

Protozoa in Combat

Protozoa monsters of this single-drop world will be seen in mortal combat. One will watch two kinds of animalcules called Didinium and Amoeba Paramoecium in struggles that eventually always end in victory for the former. But the Paramoecium will not take death as his battle prize calmly. From his slipper-shaped form he will shoot out thousands of cilia, hair-shaped shafts, toward the turtle-shaped form of the Didinium. These turn into a gelatinous protective coating for the Paramoecium, which momentarily protect him from the attacks of his enemy. His strenuous efforts do not reward him, though, because he is soon engulfed in the interior of his foe.

Back in 1858, when the observation of the Protozoa was in the initial stages due to the lack of the powerful lenses that are available today, a writer succeeded in having a short story published in the initial volume of Atlantic Monthly. This story, which described beautiful forests of vegetation with trees and flowers intermingling and a human-shaped being wandering in their midst was considered at that time to be a highly fictionalized fabrication. At that period the Protozoa had not been gazed upon in such minute detail as spectators will be able to in the pictures at A Century of Progress.

Miniature Forest Develops

Of course, F. J. O'Brien's tale of the tragic existence of a human-shaped being in the tiny-drop world of the Protozoa has turned out to be—just fiction. But his description of the beautiful waving forests, never intended to be true in his story, "The Diamond Lens," becomes real in the projections that Dr. Boemmer will present for inspection.

A typical scene of life within a drop of water which will be revealed to millions of visitors to Chicago's World's Fair this summer by a new method of photo-projection.

PASSION PLAYERS AT WORLD FAIR

Revising eighteenth century tradition, Chicago Passion Players marched in a solemn religious procession through Chicago's loop to A Century of Progress/Chicago's 1933 World's Fair. Shown above are Maxine Koolish as Woman in Adultery, Josephine Swinning as Mary, sister of Lazarus; Eugene Filip as Christ Child, and Ethel Von Hallen as Martha, sister of Lazarus.

COLORED GROCERS ORGANIZE AS "THE SQUARE DEAL STORES"

The Colored Grocers of the North side have organized themselves into a group known as "The Square Deal Stores." They endeavor to give you first quality food for less money and also to combat some of the false propaganda being spread about Negro business, thereby hindering the man who has invested his money only for a reasonable amount of profit.

It was brought out at the last meeting, held at the home of Mr. C. Adams, 1313 North 28th St., that a great number of the so-called bargain prices carried on a number of hand bills are not to be had when sought at the low prices advertised. "The Square Deal Stores" have no such intention. Their policy shall be to advertise only such things as can be sold by them. However they may sometime, because of advancing prices, put on sale some articles that have such rapid changing prices that it will be impossible to know in advance that such articles will rise over night to such an extent that it cannot be sold as advertised. But this only happens with the Square Deal Stores once in a great while.

Often we do injury to our fellow men unconscious of the effect it may have on the general public. To cite an instance: A meeting of an organization's executive committee ran into a discussion of Negro business. One of the women, a prominent social worker, remarked that she could not afford to patronize Negro business enterprises because they were as a whole unsanitary. Now "The Square Deal Stores" are organized to refute just such propaganda. The six stores in the "Square Deal Group" represent some of the cleanest, neatest stores in the city. This is approved by the Department of Health of the city of Omaha. This lady who is supposed to be helping in every way in the community has perhaps unconsciously done a great harm to the very interest that is keeping her employed.

Everyone of the 10,000 Negroes in this city are taxpayers. If not actual property owners, they pay taxes through their purchasing power. We are asking these leaders to please stop sending the money out of the community into other communities where it is not needed.

Signed,
C. ADAMS, President.

STAR WORD PUZZLE NUMBER FIVE

Here's a Scramble that will test your ingenuity. The six words in the above puzzle give one some idea of the tremendous cost of bringing to Chicago the vast exhibits and marvels of A Century of Progress—Chicago's 1933 World's Fair. The method of solving the puzzle is like all those that have been published before. Simply unscramble each word, write it in the little rectangle provided for that purpose at the point of each star and the answer is there.

If you are interested in scrambled English write to the editor of your paper and it will be published as a regular feature.

"This and That..."

BY CLIFFORD C. MITCHELL

FREEDOM IN SIGHT!

The Honorable Frank D. Fitzgerald, Michigan's Secretary of State, has sent me the carbon copies of two letters, both exceedingly short but containing thoughts that are powerful in their possibilities.

One letter is from Michigan's Parole Commissioner W. Alfred Debo, to the secretary of state, reading:

"Dear Mr. Fitzgerald: Upon receipt of your letter I have gone over the file of Clifford Mitchell and have listed him for a hearing on my next visit to Jackson Prison."

To which the secretary of state wrote the Parole Commissioner thanking him as follows:

"My Dear Commissioner: I wish to express my sincere appreciation of your prompt and courteous treatment of my recommendation in the above case. I trust your investigation as it goes along will merit your favorable consideration."

And on the eve of preparing this release the necessary "papers" arrived for me to fill out so it is just possible that ere long I'll be with you.

I want to squeeze in a few quotations from a recent letter written me by James A. Jackson (U. S. Dept. of Com.) Washington, D. C.

"May I compliment you upon the heads to your releases (for this artistic work thanks are due to A. G. Thomas, staff artist on our prison paper, School News), as well as upon the nice presentation of the material and the growth of the popularity of the several releases with the editors and their reading public. "To my mind you are growing tremendously, and I am glad you have been detained in prison, for, hard as that sounds, confinement has served as a challenge to your abilities; compelled concentrated work; and above all, provided you with a sort of "Jumping off place" from which you could command a dramatic type of entrance into reader interest. Outside, you probably would never have stayed put long enough to create and maintain that file of information from which you work. However, I believe that now the foundation work is done, and the sooner liberty is achieved the better for you and for journalism as a whole. "I don't know what else I may say except that I am still for you strong, and have had frequent occasions to answer inquiries about you. "Boy, you are commanding attention."

Quoting just a thought or two from the letter received from J. Edw. McCall, blind editor of the new Detroit Tribune:

"I congratulate you upon your splendid journalistic talent, your courage, your perseverance and your optimistic spirit. I can not see men, but as one who is physically sightless, I have learned to see through men. I perceive that you have personality and real nobility of spirit, as revealed through your writings, and I am sure your success will multiply with the years."

Thanks to: The Edmonton Journal (Edmonton, Alberta, Canada), and D. Walter Thompson, writer, for the column feature they ran concerning my efforts. "The SNS, of Atlanta, for sending me a sample copy of each paper they publish. I'll have more to say about these papers later after I have digested them. "The Light in the Jungle", a new book by Edison Marshall, from the H. C. Kinsey publishers of New York. "The May issues of Bronzeman; Crisis; Modern Thinker and Interracial Review. "Good luck to "Andy" (George C. Anderson) who is now with the Gary American.
